Session 1945.

136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29.

HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1945.

No. 1.

SENATE

JANUARY 2, 1945, 12:00 o'clock, noon

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate together with the Senators-elect, chosen at the last general election held on November 7, 1944, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT. (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) called the Senate to order at twelve o'clock noon.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, whom we have learned to call our Father, so direct our minds at this moment of the Senate's opening that the members may begin their deliberations with reverence, continue them with wisdom and conclude with honor to Thee, credit to themselves and to the welfare of the people who have chosen them for this high service to the State.

May each member of this body accept his responsibility, and let that which he believes to be right control his decisions on all matters relative to the interests of the Commonwealth.

Enable us to be truly thankful for the Providence that has preserved our lives since the last session of the General Assembly. Continue, we pray Thee, Thy favor to us; and may the Holy Spirit inspire us to do Thy Holy will.

Hear our prayer in behalf of the President of these United States and for the Governor of Pennsylvania and for all in authority. In the name of Christ our Lord. Amen.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed with the election of the President Pro Tempore.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the caucus of Republican Senators has selected, as our candidate for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the present Senator from Dauphin County.

About thirty years ago, an honored Senator of this county was elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and he had a distinguished record of public service, but I think the present Senator has a longer record of service to the public; in the city council of his city, in the county offices of his county, and in local and state affairs of his party he has served for many years and that service has won for him the nomination to this office.

Therefore, today I am pleased to place in nomination for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor of Dauphin County.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, on behalf of the Republican caucus, I take pleasure in seconding the nomination of Honorable M. Harvey Taylor for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I wish to place in nomination the name of an honored and fighting member of the Democratic minority, one who has come through the years fighting the battle for the common good of the common people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I wish to present to you now the name of our leader and fighting Democrat, the Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis of Allegheny County.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I feel it is a genuine privilege to be able to second the nomination of a man whose conduct in this body has won the love and compelled the respect and challenged the admiration of all of the members of the Senate, regardless of their party allegiance.

He brought to this body a keen intellect, a broad experience and a consuming desire to represent not only his constituents but the Commonwealth as well. Since the last session of the Senate the gentleman from Allegheny has taken on added responsibilities, and I am sure that I voice the sentiments of the members of the Senate when I wish him well in his latest venture.

I am delighted, Mr. President, to second the nomination of a Senator with a model disposition, a jewel in the diadem of democracy, the gentlemen from Allegheny, Bernard B. McGinnis.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HEYBURN. I move, Mr. President, that nominations for President Pro Tempore of the Senate be closed.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The roll was called and the results were as follows:

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President Pro Tempore by the Honorable J. Paul Rupp, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now has the honor of presenting to the Senate the President Pro Tempore, the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor of Dauphin County.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President and friends of the Senate, I could not help thinking while sitting out there with these fellows that I have been associated with for forty or more years in politics and hearing my name mentioned as the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor so often, because they remember so well the many names I have been called, and I know they appreciate it.

I want to say to you, Senator McGinnis, that it was a pleasure for me to vote for you. I believe that if we would not have given you Democrats so much in the past, it might have been possible that we would have endorsed you.

Words are very feeble to express gratitude, but I want to say to you that this is the greatest honor that has ever come to me in my life. When I think back, that I was a clerk sitting over there in the corner and scared to death, about thirty years ago, when Eddie Beidleman was President Pro Tempore of the Senate, when the mills were working irregularly, and I was glad to get a five-dollar-a-day job, and if anybody would have told me then that I would be up here talking before a man like Lieutenant-Governor Bell and the rest of you distinguished gentlemen, I think I would have fainted, but it just shows what chances you have in America. When I look around and see these fellows that I have associated with, I know what they are thinking, Tom Nelley and Al Cooper, those fellows never expected to see that Taylor up there, but Taylor is up there, thanks to the American way of life.

I want to say to you that I appreciate it very much and I will try to do the best I can.

Of course, I know the President Pro Tempore does not have very much to do, but I will do the best I can and in every way possible try to be fair. I need your help. God bless you. I have a sort of slogan, "Talk less and work more," so I think I will adopt that slogan right now.

Thank you.
The PRESIDENT. I regret very much that Senator Taylor did not mention in his speech the main reason he has achieved the great honor that has come to him, because of his wife, who is with us today, and I would like to ask her to stand up and take a bow.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, although I realize the resolution will pass—the majority party decided that in their caucus—I would like to call to their attention and have them consider this at a later date, that for the last ten years that I have been here, with other members, it seems that Monday is the day we have to devote to taking care of our work. We come down here, we have a lot of running around to do to various departments, we try to serve our constituency back home and each and every one of us have many problems and those of us that come from remote parts of the State cannot do any work on Monday whatsoever, if we go into session at four o'clock. Up until the last two years, it had been the practice to convene at nine o'clock, giving all of us the opportunity of coming up here and then attending the session.

You realize that on Tuesdays and Wednesdays we are confined to committee meetings and having sessions, and it is almost impossible to do any work and attend to the duties that we are obliged to attend to, if we are going to serve the people back home properly, so I make this remark with the hope that probably the Republican caucus might discuss it and try to move up the hour on Monday to at least six or seven o'clock, giving all of us time enough to get here, do our work and then settle down to our sessions.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Cambria that the Republican senators discussed this matter, and inasmuch as they are in the habit of getting up early on Tuesday morning, there is plenty of time to work on Tuesday, so I would like to suggest to the Senator from Cambria that he try to arise a little earlier on Tuesday mornings.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as I understand the resolution, it calls for reconvening on January 15th.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution calls for convening on the 15th of January at four o'clock.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, pursuant to the action of the Democratic caucus assembled, I must ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this resolution. The Governor of the Commonwealth has issued a statement to the public stating that he has prepared his budget message and that all matters clearing from his office are taken care of, in order that the members of the General Assembly might meet in regular session and not delay the work that must be done. Pursuant to that thought, we members of the Democratic caucus feel that we are ready to start immediately upon the duties we were elected to perform, and so I ask my colleagues to vote "no", in order that it will be understood that the Democrats are ready to work from now on in.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, for the information of the Minority Leader, there will be a farm show in town next week, and we have found that farmers have been looking forward to this thing for pretty nearly a year, and have made hotel reservations. There is a housing crisis here and will be next week, and so we decided, rather than put the farmers out of their rooms, we would recess the Senate, Mr. President, but the leaders of the Senate may come here and prepare their programs for January 15th.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we took into consideration the farm show problem, and upon investigation find that the only persons attending the farm show are the heads of committees and that it will not be the regular farm show crowd. I am sure that rooms could be found; if that is the only delay, and aside from that I am sure that the farmers would be patriotic enough to give up their rooms for the greater duty of doing the job of the Commonwealth.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution

The yeas and nays were requested by Mr. HALUSKA and Mr. DENT.

SYMPATHY OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE WIDOW OF THE HONORABLE BENJAMIN JARRETT

Mr. THOMAS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 2, 1945.

The Honorable Benjamin Jarrett, a former member of this Senate from Mercer County, died on Thursday, July 20th, 1944, at the Good Samaritan Hospital at Zanesville, Ohio.

After completing his early education in the public schools of Mercer County, he studied law in the office of James Pierce in Sharon and was admitted to the bar of Mercer County in 1907. In 1911 he became associated with Thomas N. Armstrong, Esq., and continued that law partnership for twenty-three years.

His fame as an active and successful lawyer quickly spread throughout the district and brought a large practice to the partnership and political preferment to him. In 1910 he was elected a member of the Senate and served during the sessions of 1911 and 1913.

After his retirement from the Senate, he was elected Chairman of the Republican County Committee of Mercer County, and in 1919 was appointed a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board in which capacity he served until 1923.

In 1937 he was elected to the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States from the Twentieth Congressional District of the Commonwealth, and was re-elected in 1939 and 1941.

Former Senator Jarrett is survived by his wife, Agnes Boyle Jarrett, a daughter Mrs. A. L. Nintz, and a son Fred Jarrett, Esq.

In all of the public offices he filled, he served faithfully and with marked ability, making and holding friends and at all times attending to the needs of his constituents in the Shenango Valley. Their interests were his first concern and nothing they requested was ever too trivial to merit his attention. He was known for his loyalty to his friends.

One of his home newspapers, on the day following his death in an editorial, stated:

"And somehow we also like to remember Atty. Jarrett for other things—his loyalty to the Republican party, his ability as an orator, his frequent professional aid to persons who could not afford to hire a lawyer and numerous other acts of generosity, his words of encouragement to young people, his love of the outdoors and his devotion to his family.

"Those among us who knew 'Ben' Jarrett best will miss him most," therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the death of the Honorable Benjamin Jarrett has removed from public life in this Commonwealth a trained and efficient statesman who spent most of his life in the public's business, who served in high places with honor to himself and to those he represented, and whose absence will be most deeply felt by those who knew him best; and be it further

Resolved, That as evidence of the action of this Senate, the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to his widow at her home in Mercer, Pennsylvania.

SYMPATHY OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE WIDOW OF THE HONORABLE FRANK P. MILLER

Mr. THOMAS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 2, 1945.

The Honorable Frank P. Miller, Meadville industrialist and civic leader and a former Member of this Senate, died at his home in Meadville on December 11th, 1943, leaving to survive him his widow, a daughter, a grandson and a sister.

He was born near Conneaut Lake in Mercer County on December 20th, 1883, attended school in Sadsbury Township and graduated from the Meadville High School in 1901. Following this preliminary education he graduated from Allegheny College and afterward attended the Law School of the University of Michigan.

In 1908 Mr. Miller became general manager of the McCresky Tool Company and remained with the company until the time of his death. His mechanical ability was outstanding and contributed largely to the progress made by the company with which he was associated. He was credited with having secured more patents than any other inventor in the metal tool cutting or tool holding devise field.

He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and was a 32nd degree Mason.

Prominent in the affairs of the Methodist Church, Mr. Miller was a member of the official board of Stone Church, as well as president of its board of trustees, and he held the office of church lay leader.

At one time Mr. Miller was a member of the local advisory committee of the Salvation Army. He was a charter member and the first president of Meadville Rotary Club, and was a member of the Round Table and the Country Club and a former member of the Literary Union and the University Club of Meadville.

He served as war chairman of the Meadville Chapter, American Red Cross, and a member of the state advisory committee during World War I. He served as a member of the board of trustees of Edinboro State College and the Pennsylvania College of Music, as well as president of the Meadville Commercial College. For several years he was a member of the Meadville School Board.

His devotion to the interests of his community and the prominent part he took in civic affairs led to his election to this Senate, where he served with distinction and with credit to his district from 1922 to 1926; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of former Senator Frank P. Miller his community has lost its outstanding citizen, those projects and interests that he served so well and so long have been deprived of his valued help and assistance, and that host of men and women who called him friend, will long miss his friendship and his kindly manner; and be it further

Resolved, That in evidence of the deep sympathy of this Senate, the Secretary thereof shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the widow of our former member, the Honorable Frank P. Miller.

SYMPATHY OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE WIDOW OF THE HONORABLE FRED A. SERVICE

Mr. THOMAS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 2, 1945.

The Hon. Fred A. Service, a former member of this city from Mercer County, died on June 13th last at his home in Sharon, the place of his birth and the scene of his active life.

He was born on October 12, 1876, graduated from the Sharon High School in 1895, attended Washington and Jefferson College at Washington, Pennsylvania for three years, and took a law course at what is now George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Service received his law degree in 1903 and the same year was admitted to practice in his home county where he was associated with A. W. Williams, an uncle, who later became a judge of Mercer County.

His standing as a lawyer in Mercer County is best set forth in a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Bar Association of that county which in part stated:

"As a lawyer, and particularly as an advocate in court, he was most resourceful and soon took rank with the ablest attorneys in the county. His success was so marked that for many years he was engaged in almost every case of importance in the Mercer County Courts; he was most outstanding in his cross-examination of witnesses and in his forceful presentation to the jury."

He was elected a member of this Senate in November, 1920 to fill the unexpired term of the Hon. James M. Campbell and represented his Senatorial District during the Session of 1921.

Besides being a director of the Protected Home Circle he was a member of the Mercer County, Pennsylvania and American Bar Associations, Director of the First Federal Savings and Loan Company of Sharon, Past President of the Kiwanis Club, member of the Chamber of Commerce, Sharon Country Club, Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Delta Phi Fraternities, Sharon Lodge Free and Accepted Masons, Rebecca Commandery of the Knights Templar, 32nd Degree member of the Scottish Rite body of New Castle, and Zem Zem Temple of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. He was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church of Sharon and taught the Men's Bible Class for several years.

Mr. Service was married in 1907 to Anna Vaughn of Youngstown, Ohio. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Edwin A. Reed of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Mrs. Thomas H. Johnston of Manchester, Conn., and Miss Julia, at home. Four grandchildren also survive, the children of Mrs. Reed, Edwin A., Jr., Lucretia Ann, and Fred A. Service Reed, and Sharon L. Johnston, the daughter of Mrs. Johnston; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That in the death of our former member the Hon. Fred A. Service there has passed from the Commonwealth a man of distinction in his County and in the State, one who was outstanding in his profession and who as a member of the Senate demonstrated his interest in and his concern for the people he represented; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to his widow.

PRAYER

The Rev. Paul R. Ashby, Pastor St. Matthews Lutheran Church, Shamokin Dam, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, around whose altars Thy children in all generations have assembled in faith for strength and courage: Thou hast gathered together these Legislators of this Commonwealth to serve Thy people and to support our Christian heritage in this land. Deepen the roots of their righteousness and let not their pride in their office be to them as a fading and forgotten flower. Make them equal to the high trust which has been placed in them: reverent in the use of freedom; just in their exercise of power; and generous in their protection of those who are weak.

Give to our Governor, this General Assembly, the Speaker of this House, and all in authority, both insight and faithfulness that our laws may clearly speak the right, the truth, and the hope of free men.

Let it be known among them that Thou hatest robbery for burnt offerings; that the gain of their personal lives should be upright, and the use of their strength considerate.

Grant that Thy revealed Word may not be made vain by the hardness or carelessness of their hearts, but that by it men everywhere may be confirmed in penitence, lifted to hope, made strong for service, and above all to be filled with the true knowledge of Thee and of Thy Son the Lord of states and nations and the King of kings. Amen.

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, a Judge learned in the law, of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT
HON. ROBERT E. WOODSIDE TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK appointed Messrs. David P. Reese, Jr. and Shaffer to escort the Hon. Robert E. Woodside to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the Members-elect.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. A Bible will be found in the desk of each Member-elect for those who swear by the Bible.

The Members-elect will rise and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oath of office.

The oath of office was then administered to all the Members-elect, except Messrs. Bently, Duffy, Mihm, Sarraf, Turner and Watkins.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Leave of absence was granted to members-elect as follows:

Mr. Scanlon for Mr. DUFFY because of injury.

Mr. Baker for Mr. BENTLEY because of illness.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered the following resolution which was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1945.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article 2, Section 9 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House do now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER

The CHIEF CLERK. Nominations for Speaker are now in order.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Chief Clerk, two years ago I had the happy privilege of placing in nomination the name of the man who was elected Speaker of this House to serve during the session of 1943 and the session of 1944. When we convened in January, 1943, it was the first session of the Pennsylvania Legislature held since America had entered the great world conflict for liberty in which we are now engaged.

At that time I pointed out to the Members of this House that because of the trying times in which we met it would require more of the man who occupied this high, exalted position of Speaker of the House than in a normal session.

I pointed out the many qualifications necessary in the individual who presides over the deliberations of this House, such as integrity, courage, a man with patience and understanding, a man who realizes the responsibilities and the duties of the majority, but never forgot the rights of the minority.

We who served in the 1943 session and the Special Session of 1944 realize that the man we elected to preside over this legislative body served with the sincere purpose of doing everything within his power to bring about an understanding in the many and various problems which confronted us. He was sincere in his efforts to serve faithfully the entire membership of this House as well as the entire citizenry of Pennsylvania, and I feel confident that we must unanimously agree that Speaker Ira T. Fiss has won for himself a place among the sterling characters and the outstanding men who have preceded him in the Speaker's chair.

So again this session will be one of the most important ever held in the annals of Pennsylvania's history. The qualifications for this very high office of Speaker continue to demand of the man who will take the place on the rostrum as the presiding officer, all of the energy and the perseverance any one man may possess, because of the important war time, post-war aid to veterans, and legislation for the general welfare of the people of Pennsylvania.

The man I am about to nominate has proven his capabilities in his leadership during the past two years and therefore, I take great pleasure in placing in nomination for the Speaker of the House of Representatives the Hon. Ira T. Fiss of Snyder County.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Chief Clerk, the office of Speaker carries with it great responsibilities. Responsibility for successful results demands patience, ability, integrity and self-control. During the past two years of experience and observation the Members of the 1944 session learned that the person who was elected met his assigned task with courage and fidelity. He held high the ideals and standards set by his able predecessors. He had the fortitude after due consideration to say yes or no to the problem that confronted him. This man without question has won the good will of all the Members who served under his leadership. Mental poise and sterling character are prerequisites for this office.

And now, Mr. Chief Clerk and fellow Members, because of his ability, because of his previous record and because of his good and excellent character I am pleased to second the nomination of Hon. Ira T. Fiss for the office of Speaker of this House.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Chief Clerk, it is an easy job, an easy task, and a pleasurable task to be able to place in nomination a good friend of mine and a good friend of every Member of this House, because the standards already attributed to the present Speaker who has just been placed in nomination to succeed himself can very easily and very honestly be attributed to the man who I shall place in nomination.

He has been a Member of this House since the year 1928. During all of that time of continuous service he has conducted himself with dignity and sincerity. He has made and he has retained all the friends whom he has met on the Hill.

While he has not served in the capacity of Speaker of this House before I feel quite certain that had he attained that position before this time he would have acquitted himself precisely in a manner of which every Member of this session and of previous sessions could well have been proud.

As a friend of mine, it gives me additional pleasure and I deem it a great privilege to be able to place in nomination a man for whom I should give up all personal interests should I also be seeking the honor, because to me he has been a good friend and a wise counsellor, and to all those who may come to him, I am sure they will also find in him the traits which will make for good and lasting friendship and wise counsel in their problems.

Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of the House, it gives me the utmost pleasure to place in nomination for the office of the Speaker of this House the gentleman from Lackawanna County, Mr. Harry O'Neill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chief Clerk, every now and then it is ones privilege to know a man who knows many other men, none of whom speaks ill of him. Such a man is Harry T. O'Neill. You have heard the qualifications of a Speaker. Among them was listed self control. I ask you ladies and gentlemen to look at Mr. O'Neill and his placid expression and realize that he has been a minority member of this house since 1928, when the Democrats were in the minority. and he has emerged looking as he has, and if that isn't a sample of self control over a great many years I would like to know what self control is.

Integrity he has; extended experience he has; friendship in this House he has. It gives me great pleasure therefore, Mr. Chief Clerk, to second the nomination of Harry O'Neill of Lackawanna County as Speaker of this House.

Mr. YEAKEL. Mr. Chief Clerk, I move that nominations for Speaker of the House be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chief Clerk, I rise to a Parliamentary inquiry.

The CHIEF CLERK. The gentleman will state his Parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chief Clerk, I was absent from the Hall of the House with the Attorney General discussing certain problems which I feel will meet with the indorsement of both sides of this House, at the time when the oath was administered, returning just at the end. Unless I can have the oath administered to me before balloting for Speaker I will be unable to vote, and I therefore inquire whether I may now ask unanimous consent to have the oath administered to me at this time.

The CHIEF CLERK. Will the House give its unanimous consent to have the oath of office now administered to the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Turner? Is there objection? The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chief Clerk, I would suggest that if there are any other Members now in the House who have not yet taken the oath, that they also have the opportunity of joining my friend on the other side in taking the oath with him.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair was about to make that suggestion. If there are any other Members-elect present who have not taken the Oath they will present themselves at the Bar of the House.

The oath of office was then administered to Messrs. Turner, Watkins and Mihm by Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SPEAKER-ELECT TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair appoints Messrs. O'Neill and Serrill as a committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. Members of the House, I have the honor to present the Honorable Ira T. Fiss Speaker-elect of this House of Representatives.

The oath of officer was then administered to Honorable Ira T. Fiss, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR.

ADDRESS OF THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. In calling the House to order the Chair will use a gavel presented to him during the recent Governors' Conference.

The wood from which it is made is from Independence Hall in the city of Philadelphia. It is an exact replica of the gavel used in calling the Continental Congress to order in 1774. Because of its historic significance the Chair will call the House to order with this gavel.

Fellow members of the House, for the second time we meet during a war of unequalled magnitude and severity. Its progress seems to portray the course of government as well as the way of life. The needful diversion of wealth and strength from the fields of peaceful industry to national defense, and the prosecution of the war, has arrested the normal pursuits of men and women in state and nation.

To have the seal of approbation placed upon my term as Speaker is very gratifying. I am duly sensible to the high compliment of a re-election, and sincerely grateful to you for your continued confidence and trust. I shall strive diligently to perform the duties of my office with your counsel and advice, and the help of almighty God, for, "The Lord is the strength of my life, in him do I trust." In God's providence there is a spring at the foot of every hill.

By reason of our membership we are clothed with tremendous power over the lives and destiny of nearly ten million people. The confidence and faith of the people in the legislative branch of government, in this great Commonwealth, must be preserved if the Republic itself is to survive.

Our paramount object is to win the war. We must enlist on the home front, for the production of war materials, for the purchase of War Bonds, and every other effort which will lessen suffering, and reduce the destruction of lives and property. If we quibble and argue over trifling things, if we delay and impede the progress of this session we will greatly reduce our opportunity to contribute to the war effort. Our best policy is a short and business-like session. Our patriotic duty to the people of Pennsylvania whom we represent is to press forward with fidelity, dispatch, and impartiality, sure of this achievement.

The problems of government are great during a war period but they will be greater after the war. The best government is not that which renders men the happiest, but that which renders the greatest number happy.

It is the duty of the Legislature to provide the ways and means for self government, in local units, so that the greatest number of the people will become a part of government. It is also a proper function of State Government to make it easy for the people to do good and difficult for them to do wrong.

When the government is corrupt the laws are multiplied, laws are the bulwarks of liberty. They define men's rights and defend their liberties. It is very easy to devise good laws, the difficulty is to make them effective. Every law abridges the rights of some one, if it does not convict the guilty it involves the innocent.

In this law making body we must not attempt to pass laws for political expediency, as a means to an end. We must realize that it is the function of State Government to impart unity, justice, tranquility, safety, welfare and liberty. And that the end of government is the welfare, safety and happiness of all the people.

It is very essential that order, decency, and regularity be preserved in a dignified public body. It is much more essential that there should be a rule to go by, that there may be a uniformity of procedure in business, not subject to the caprice of the speaker, or capriciousness of the members.

The dignity and power of this office impells me to approach my duties with humility and unselfishness, and to carefully consider the rights of all the members without fear or favor, with malice toward none, and with justice for all.

Pennsylvania is a Great State. The progress and glory of Pennsylvania for more than a century has been the history of its people always fighting in the vanguard. Nearly a million of her people are now fighting on the battlefronts of the world. The casualties of this war are many, every day brings news of some Pennsylvania boy killed or wounded in action. With the deepest sorrow and Holy Reverence we bow in submission to the will of an over-ruling providence.

Love of country next to love for our Creator is the greatest thing in the world. Let us resolve to do all that we can to hasten the end of war, to alleviate the wrongs of our fellow men, to reduce suffering and destruction to decrease the anxiety of fathers, mothers, wives, and husbands, to make secure the blessings of freedom and happiness for all. Let us highly resolve to do all in our power to bring our boys back to the same country, the same state, the same fireside, unchanged and unencumbered.

Sorrow, turmoil, and strife may endure throughout the night but—"Joy cometh in the morning." The morning of final victory, the return of a just and lasting peace.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank the Chief Clerk, William E. Habbyslaw, for the efficient manner in which he has conducted the organization of the House.

RESOLUTION

THANKING HONORABLE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE FOR ADMINISTERING OATH

Mr. HUNTLEY offered the following resolution which was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable Robert E. Woodside of Dauphin County, for his services in administering the oath of office to its Members and Officers.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

HONORABLE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am always happy to be in this chamber to renew old acquaintances and to make new friends. I want to congratulate all of you upon your election to this body and congratulate the Speaker upon his re-election.

I am in hearty accord with two of the "Bills" you have in this House. I do not know that I will be in such hearty accord with all of the bills that will be around this House in the next few months, but I want to congratulate you on the election of two former members of this House who served with me and whom you now have as your Chief Clerk and Secretary. It is always a great pleasure to be in this House and watch democracy at work in Pennsylvania.

PETITION

CONTESTING ELECTION

The SPEAKER. The Chair has had presented to him a petition contesting the election of William J. Reidenbach for the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the third legislative district of Lackawanna County.

In accordance with the provisions of the election laws of the Commonwealth of 1937, P. L. 1333, Section 1748, this petition will be referred to the Committee on Elections of this House when elected.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I understand this morning that I appear in this House as a freshman Member. I have always held it as one of the cardinal principles of membership in this House that a freshman member should remain quiet during his first session. But I think that I am here as a post-graduate freshman Member as this is the 11th time that I have taken the oath of office as a Member of this House, with only one interruption and that was in January of 1943.

I am sure that most of the older members appreciate the fine orderly manner in which this session has been convened. Those of us who can look back over the years remember some of the mob scenes that accompanied the opening of sessions, with the side aisles full of curious people, many of whom had no other business than to get in out of the cold, and found the Hall of the House a convenient place to while away a short time.

In 1939, after a number of experiences of that kind,

I felt that the opening of the session of the House belonged to the members, and to their families. While the law requires sessions of the General Assembly to be open to the public, at least we should have the privilege on the opening day to make it an occasion that belongs to the Members and to their families and intimate friends.

Therefore in casting about for a method of accomplishing this I bethought myself of one of my closest friends whose capabilities in handling, arranging and planning an occasion of this kind were outstanding, and so I asked this friend of mine if he would undertake to do the job. He did it so well—it was an innovation, and therefore required a lot of work, that when in 1941 I was succeeded by the Honorable Elmer Kilroy of Philadelphia, the Speaker came to me and asked me whether I would ask my friend again to undertake the job.

In 1943 you, Mr. Speaker, also sought the same service and have again this year. We have met here this morning in a fine, dignified, orderly procedure, with all the visitors seated, and with the aisles unencumbered. I don't know whether many of you realize the amount of effort and the amount of time and planning that go into the arrangements that are necessary to bring about a situation such as we have here this morning. It seems to me fitting that we should today offer some kind of recognition to the man who through these four sessions has given of his time and of his efforts to bring about this fine and dignified meeting we have here.

I refer, Mr. Speaker, to a man who, because of his outstanding public service and because of his known ability as an efficient executive, was called by the people of Delaware County almost two years ago to become a member of its Board of Commissioners. He was elected president of the board, and some day in the not distant future I am certain that the people of Pennsylvania will hear of the marvelous job he is doing as a commissioner in Delaware County, the efficiency, the business-like way and the economies that he has effected which perhaps were not expected by the average among the electorate, but which those of us who knew him expected would be put into effect the minute he took office as president of the Board of County Commissioners.

So, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the House to offer its thanks to Clarence L. Conner of Delaware County, the president of the Board of Commissioners of this county for the work that he has done, the tireless labor he has given, the time he has given in the last few weeks to see that we as a General Assembly might have the benefit of the kind of opening session which we have had here this morning.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. O'BRIEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I too want to offer words from this side of the House of commendation to Clarence Conner for the marvelous work he has done in organizing the opening day's session. I also served in those days, prior to his initial step in 1939, and I can testify to the confusion which was out of keeping with the dignity and the solemnity of the opening session. I say to you members that we should join, all of us, in thanksgiving to the marvelous work that Clarence Conner has done.

The SPEAKER. The Chair invites the gentlemen

Clarence L. Conner, to present himself in the center aisle of the House.

The Chair wishes to thank Mr. Clarence L. Conner for his efficient work in arranging and doing the many things necessary to have an orderly opening of the House, and because this man worked without pay, I think he deserves the thanks of the entire membership of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to pay my tribute to what must be considered Mr. Conner's outstanding achievement, he having brought the gentleman from Delaware and the gentleman from Philadelphia into such complete agreement.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that we give Mr. Conner a rising vote of thanks for his work.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Clarence L. Connor.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

RULES OF HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr., offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Rules of the last House of Representatives be the Rules of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there are among the rules a number that are obnoxious to us. I would not want this afternoon to raise any controversial discussion concerning them. There are some rules, gentlemen, that we will try to amend with sheer force of numbers; there are other rules that we will try to modify by agreement, and I would like to have a stipulation with the Leader on the other side of the House that at some near occasion in the future we will set aside a definite period for the consideration of such amendments to the rules as we desire to propose on this side.

There is just one suggestion that I want to leave with you before we hear from the Leader on the other side of the House; you are all familiar with the trouble we have had for years with the verification of rolls, and it has taken hours and hours of your time, and it has been the cause of bitterness. It is a bad institution. Now, if there were some logical way, some convenient way, some time-saving way of getting rid of the verification of the rolls, I think we all ought to be for it, and I would suggest for your consideration therefore the simple expedient that when there is a highly controversial measure pending concerning which a verification of the roll is likely, that at the request of the Leader on either side of the House, the Members voting be required to rise in their place when they vote. I believe such an arrangement would obviate the verification of the roll. However if any one on the other side of the House or on this side of the House has a better idea, we will be glad to entertain it.

And now, will the Leader on the other side indulge us with a statement as to whether or not on some future occasion in the very near future we can arrange a specific time when we can consider amendments on the rules.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner, the chairman of the Committee on the Revision of Rules.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, may I answer the Minority Floor Leader with the statement that at any time in the near future convenient to the Minority Floor Leader and the Committee on Revision of Rules of this House we can perhaps arrange an informal conference followed by such subsequent floor action as is deemed necessary at that time.

I do want to thank him and the Members of the minority of this House for passing over the opportunity on this day of our organization in order that the organization of the House may be dispatched quickly and efficiently, and time not be consumed by a protracted debate.

Again I assure him of cooperation in the very near future.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I notice in going over the agenda for today's proceedings there is no place where the Chair announces the appointment of a Committee on Committees. I desire to inquire whether it is the Chair's intention to announce the appointment of a Committee on Committees at this session.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, it is the intention of the Chair to announce the selection which has been made of a Committee on Committees immediately following the adoption of the rules.

Mr. ANDREWS. Then, Mr. Speaker, following the announcement of the Committee on Committees, I would like recognition from the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be recognized. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, the Chair is without authority to announce the selection of the Committee on Committees until Rule 27 is adopted.

Mr. ANDREWS. I understand that, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER. Under the provision of Rules 27 of the House the following members were selected by the majority and minority parties to comprise the Committee on Committees: Messrs. Stockham, Lichtenwalter, Kline, David P. Reese, Jr., Lloyd H. Wood, Lee Cooper, Scanlon, Readinger, Baker, Fiss.

MOTION TO INSTRUCT COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Select Committee on Committees, created under the provisions of House Rule No. 27, (the membership of which the Speaker has just announced) be instructed by this House to recommend to the House that the membership of each of the respective standing committees be on the following basis: one half of the membership to be of the majority party and one half of the membership of the minority party, exclusive of the Chairman and the Vice Chairman thereof who are appointed by the Speaker under this rule.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I read in the public print a statement made by His Excellency the Governor. I am informed through the public print that there is a possibility that in the near future His Excellency the Governor will call the party leaders and the legislative leaders into conference for the purpose of trying to devise a non-partisan legislative program made up of essential legislation.

His Excellency the Governor repeatedly has pointed out that these are unusual times, and indeed they are. It is unusual for a Governor to consider the minority even as possible of cooperation. The predecessor of the present Governor treated and regarded the minority party as potential enemies. In certain types of legislation the present Governor regards them as potential allies.

Now, gentlemen, you can't have it both ways. The basis of cooperation is equality. Now, gentlemen of the House, I say to you that in the desire to serve the Commonwealth, we are at least your equals, and gentleman, will you please recall that in some of the measures to which His Excellency the Governor has already given his approval, that we are perhaps on more familiar ground than you. In some of these causes which the administration has espoused we have suffered wounds as a result of parliamentary battles that we have lost and I suggest to you that there is a possibility that some Members of the majority party might from force of habit oppose some of the provisions in the measures to which the Governor has given his adherence and that it might even come about that he would send for the minority leader and say, "My old friend, for God's sake, get some of your fellows on those committees; they are murdering my bills."

Now, gentlemen, human life, accidents being what they are, you are in no position to get tough; and we are in no position to get tough, and we ought to have good government. I find that when statesmen discover that their parliamentary majority dwindles they move to be left, and that is what has happened in this instance.

Now, gentlemen, consider, you are under obligations to man these committees, and if you cannot hold the committees with a majority of two, you cannot hold your majority in the House.

Moreover, might I point out for your consideration that you are morally obligated to man these committees. We don't have to do it. If the public learns what goes on, it learns it with its ear at the keyhole. Everything that we might say or do in committee we can say and we can try to do out on the floor of this House; here is our forum. You rob us of nothing when you deny us equality on these committees and I submit to you gentlemen that if you will recall political history you will find that both parties have suffered disasters as a result of over-emphasis upon partisan consideration—both parties.

I am in earnest; I am not making a play. I say to you in all seriousness that when his Excellency the Governor extends a friendly hand and the Democratic Caucus extends a friendly hand I plead with you, I plead with you, let those hands clasp, gentlemen of the House, don't strike them down.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with great interest to what the Minority Floor Leader has had to say on this question. I too hope that this session will show a minimum of partisanship. I feel that there are many here who have jobs to do in their homes which can in some instances be benefited by a very brief, businesslike and efficient session of this House. I think the times call for a speedy administration of our business and an early adjournment.

Be that as it may, it will depend upon the spirit with which we all attack the business at hand as to when and if we adjourn. I do not wish to speak to you from a partisan standpoint. However, I cannot be unmindful of the fact that there is a majority in this House of Representatives; I cannot forget that we have a majority on this side of the House which was given to us by the voters of this Commonwealth at a time when other office nominees carried the State and did not represent the Republican party. Everyone knows that the House of Representatives has to have a majority, be it Democratic or Republican. Today we have elected our officers. We will learn tonight and thereafter from legislation introduced the nature of the program which we have to carry out before adjournment.

The business of the House of Representatives is administered by committees, and of necessity some majority other than merely the Chairman and Vice Chairman should obtain. Back in 1935 there was a majority of this House which was somewhat comparable to the majority which we have here today. At that time the now minority party had 117 Members and we on the majority side now then had 88. We too, were pretty well represented in that minority; the division was close. To my knowledge, however, neither then nor since has such a motion been submitted to this House for consideration, suggesting that the personnel or makeup of a House Committee be equally divided except for the Chairman and Vice Chairman.

I wish again to say that I do not make this statement from a partisan standpoint. I am setting forth facts which are a matter of record and which I use in my effort to strengthen the argument which I am advancing on behalf of this side of the House in opposition to the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria County.

And may I in a few isolated instances recall to this Membership the fact that in 1935 for instance on the Committee on Appropriations there were 33 Democratic members and 10 Republicans; that on the Committee on Boroughs there were 22 Democratic Members and 12 Republicans. Let us move along to the Committee on Ways and Means for on that Committee there were 32 Democratic Members and 9 Republicans.

Now let me say this, I have other facts here which I do not care at this time to impose upon the Membership, but let me say this, I am not a Member of the Committee on Committees. However, I feel certain that in their deliberations they will recognize the closeness of the majorities of this House, and I think that they will give fair and equitable representation on the several committees of this House to the minority Membership, and I trust that they will. But as to this motion I cannot see how we can dispatch the business at hand in an efficient orderly and businesslike manner, and I ask this House to vote this motion down.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, not to belabor the point, and perhaps mostly to give voice to a particular situation out of the whole pattern, first of all may I suggest to the gentlemen on the other side that the idea of having equal representation on committees is not a new idea—perhaps a very new idea for Pennsylvania.

If the gentleman wants a confession of past guilt as the price for streamlining the procedure and doing an efficient job this year he may have such a confession of guilt, a guilt which has been indulged in by both parties in the past, by unequal representation on committees. But might I suggest that in Washington our Congressional committees are made up on a ratio of the strength of each side in the Halls of Congress. I am told, without being able to name the particular committees, that there are some committees where the majority party has a majority of but one vote.

But getting back to what I might call a local issue, if we are to have a situation as it has existed in the past, as bad as that system was, I speak for the Philadelphia situation where 32 Democrats and 9 Republicans sit in this House. Philadelphia has some very vital needs. We have broken ground on this side in many sessions past for one all important subject as far as we are concerned in Philadelphia, and that is cleaning up the Schuylkill river and cleaning up the Delaware river. That legislation is important, and after many sessions of breaking ground, and shall we say educating the public from this House, the Governor has now come forward and sought legislation for cleaning up not only the Delaware and Schuylkill but all the streams of Pennsylvania as vital and necessary.

The Philadelphia representation on the Committee handling that legislation should have assurance that it will have a strong enough voice to continue to press the argument which this side of the House has continually made on that subject.

And there are other matters of statewide importance where we have done the ground breaking, where we have been the salesmen, where we have been the missionaries, and not as a matter of claiming glory but as a pure and simple matter of having men on those committees who have been most acquainted with and have done the dirty work, as it were, in getting the question before the public, so that the public demand that the State enact this legislation, also demand that the Governor give a program based upon these things which we have so long advocated, and to do it with a proper representation on committees so that the work can be done in committees and so that our dirty linen doesn't have to be washed on the floor of this House.

May I say further that we have a remarkable example in this House this year of what co-operation between the political parties and the Executive can mean. We were able to introduce bills into this House in the Special Session of this year and in the course of five legislative days—the shortest possible time in which a bill can pass—passed a series of bills which were as important as any series of legislation ever brought out of this House and signed by the Governor and we produced the best soldier vote legislation that the nation has seen to date.

Mr. Speaker, I suggest that if that can be done by the Governor extending his hand to the minority and the minority grasping that hand firmly—and by the majority on that side of the House giving its blessing that it can happen again, but it can happen again only, Mr. Speaker, if the bitterness in legislation is calmly discussed in committees sessions and not brought on to the floor where all sorts of unimportant and undermining issues are brought out to hamper good legislation for good government.

I join, Mr. Speaker, with my Floor Leader in asking most seriously that the motion prevail and that this House go on record as getting rid of the old and on with the new for a new era in Pennsylvania for a program of proper representation on committees for expeditious handling of legislation in this session.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll-call on the motion.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add just a word to the debate that prevails here in the Hall of the House on this question. I think that my colleague from Cambria County, the minority leader, certainly touched the key to this situation when he said that the responsibility of manning the committees rests with the majority. We accept the responsibility, and therefore by necessity we certainly can not agree to the motion now before this House.

The gentleman from Philadelphia referred to the pattern on committee distribution used in the Federal Congress. I would like to call to your attention, and I believe I am correct, that in the Congress itself the House sits as a committee of the whole on most all questions and operates differently than we do here in this legislative hall.

I feel quite confident that the request of the minority for a representation upon the Committees of this House will receive serious and deserving consideration by the Committee on Committees when they meet. As far as concerns the agitation on the part of the minority in years past on many of the problems which we are told today by the press we will hear and as the gentleman has stated, in the Governor's speech this evening, we see eye to eye.

I certainly am confident that there will be no trouble in Committee as far as reporting bills to the floor of the House is concerned, even though there is no equal representation by both sides, and therefore I would ask the members of this House to vote down this motion.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the parliamentary practice is that the affirmative should have the privilege of closing the debate. I have very little to say. We have made you a sincere, honest, aboveboard offer of co-operation on essential legislation, the sort of legislation that concerns the lives, liberty, property and necessities of the people. We have made this offer of co-operation in all good faith, and I cannot but feel that your vote upon this motion will be the evidence of the spirit in which you receive our offer to co-operate.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I regret that at the very beginning of the session I cannot see eye to eye with the gentleman whom I was to announce as the floor leader for the minority party. I do not believe that the announcement needs to be made, because he has certainly announced himself already, but I believe that the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, is sincere. However, I do not wish to be recorded on the roll call on something which I know positively cannot pass—there isn't any chance in the world—and it should not pass. I believe in majority rule, and since the majority rules I believe the majority has the responsibility, and the majority will select the committees. I think as Members of the minority that we should ask for fair and reasonable representation, and I believe we will get that fair and reasonable representation, but I know that we will not get equal representation as a minority, and I intend to vote "no" on this resolution.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, as the Chairman of this Committee and particularly to the point of the statement of the gentlemen from Allegheny, may I from my experience and activity in this House through the years say that this Committee will give in proper and due proportion every recognition of a just representation on the various committees.

And may I further say, Mr. Speaker, I feel that the approach and the intent even in this motion to face legislation that shall be for our consideration during this session has been done with a purpose of fairness and cooperation and with the intent that we expedite the work of this Session, and may I assure the minority that they will receive the very best of consideration on the part of this Committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cohen and Mr. Andrews and were as follows:

YEAS—85

Andrews,	Gallagher,	McNair,	Powers,

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REASONS FOR PARDONS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 2, 1945.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons granted by me from May 1, 1944, to date.

EDWARD MARTIN.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. J. HENRY FOX offered the following privileged resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1945.

As the old year drew to its close, a valued and competent official of this Commonwealth was stricken and died while yet short more than ten years of his allotted span of life, and after having faithfully served the Commonwealth for almost twenty years.

Walter Graham Scott, Deputy Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies, died at his home in Harrisburg at five o'clock A.M. on Saturday morning, December 30th, after suffering a severe heart attack from which he failed to recover.

Mr. Scott was born in Pittsburgh, June 12, 1888, the son of James A. and Margaret B. Scott. A graduate of Pittsburgh public schools, he attended the University of Pittsburgh prior to entering private enterprise as a business administrator.

He entered the service of the State in 1923 as Director of Purchases of the Department of Property and Supplies, and was advanced to Deputy Secretary of that Department in 1929, in which capacity he served until 1936.

A change in the administration of the State Government in 1936 forced him to return to private life, but he was recalled to his former position by Governor James in 1939, and in 1941 he became Acting Secretary of the Department. He later resumed his position as Deputy Secretary and remained in that post until his death.

His connection with the administrative work of the State Government endured during all those years because of his ability, his devotion to duty and his knowledge of the intricate details connected with the work of the Department.

He served the Commonwealth with marked ability and reflected credit upon those responsible for his appointment; therefore be it

Resolved by the Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that in the death of Walter G. Scott, the State has lost the counsel of a highly trained and thoroughly competent official whose vision has been of inestimable value to the Department and to the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to his widow, Margaret W. Scott our deepest and most sincere sympathies and direct the Chief Clerk of the House to forward to her a copy of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will declare a recess until 8:00 p.m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

ELECTION OF DIRECTOR FOR LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The next order of business is the election of a Director for the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The Chair recognizes the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Wade.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I, sir, have the opportunity of placing in nomination the name of the gentleman who has served so well in that capacity in the past, Mr. Robert S. Frey, of York.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. President, it is a genuine pleasure for me to be permitted to present a second to the nomination of Mr. Frey for the position of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President, I rise to place in nomination for Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau the name of a man who is well known to the majority of the Members of this House and to many of the Members of the Senate as well. He was elected to serve in the House for three consecutive terms. During that period he was honored by having been selected as Majority Leader of the Democratic party, in which capacity he served with distinction. Later he was selected as the Director of the Legislative Bureau. In all these positions he served with honesty and efficiency. His legal capacity, his intelligence and his sense of deep responsibility coupled with the experience gained while serving as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau make him highly fitted for the position for which I now place his name in nomination.

Mr. President, I am pleased and happy to place in nomination for the position of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau the name of Herbert B. Cohen of York County.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. President, I deem it a great pleasure to accept everything said by our Senator, Mr. Leader, and it is a great pleasure to second the nomination of Herbert G. Cohen for Legislative Director.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Are there any other nominations? The Chair hears none. The nominations are closed.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The roll will be called. Each Senator and Member will name the candidate for whom he votes.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I have the honor of presenting His Excellency, Honorable Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Members of the General Assembly, I have the honor and privilege of presenting His Excellency, Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who will now address you.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR EDWARD MARTIN

GOVERNOR MARTIN. Members of the General Assembly:

This is the third regular session of this Assembly during World War Two. It still is a most critical period in our national life. While much has been accomplished, there still is much to do before the day of victory. The war may last many months, but it must be fought to a victorious conclusion. Only in that way can we establish a permanent peace based upon justice.

This is a grave hour for all of us. Everything we have is threatened. All we hope for is at stake. It is a time for unity of action and for courageous and intelligent devotion to our duties.

Not the least of these is our obligation to returning members of the armed services who must be hospitalized, readjusted and given employment, and to our displaced war workers who must be given jobs.

The following suggestions and recommendations are made to aid you in your deliberations—always remembering the spirit of independence which should exist between the legislative and executive branches of government:

AERONAUTICS

An aeronautics program is recommended. It should coordinate all transportation, including highways, railroads, water and the air, keeping in mind the advancement being made in air travel and transportation.

The Pennsylvania Aeronautics Plan, developed and adopted by our Commission, should have the studious consideration of the Assembly and of all municipalities affected thereby.

AGRICULTURE, LABOR AND INDUSTRY

The welfare of our people depends upon the cooperation of agriculture, labor and industry. It is unsound for any one of the three to dominate government. One cannot succeed without the others. Capital and agriculture must have returns upon their investments. Labor must be employed upon a wage level which gives a surplus at the end of the year. From these returns in profits and wages, our people will have savings for the necessary expansion of industry. This expansion aids employment, and thereby betters living conditions, health, education and security. The best market for industry and agriculture is well-paid labor. This demands cooperation, with government acting as an impartial arbiter.

Agriculture is a basic industry, and must have encouragement. All Americans should own their own homes; and a farm home is ideal for an American. The family-sized farm, diversified as now, is the backbone of Pennsylvania agriculture. We should continue the rural road building program provide better school facilities in rural areas, and create recreational and health centers in our rural districts.

Labor, in all its rights, should be protected. I recommend that the Legislature give consideration to a program of liberalization of the Workmen's Compensation, the Unemployment Compensation and the Occupational Disease laws. Such a program should give consideration to existing and prospective conditions confronting the State in competition with similar conditions in other States. I do hope that labor and industry will be able to agree upon fair and equitable amendments to the present laws. If they cannot do so, I will not shirk the obligation of making specific recommendations to the Legislature.

I recommend that the safety laws of this State be amended, where necessary, in order to increase safety for men and women who are employed in the mills, mines, factories and business establishments of Pennsylvania.

I also recommend increased appropriations to the Department of Mines and the Department of Labor and Industry for safety inspections, so we may give the workers of Pennsylvania as safe a place to work as is possible. Safety conditions have improved in Pennsylvania. As an example, coal production has been increased 8 per cent in 1944, while fatal accidents have fallen off 17.4 per cent in the same period.

In order to give our workers healthy working conditions and to reduce to a minimum the hazards of occupational disease, I recommend increased appropriations for industrial hygiene in the Department of Health and the Department of Labor and Industry.

The proper location of new industry depends upon skilled labor, proper religious, civic and educational environment, combined with venture capital, natural resources, transportation and an abundance of pure water.

BANKING

It is recommended that you amend the Banking Code and the Building and Loan Code so that our State Banks and State Building and Loan Associations may comply with the provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

BUDGET

In order that the members of the Legislature and the people of the Commonwealth may have every possible opportunity of studying our finances, the Budget is submitted tonight.

As far as I know, it is the first time in the history of Pennsylvania that a Budget was submitted the first day of the session. It is a wartime Budget, yet it provides for postwar work should the war end. It is hoped that you will start on it immediately and pursue it diligently.

It is divided into two parts: one, ordinary expenses and the other, postwar work. It shows a surplus of $110,735,000 in the General Fund and estimated revenue of $369,000,000.

Ordinary appropriations recommended amount to $366,206,000, and postwar projects and debt retirement amount to $110,735,000. The postwar appropriations are not two-year appropriations. They may cover several biennial periods.

A statement of the financial liabilities of your Commonwealth, as they will stand when the biennium ends next May 31st, may be of interest to you. Our indebtedness will then be as follows:

Our net Road Bonds	$28,905,957.32
Our net Veterans' Compensation Bonds	24,329,684.42
Our net General State Authority Bonds
with accrued interest	48,870,000.00
The Total will be	$102,105,641.74

Against this we will have an unencumbered balance of about $170,000,000. These millions represent taxes paid by Pennsylvanians. They should be expended with due regard to welfare of all Pennsylvanians.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Civilian Defense has done a magnificent job. It should be continued until victory in Germany is announced.

The hundreds of thousands of our citizens who have done civilian defense work deserve the thanks of this Commonwealth. Victory gardens, salvage collections, auxiliary police duties, bond buying, blood donations and emergency work are most essential and must continue to have our support.

Those protective services which are of permanent value to the people of the Commonwealth should be preserved and strengthened through our new State Disaster Plan.

The Emergency Disaster Committee in Civilian Defense is a step in the right direction and it will enable us to use the trained Auxiliary Police and Air Wardens in the event of an emergency. We must not lose sight of the factor of morale in Civilian Defense.

CONSERVATION AND STREAM POLLUTION

The vast use of our natural resources for various demands of war has made a full-scale program of conservation imperative for Pennsylvania in the postwar period.

This program should include both immediate and long range reforestation of the 15,000,000 acres of Pennsylvania soil more suitable for forests than for any other purpose; the development and beautification of parks; and the adaptation of suitable lands to recreational uses and the furnishing of such areas with recreational facilities, especially in such places as are within reasonable access of congested centers of population.

It should also include the building of a large number of small dams in streams not now polluted; these dams will conserve supplies of good water, aid in flood control and provide much needed new facilities at low cost for fishing, swimming and other water sports.

The pollution of the streams of Pennsylvania must stop. The time has come when we are almost wholly dependent upon these streams as the only sources of water for domestic use. Moreover, large supplies of good water are daily becoming more vital to industry and are needed not only to attract new industry to Pennsylvania but to maintain here the industries already established.

Whatever additional legislation is necessary should be passed to insure such a program of conservation and the freeing of our streams from pollution, including enabling legislation whereby municipalities may create Special Sewage Disposal Authorities to finance sewage disposal plants and facilities on a commercial and self-sustaining basis.

EDUCATION

Education, reinforced by sound religious attitudes and physical well-being, is the bulwark of a republic.

Our form of government cannot long exist if the people are not informed. Your Commission appointed to study the problems and financing of education has made its report. I urge that you study it carefully.

Salaries of teachers, aid to distressed districts and tax burdens on real estate should be considered. The cost of education has steadily and rapidly increased during the last forty years. Since 1910 the over-all cost of education in Pennsylvania has risen 313 per cent. How much it is advisable to spend is a problem for you to consider.

It is recommended that the State again give cost of living increase to the teachers. It must be borne in mind, however, that the substantial support of our schools must come from the local level of government, or the time will come soon when the school system will be controlled by the State.

The Department of Public Instruction reports that the appropriation that was made for the cost of living increases for teachers' salaries in the last session is not sufficient to pay these increases for the full biennium. Therefore, I recommend a supplemental appropriation so that the full increases can be paid. Also, I am informed by the Department that the appropriation for financially handicapped school districts is not sufficient to complete the biennium, and I recommend an additional amount for that purpose.

We have in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approximately fifty-six of the greatest colleges and universities of America. No State is so richly endowed with these sturdy institutions, founded in the early years of this Republic, and faithfully sustaining the principles of truth and human integrity upon which free government must always depend. Despite the wide distribution of these colleges and the fact that they, themselves, contribute yearly $4,000,000 to student aid, it is evident that many of our best-equipped youth are unable for economic reasons to enroll as students.

For the strengthening of our Commonwealth and the future of the Nation, we should take steps to assure higher education to a greater proportion of our qualified youth. To that end, we suggest legislation creating a large number of four-year scholarships allocated in proportion to county population, to be distributed to those applicants who qualify through competitive examinations, and to be awarded without discrimination as to sex, race, color or creed.

The paramount duty of government in education is to give a sound basic education; yet there is also an obligation on government to furnish laboratory and research opportunities. At the close of the war and as a result of the war it will be necessary for our universities, colleges and private laboratories to make studies and undertake research in medicine, surgery, hygiene, preventive medicine, technology, pure science, agriculture, logistics and in the great field of public relations. We will need such training, whether we are among our friends or our enemies in the world of the future. This is no time for us to stand still.

GAME AND FISH COMMISSION

In order to simplify and economize in administration, it has been suggested that the Fish and Game Commissions be consolidated.

GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY

As a measure of economy, it is suggested that the General State Authority bonds be liquidated.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

The continuing centralization of powers in the State Capitols and at Washington endangers self-government. Every possible encouragement must be given to local government, but local government in turn must assume its full burden and give the people good, careful and economical service.

LOW COST HOUSING

It is suggested that legislation be enacted providing for low cost housing projects as recommended by the Pennsylvania Post-War Planning Commission.

MANSION

There has been much discussion relative to the Governor's Mansion. The present building was purchased during the War Between the States. Land has been bought for the erection of a new home. Some have suggested that an historic building, near the Capitol, be purchased as a residence. That this question may be permanently decided, it is requested that a resolution be passed to appoint a committee to study this matter and report back to the present session.

MILITARY

The Pennsylvania State Guard has done splendid work during the war period.

Repairs and alterations will have to be made to 78 armories and additions and improvements to 26 armories.

It is recommended that an office building be constructed at Indiantown Gap so the Military Department can be moved to that Reservation. It is also recommended that the Government Barracks at Indiantown Gap be made permanent installations.

In the postwar period the Military Reservation at Indiantown Gap can also be used as a recreation area.

A system of national defense in accord with the long traditions of the United States—a system not too burdensome upon the taxpayer—must be established at the close of the war. That plan must recognize the sovereignty of the several States and the States must assume their proportionate share, of the burden. Therefore, it is recommended that you give consideration to the education of young men for officers in the National Guard and the Reserve at our colleges and universities.

MINORITY GROUPS

There should not be in American Government what are known as "Minority Groups." All our people are either American citizens, or they have allegiance elsewhere. Every American should have equal opportunities for employment, health and education and no man should feel himself doomed to a "minority" standing.

PORTS

The Port of Erie, which is our outlet to the great inland seas; the Ports at Philadelphia and Chester, our outlets to the high seas; and the Port at Pittsburgh, which is our outlet to the Gulf, all deserve our consideration. Adequate arteries of land transportation and the clearing of our streams are paramount needs in developing these State ports.

POSTWAR

While this is a wartime period and everything we do should help in the prosecution of the war to a victorious conclusion, we can, however, see the star of victory on the horizon, and it is necessary to plan for the days of peace.

During the war, only necessary improvements and repairs have been made to buildings owned by the Commonwealth. Good business demands that as soon as possible all State buildings be put into sound condition. Roads, parks, harbors, airports and other installations will demand attention.

Under the Budget, a plan is submitted for postwar construction. I hope you will study it closely. The suggested program follows:

Department of Forests and Waters
Stream Reclamation	$11,000,000

GRAND TOTAL	$110,735,000

You will notice when you study the Budget and the Budget Message that the large accumulated surplus is being used for two purposes, primarily: paying off debt; and for a large program of postwar construction and other projects. I want to point out here that the second part of the program was decided upon only after much deliberation.

There was the choice of impounding this part of the surplus in a reserve fund, or recommending that it be set up for useful and necessary capital projects. The second choice was adopted for two reasons, primarily:

First, as I have already said, during the war we have fallen behind in providing and maintaining our capital facilities. Many of these have become very urgent and must be undertaken as soon as possible. And, secondly, this program was decided upon from the employment angle. Who can tell what conditions will confront us during the postwar years? It seemed the best course to set up a program of necessary public works to be developed to the blueprint stage, so that employment could be provided at once if an acute unemployment situation should develop.

Our Postwar Planning Commission has worked diligently and should be continued.

PRESSURE GROUPS

This Legislature will get many suggestions from pressure groups favoring roads, hospitals, schools, welfare and increases in grants. You should legislate for the whole State, and not for any group or section.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Next after the spiritual side of life comes health. Prevention of disease and treatment of illness both have a place in our plan of living. We do not want socialized medicine. Government hospitals and laboratories must not compete with privately owned institutions; yet the public must afford opportunities for the unfortunate to retain and regain health.

Recent experience in connection with the physical examinations given by our armed forces discloses the need of periodic physical examinations. I have always felt that if Pennsylvania or any other State can spend millions to eradicate Bang's disease and bovine tuberculosis from our cattle, then Pennsylvania can well afford to spend money to build sound minds and healthy bodies for the youth of Pennsylvania.

I, therefore, recommend that you consider legislation requiring a thorough and periodical physical examination of every school child in the State. To build up the health of our people is certainly a sound and progressive policy and will eventually decrease the number of patients in our mental hospitals, sanatoriums and other State institutions.

REAPPORTIONMENT

A fair and equitable redistricting and reapportionment of our Senatorial and Legislative districts should be made.

ROADS

The road system must be maintained. The Highway Department has a comprehensive plan for the postwar period, including through roads, elimination of traffic bottlenecks and rural road construction.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

The Pennsylvania unit of Selective Service is the largest in the United States. It has done magnificent work. Already 691,257 Pennsylvanians have been inducted; and there have been 167,774 voluntary enlistments. To December 1, 1944, 90,646 have been discharged from the service. More than 70,900 have been reemployed.

Provisions should be made to store the voluminous records, or microfilmed copies, made by Selective Service. Hospitalization, rehabilitation, education and employment of veterans is a responsibility which cannot be shirked. Our Veterans' Commission, established in 1929, and our Selective Service must be assisted in carrying out their duties.

SOLDIER BALLOT

The attention of the Legislature is invited to any amendments that may be necessary to the Military Ballot Acts.

STATE POLICE

The Pennsylvania State Police is an outstanding organization, and has done an excellent job during the war despite a much reduced personnel. It is recommended that a new training school and permanent barracks be erected. It is further recommended that the police complement be increased.

"STRIP MINING"

It is recommended that you consider legislation regulating what is commonly known as "strip mining."

TAXATION

Taxes, whether levied for local, State or Federal purposes, come from the same source. The tax burden must be equitably distributed, with rates as low as possible consistent with good government. To lower taxes, all duplication, overlapping and unnecessary government must be eliminated.

Pennsylvania is now in excellent financial condition because of economies and of increased tax collections caused by wartime business conditions. We must, however, make our appropriations on a peacetime return of revenue.

Real estate pays far more than its fair share of the tax load. A State-wide commission has made a study of this problem and has suggested new types of taxation. I invite you to study the work of that body.

During the past twenty years, the State has relieved local government of many activities, but the real estate burden has not been relieved. This merits your most serious consideration.

Agriculture, labor, and industry are all equally interested in a sound fiscal policy for Pennsylvania. Such a policy will invite and encourage industry to come into Pennsylvania. More business makes more wages, and more wages increase the purchasing of more farm products and more industrial goods. The time has come when the farmer, the worker and the industrialist must sit around the table and consider the situation from a fiscal standpoint which will benefit the entire State.

I do not know of a more dangerous thing than a government surplus. It encourages governmental extravagance. It is exceedingly important that the current, large surplus in Pennsylvania should not be accepted as an invitation to extravagance. We must remember that this surplus has been accumulated under extraordinary circumstances, and these circumstances are not likely to reoccur. It must, therefore, be spent with a very great sense of responsibility.

Because of our State surplus, the local level of government is asking for additional aid for recreational facilities, health projects and education. Local governments should trim their budgets to meet their tax conditions. During two decades the State has assumed the following responsibilities of counties: Mothers' Assistance, poor relief, mental hospitals, highway bridges and a larger share of school costs, for a total of $125,100,000.

Local government has not taken advantage of this help. It has not reduced local taxes in keeping with the amount of help it has received from the State.

At the last session of the Legislature there was a large program of tax reduction amounting to $45,000,000 in General Fund taxes and about $80,000,000 in payroll levies resulting from experience rating legislation. This made a total reduction of $125,000,000 for the biennium. In that program of tax reduction several of the emergency taxes first enacted in 1935 were abolished.

I suggest now that the one cent gasoline tax which was enacted for relief purposes be reenacted and the proceeds put in the Motor Fund, with the further suggestion that specific grants for road, street and bridge purposes be made to local governments so that they may reduce real estate taxes.

I regret that it is necessary to ask the reenactment of the four remaining emergency taxes: the corporate net income tax, the cigarette tax, the liquid tax and the gross receipts tax. In my Budget Message I have shown you how the costs of State Government make this request necessary. If the Legislature wants tax reduction, then it will be necessary to make corresponding reductions in appropriations. This would mean relieving the State of some of the obligations for services and subsidies which it now has, because one cannot be done without the other.

WELFARE

Care of the unfortunate is a duty of the people. In order that it may be more in keeping with the concept of local responsibility, decentralization is urged. Keeping families together strengthens our social fabric. It is felt that public assistance can be more efficiently and economically handled by local government than by States. The States should bear much of the financial burden and give some supervision.

Increased mental cases give the State a great burden. An appropriation to add to our bed capacity is suggested. It is also urged that our penal system be revised. Separate boards have made a careful study of our penal system and of our mental institutions. It is suggested that the proper committees review these reports.

WILLIAM PENN MEMORIAL

In this period of turmoil, intrigue and unrest, in a time when nations are forgetting God, Pennsylvanians can turn to the humility, courage, thrift and goodwill of our Founder, William Penn, to renew their faith. As an everlasting monument to his greatness and the contribution he has made to the welfare of mankind, it is suggested that a building to house the archives, the Historical Commission, the Museum and veterans' activities of the Commonwealth be erected on the Capitol grounds, to be known as "Remember William Penn."

CONCLUSION

We are proud of this ancient Commonwealth. With that pride there must be a great responsibility. It requires more than four million men and women to man the industries and the farms of Pennsylvania. This is more than the population of any one of 39 States in the Union. The work we do here requires the most diversified skills of any area in the world.

Labor, agriculture, and industry, with management and government in Pennsylvania, have an enormous responsibility in winning this war. More critical war items are produced here than in any other State.

Winning this war is the paramount thought of every true American. Wars are won by the blood of men and consecrated by women's tears. Courage, sweat, prayers and humility must be in the background of the blood and tears.

Long, earnest and honest hours are necessary.

We must continue to pull together.

We must face the future with faith.

Let us humbly, asking God's help, promptly enter into our deliberations and come to conclusions as rapidly as possible, consistent with sound legislation.

As I have already stated, this is a grave hour in American history. It is seldom that I have an opportunity to speak to a representative from every one of the sixty-seven counties. Pennsylvania produces more critical war items than any other political sub-division of the world.

Our boys on the far-flung fronts of the world need supplies and they need those supplies badly, and I am asking you to take this message back home, that all of us, every true American, must put in longer and harder hours in order that our boys may have the necessary supplies with which to fight this war.

I am going to give you some figures: we need 8,000 heavy trucks every month on the western front and we are only able to produce 6,000. We need more heavy shells on the western front; we need more canvas to shelter our boys on the western front; the pipe lines running to them must be kept full. That is the duty that we owe on the home front. It does not make any difference how much of that food, or that transportation or those munitions are wasted; if it will save the life of one American boy it is worth the price.

So I am asking you as Americans to take that message home because every county in Pennsylvania has a plant producing critical war material.

We have 169,000 farms in Pennsylvania producing food, and we need more and more food, more and more transportation, and more and more munitions. That is our job here at home. We want to get the boys out of the fox holes and slit trenches. The trenches in the South Pacific are hot and disagreeable; those on the Western front are wet and cold. It does not make any difference what sacrifices we make here on the home front, they are insignificant compared to those made by the boys and girls on the many fronts, on every sea and on every continent on this earth. So take this message back home—we are falling down on the home front.

My American friends, this is the bluest Christmas season in America since Valley Forge, and nothing will hearten our boys and girls over there more than to know that every man, woman and child here in Pennsylvania is doing his full duty.

If I can help you at any time, command me. I am not taking, as I have said many times, a vacation, if God will give me health, until the American Flag floats over our enemies.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Governor Martin, in behalf of the Members of the General Assembly I want to thank you very much for that splendid message.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 15, 1945

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, to whom alone prayer is to be made, deliver us from the hypocrisy of form and inspire us to pray to Thee in sincerity. We know that pious words are powerless unless born of faith, and worthless unless expressive of the real desires of our hearts.

We pray that by our words and acts we may hallow Thy name today.

We pray that grace and strength be given us to do Thy will today.

We pray that Thy kingdom come in all the world, here in our own beloved land, and in our own hearts.

Deliver us from a complacent satisfaction with ourselves, nationally and individually.

Inspire us to be better and to do better as the days of opportunity come to us, for "the night cometh."

For all men and women, fighting and working for the preservation of our liberties, we pray in the name of the world's Great Liberator—Christ, who died to make all men free. Amen.

In the Senate of Pennsylvania,
January 15, 1945.

Whereas, There are many complaints being addressed to the various members of the Senate relative to the matter of highway maintenance, snow clearance and general highway conditions, and

Whereas, The conditions of the State Highways have caused a great loss of man hours essential to the prosecution of the War, and

Whereas, The conditions of the State Highways have caused an enormous amount of damage to the much over-taxed transportation facilities, such as public bus and private automobiles, such vehicles being indispensable to the successful prosecution of the war effort, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Highways Committee of the Senate invite the Secretary of Highways to a meeting to inform the members of the Senate and interested citizens relative to this matter.

Mr. DENT. I am not going to ask for immediate consideration of the resolution but I would like the Chairman of the Highways Committee to try to follow out of the contents of this resolution and ask the Secretary of Highways to appear at a meeting, because most of us in the western part of the state are being besieged by telephone calls, letters, and personal calls from many citizens who can not get to work. Many directors of school boards complain about the condition of highways, saying they can not get the children to schools.

I do not know, Mr. President, whether everything is being done that can be done but the Secretary of Highways can give us some information and we can pass it on to the people interested.

Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast spared our lives to meet together this day as Thy servants and servants of our fellow citizens of this Commonwealth. On the question,

Will the House adopt the report?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, while I dissent from the report of the committee, I personally am not disposed to demand even a roll call, but I do pray your permission to state the grounds of my dissent, and in stating the grounds of my dissent, I want to quote a very distinguished Republican statesman, reactionary enough to have a seat in any Republican council, reactionary enough to be entitled to a foremost place even in this state. It is none other than Clare Hoffman, who recently addressed a letter to his Republican colleagues in the Congress, and here in part is what he said: "A strong Republican program can never be established," and gentlemen, I am sure you will admit over on the other side of the House that the establishment of a strong Republican program is something greatly to be desired, "a strong Republican program can never be established if the talents of a majority, perhaps three-fifths of the members of the Congress go unused. No one cares to be bossed around nor to have his activity circumscribed by a small group selected by a leader or by a group of leaders." And incidentally I have a suspicion that perhaps my own colleagues may want to depose me for what I am saying—"Members come to Congress full of enthusiasm, with the desire to be aggressive and of service" and I am sure that is what prevails in this House, that the new Members come here full of enthusiasm with a desire to be of service.

"Every member, in his own community, has been an outstanding individual. But when he gets to Washington" or when he gets to Harrisburg, "his ego and confidence in himself are to a certain degree deflated by the attitude of smugness and know-it-all (and these are charitable words used in a charitable sense), through which means he is put in his place."

Those of us who have been new members fully realize the adroitness with which new Members are put in their place.

"Unable to get on the committees he desires because he lacks seniority" and seniority, gentlemen, is to the life of a Parliament what a deteriorating circulating system is in the life of a man—"Unable to get on the committees he desires because he lacks seniority, the new Member learns that instead of being a leader, as his people expected him to be when they sent him here, he is just another grease monkey working in the machine shop."

This is a distinguished Republican leader who is talking:

"One way to establish a constructive program," he says, "is to have a system that will give recognition to the new Members, recognition to the old Members who have achieved a record of service, and to give one Member no more than one major committee."

Now, I have not examined the list carefully, but I am afraid that on this committee setup we have men who have struggled to get upon the committee that they have been a Member of these many years, and have seldom attained, and so some day, gentlemen, some day just as the United States Congress has been forced to do, you will have to revise the whole system of creating your committees, recognizing the new Members who have talent and recognizing old Members who have record of service and forget the rest. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report?

It was adopted.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, January 22, 1945, at four o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, January 22, 1945, at nine o'clock.

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. DOUGHERTY offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 15, 1945.

The Honorable John E. McDonough, Judge of the Orphans' Court of Delaware County, died on Wednesday, December 13th, at his home in Chester.

Judge McDonough was appointed to the Orphans' Court bench in 1937 by Governor Earle, following the death of Judge John B. Hannum.

When he took on the judicial robes, Judge McDonough closed a practice of the law that had endured for forty-two years. During that time he was often referred to as the "poor man's lawyer" and it was said that he never turned down a client who was financially unable to pay a fee, and that client always had the assurance that his advocate would fight for his interests and protect his rights.

He was a kindly man with a smile for everyone and his friendliness made and held for him the friendship of all those with whom he came in contact. As a judge he ranked high in the assembly of those who dispense justice from the bench, he had the full respect of the bar of his county, and his opinions disclosed a full and comprehensive grasp of the law and its application. Judge McDonough left to survive him a widow, Mrs. Julia H. McDonough, and two daughters; therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that in the death of Judge McDonough, the Commonwealth, and particularly the County of Delaware, has lost an eminent jurist and a man who by reason of his attainments, stood out among his fellowmen in public esteem and affection; the Bar of Delaware County has lost one of its veteran and most highly respected members; the courts have lost a jurist who administered the affairs of the orphans' court with learning and distinguished ability, and his community has lost a man who adorned its daily life; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to his widow, Mrs. Julia H. McDonough, by the Chief Clerk of this House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the city of Erie is one of the largest defense production areas of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Likewise the County of Erie is one of the largest defense transportation areas of this Commonwealth. During the past several weeks some seventy-two inches of snow fell in the area of the city and county of Erie. To cope with this problem Mayor Charles Barber of the city of Erie has declared a temporary emergency.

Following up this step he has invited the Federal government to step into the Erie city area for the purpose of removal of snow. Some one hundred trucks and various types of equipment, and also four hundred members of the armed service were rushed to the area for that purpose.

I here wish to acknowledge that the army has done a very splendid job of removing the snow from the city of Erie, and I understand is about ready to leave the city sometime tomorrow or Wednesday, but the essential problem of clearing the vital routes 6, 19 and 20 situated in Erie County still remains to be done.

If the Governor of the Commonwealth is really, truly, and sincerely interested in speeding the transportation of parts to and from the defense plants in the Erie area, the administration will take quick action on the resolution which I have just introduced. I am certain that the other members of the Legislature from Erie County will concur in my feelings on this problem.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be laid over for printing under the Rules.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TITTLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 16, 1945, at 2 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:08 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1945.

No. 4.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 16, 1945.

The Senate met at three o'clock p. m.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, grant that we may begin this day in faith, meet its obligations with courage, and end it in peace. May it be to each of us a day of opportunity and a day of real accomplishment. Let us not be discouraged if what we hope for is not realized. It is not necessary that we reach the goal, but it is essential that we honestly strive to reach it. Only by so doing can a good conscience and peace of mind be ours.

Entitle us to be called the friends of God by enabling us to do the will of God.

We pray now for the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of our country. May all courage be theirs to hasten the coming victory. May they not grow weary in well-doing.

We pray for the President, the Governor, and for all in authority. In the Name of Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. BECKER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. JAMES.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. WOODWARD.

Mr. Barr asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. MCGINNIS.

An Act making an appropriation to the Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, formerly Philadelphia School of Design for Women at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. CHAPMAN. If there is no objection, I would like to say a few words concerning the bill which I desire to present.

During the 1943 session the Legislature appointed a Cancer Commission, on which served Senator Stiefel, Senator Deitrick and myself, as members of the Senate, with a like number from the House. A report by this committee is being formed, but has not yet been completed, by the Secretary of Health.

During the interim I attended a conference at Yale University, at New Haven, with representatives of the United States Public Health Service and the United States Cancer Commission, and they assured me that if the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would participate, they understood we had not participated in but were interested in cancer research, which illustrates the fact that the Federal Government does not know much about what the Commonwealth has been trying to do.

Other states, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York, were represented at that meeting. The Federal Government has told me that if Pennsylvania would make a start and show its good faith, in making a small appropriation, it would be, like bread cast upon the waters, returned many fold to the Commonwealth.

With these few introductory remarks on behalf of my colleague, Senator Stiefel, and myself, I wish to present the following bill.

Messrs. CHAPMAN and STIEFEL read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 90, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Health for the purpose of conducting cancer research.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. STIEFEL and GOURLEY read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 91, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two, and to further amend section three of the act approved the eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (P. L. 344—No. 284), entitled "An act relating to husband and wife, enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property, to sue and be sued, and to make a last will, and enabling them to sue and to testify against each other in certain cases," authorizing a married woman to mortgage or convey her real property to the same extent as a married man; to make contracts as if unmarried; and to become surety on any bond, bail or recognizance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. GOURLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 48), entitled "An act requiring the recording of certain written agreements pertaining to real property, and prescribing the effect thereof as to subsequent purchasers, mortgagees, and judgment creditors of the parties thereto," permitting written agreements pertaining to real property be acknowledged by the sellers or grantors therein.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 93, entitled:

An Act providing that in all proceedings before justices of the peace, aldermen or magistrates in which jurisdiction exists under any act of Assembly, to impose sentence when the defendant pleads guilty to the crime charged and in all summary proceedings, any plea of guilty shall be entered upon the docket and signed by the defendant, and prohibiting any imprisonment in such cases unless the plea of guilty has thus been entered and signed.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. HALUSKA and GOURLEY read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 94, entitled:

An Act to add subsection (c) to section four of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," prohibiting any public body or public agency from demanding or accepting a bond or judgment note from an indigent person for expenses of his support, maintenance, assistance or burial before such expenses are incurred; and staying proceedings on all judgments entered on behalf of such public bodies or agencies.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 95, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred three and to repeal section four hundred four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," increasing the weekly rates of compensation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," by removing the limit of compensation which a member of the board of viewers of third class counties may be paid.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Messrs. DENT and GOURLEY read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 98, entitled:

An Act prohibiting during the continuation of the present war and for six months thereafter, the holding of any referendum in municipalities or townships on the question of granting retail dispensers' licenses under the "Beverage License Law," approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 252) or liquor licenses under the "Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act," approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34).

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I wish to present two bills. One of these bills is designed to prevent a terrible situation that has arisen in the City of Philadelphia.

At the present time there is a domestic up for trial for having associated with criminal characters before being employed by a housewife, and during the working hours one day this woman was stabbed by this domestic, and she is being tried for murder at the present time.

In another instance two domestics got jobs in different places and they had criminal records, and they proceeded to find out where the valuable personal property of the employers was situated. They pilfered that personal property.

I propose, with this bill, to remedy the situation and, at least, prevent the loss of life and perhaps prevent the commission of theft by making it mandatory that the employment agencies fingerprint all domestics.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 99, entitled:

RESOLUTIONS

MEMORIALIZING CHARLES W. SONES

Mr. SNOWDEN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 15, 1945.

The Honorable Charles W. Sones, 84, Lycoming County Lumberman, Farmer, Banker, and a former member of this Senate, died in the Williamsport Hospital on December 16th, 1944, survived by a sister and brother.

He was born on a farm at Bryantown, near Hughesville in Lycoming County, and was left fatherless at the age of six. He attended Muncy Normal School and began his career as teacher, in the one room school house in the community in which he was born. He abandoned teaching to become a clerk in a lumber office and subsequently became an independent lumber operator, and at one time owned twenty-five thousand acres of timber land in Sullivan County alone. Following a dispute with the Williamsport and North Branch Railroad over rates, he built his own railroad in 1904 and operated it with five engines and over one hundred flat cars, over fifty-six miles of narrow gauge track.

Lumbering lead into agriculture and at the time of his death he owned fifteen farms and annually had one thousand acres under cultivation.

During World War I he sold out his interests in the lumber business and became a banker, first as Vice President of the former Northern Central Trust Company in Williamsport, and later became President of the bank of South Williamsport and the First National Bank of Hughesville, and continued as President of both of these banks until his death.

He was a member of the Lutheran Church of Hughesville and a Thirty-Third Degree Mason. He was a member of the Board of Managers of the Williamsport Hospital, and a Trustee of the Williamsport Foundation for twenty years.

He was first elected to the Senate in 1910. His tenure was interrupted in 1930 when he retired on account of ill-health after receiving the Democratic nomination. He returned to the Senate a few years later and served until 1938.

Therefore Be It Resolved, that in the passing of former Senator Charles W. Sones, his community has lost an outstanding citizen and the interests he served so well and so long have been deprived of his help and assistance, and that the host of men and women who called him friend will long miss his friendship and kindly manner; and be it further

Resolved that in evidence of the deep sympathy of this Senate the Secretary thereof shall transmit a copy of this Resolution to the brother of our former member, the Honorable Charles W. Sones.

MEMORIALIZING WALTER GRAHAM SCOTT

Messrs. WADE and TAYLOR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 16, 1945.

On December 30th, 1944, Walter Graham Scott, a valued and competent official of this Commonwealth was stricken and died while yet short more than ten years of his allotted span of life, and after having faithfully served the Commonwealth for almost twenty years.

Mr. Scott was born in Pittsburgh, June 12th, 1888, the son of James A. and Margaret B. Scott. A graduate of Pittsburgh public schools, he attended the University of Pittsburgh prior to entering private enterprise as a business administrator.

He entered the service of the State in 1923 as Director of Purchases of the Department of Property and Supplies, and was advanced to Deputy Secretary of that Department in 1929, in which capacity he served until 1936.

A change in the administration of the State Government in 1936 forced him to return to private life, but he was recalled to his former position by Governor James in 1939, and in 1941 he became Acting Secretary of the Department. He later resumed his position as Deputy Secretary and remained in that post until his death.

His connection with the administrative work of the State Government endured during all those years because of his ability, his devotion to duty and his knowledge of the intricate details connected with the work of the Department.

He served the Commonwealth with marked ability and reflected credit upon those responsible for his appointment; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Members of the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that in the death of Walter G. Scott, the State has lost the counsel of a highly trained and thoroughly competent official whose vision has been of inestimable value to the Department and to the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to his widow, Margaret W. Scott our deepest and most sincere sympathies and direct the Secretary of the Senate to forward to her a copy of this resolution.

MEMORIALIZING HON. LEO C. MUNDY

Messrs. COLEMAN and MARGIE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 16, 1945.

Whereas, Since the last Session of the General Assembly death has removed from our midst the late Honorable Leo C. Mundy of Luzerne County, and

Whereas, He was one of the outstanding members of this body, therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of five members to arrange for appropriate memorial services to the late distinguished Senator from Luzerne County.

MEMORIALIZING HON. FRANK E. BALDWIN

Mr. BERGER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 16, 1945.

On August 9th, 1943, the Honorable Frank E. Baldwin, banker, business man and statesman, having finished a longer span of life than is granted to most men, quietly passed into the great beyond.

He was born at Duke Center in McKean County on June 4th, 1866, was educated at the Chamberlain Institute, Bonaventure College and the University of Michigan, and was admitted to the practice of the law at Austin in Potter County in 1893.

Senator Baldwin early developed a rare genius for friendship and learned to distribute it wisely. It was the kind of friendship that flourished in kindness and generosity and its fruit was a host of friends who never deserted him.

After his admission to the Bar of Potter County, his large circle of friends, attracted by his extraordinary charm and infinite friendliness, became clients who were held fast by his ability. They found that friend to be a wise counselor and sagacious lawyer with a ready wit and a keen mind, and they joined together in extending to him early political preferment.

He rapidly progressed from mercantile appraiser, to Burgess, to school director, to post master, to Chairman of the Potter County Republican Committee, to Senator for five terms, and then to Auditor General of the Commonwealth.

In 1914 he was unanimously elected and served as special counsel to a Special Commission created by the General Assembly to investigate the various combinations of fire insurance companies. It was due to his knowledge of the insurance business and his unusual ability in finding the weakness in business structures, that resulted in a report by the commission which was responsible for the making of important changes in the insurance laws of the Commonwealth.

He served his friends, his community and the Commonwealth in a manner that made necessary his extended span of life; therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the death of the Honorable Frank E. Baldwin marked the end of a career that brought more to his friends, his county and to the State than it did to him in material things, and that in his passing they have lost one who at all times was concerned first with their welfare; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the record of the proceedings of this Senate as a lasting tribute to the memory of one who loved his fellowmen, and that a copy hereof be sent to his widow, Mrs. F. E. Baldwin, at Austin, Potter County, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. POLASKI

RESOLUTION No. 1.

In the House of Representatives, January 15, 1945.

Whereas, highway maintenance throughout the Commonwealth is at a standstill—with the result that many main travelled thoroughfares are practically impassable, and

Whereas, the highways, as a result of the failure to remove snow and ice have become increasingly dangerous to the travelling public, and

Whereas, transportation, vital in war times, has been curtailed, while thousands of essential workers have been unable to reach the plants where they are employed, and

Whereas, present conditions on the highways are the result of a lack of proper equipment, the curtailment of maintenance personnel and the failure, in many instances, to pay the maintenance personnel retained a living wage as well as a refusal upon the part of the Highway Department to permit maintenance crews to work overtime even when facing emergency conditions, therefore be it

Resolved, that this House directs its Highway Committee to ascertain and report within three legislative days what steps should be taken to cope with the transportation emergency that has arisen as a result of departmental inaction.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. STOCKHAM (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 2.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1945.

His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, in his message to the General Assembly on the night of January 2nd last, brought to the attention of the Members the matter of the construction of a new Governor's Mansion, and in his budget as one of the possible post-war projects, he carried the sum of $855,000 for such purpose

The Governor, however, made no recommendation as to the erection of a new Governor's Mansion or as to the most appropriate site for the same, but suggested that a Legislative Committee be appointed to study the matter and report back to the present session; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That a Joint Legislative Committee is hereby created to consist of three Members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and three Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House whose duty it shall be to make a study of the matter of the necessity for the erection of a new Governor's Mansion and of the proper and most appropriate site for the erection of such mansion if it is decided that a new mansion is necessary; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall proceed at once with this study and investigation and make a report of the results thereof to this General Assembly not later than March 15, 1944.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, January 17, 1945

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

To the one only God, our Heavenly Father, we are indebted far beyond our ability to pay. Life, with all its privileges and blessings, Thou hast given us. These are God's investment in us. Give us the consecration and the wisdom to so employ and conserve them that nothing be lost. Rather may we return to Thee a hundred fold when we are summoned to give account. That accounting day, to each of us unknown, is on God's calendar. We shall not fear that day if today and the remaining days allotted to us we obey the divine law of righteousness, written first in our hearts and then in Thy Book.

In all life's relationships, at home or abroad, inspire us to be men of highest principles, like Christ our Lord, whose friends we are if we do whatsoever He has commanded us.

For the President of our Nation, for the Governor of our State, and for all in authority, we pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, before I introduce this bill, I would like to make a few remarks.

We are familiar with the music and the lyrics of the song, Rosie the Riveter. Rosie the riveter is not only in a song, but she is a reality. She is working in the war industries of our country and making amazing contributions to the war effort. She is a professional woman. She is the mother of our children.

The place of the woman of the world has always been a strange one in the sense of her relationship with the law. There still exists in Pennsylvania in the law certain inequalities which make her different, before the law, from her husband, when she is married. The bill which I introduce will have the effect of making a married woman equal to a married man before the law in Pennsylvania.

I know, through consideration of the change in the entire social system, I will have the complete support of my colleagues in the Senate in seeing that this inequality is terminated.

Messrs. COX, STIEFEL and GOURLEY read in the places and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 122, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two, and to further amend section three of the act, approved the eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 344, No. 284), entitled "An act relating to husband and wife, enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property, to sue and be sued, and to make a last will, and enabling them to sue and to testify against each other in certain cases," authorizing a married woman to mortgage or convey her real property to the same extent as a married man; to make contracts as if unmarried and to become surety on any bond, bail or recognizance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. DENT on behalf of Mr. TALLMAN and himself read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 123, entitled:

An Act to repeal section one thousand thirty-three (1033) of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An Act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicle tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for the funds;" as last amended by the Act approved March twenty-first, one thousand nine hundred forty-three, (P. L. 559).

Which was committed to the Committee on Highway

By Mr. ANDREWS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1945.

Whereas, the Democratic Legislative Caucus composed of members of the House and Senate has made an initial statement declaring its stand concerning the various legislative needs of the Commonwealth, its people, its various communities, its industries and its institutions, and

Whereas, the Democratic Legislative Caucus expressed the hope that by means of its statement it would be possible to develop a declaration of legislative intent in which substantial majorities in both branches of the General Assembly would join—and by so doing achieve a speedy enactment of essential and beneficial legislation, and

Whereas, the Governor of the Commonwealth in his message to the General Assembly has made various suggestions and recommendations designed to aid members of the House and Senate in their deliberations, the Governor pointing out, however, that in making his suggestions he is remembering the spirit of independence which in his view should exist between the legislative and executive branches of government, and

Whereas, the Democratic Legislative Caucus and the Governor in their respective declarations are in apparent agreement as to objectives, at least concerning a number of matters of major legislative concern, and

Whereas, while the Democratic Legislative Caucus has spoken and the Governor of the Commonwealth has spoken, there has been no declaration of legislative intent upon the part of the General Assembly and since there can be no certainty as to agreement designed to minimize partisan controversy until the position of the General Assembly itself has been more clearly defined; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania declares that it is its intention and immediate objective to implement by means of legislation the following legislative objectives:

First—to liberalize the Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Compensation Acts and through its committees as speedily as possible to definitize the extent of the liberalization—with the view of effecting the speedy enactment of the proposed amendatory legislation.

Second—to provide for the continuation of costs of living pay increases granted to public school teachers for the 1943-45 biennium.

Third—provide for the return of the one cent emergency gasoline tax to the political sub-divisions upon the basis of population and mileage.

Fourth—as a matter of permanent policy design to relieve the tax burden now imposed locally upon real estate, to plan to finance in full by means of contributions by the Commonwealth the minimum teachers salary costs incident to the maintenance of a uniform minimum educational standard established on a state-wide basis—upon the condition that there will be a concurrent reduction in every municipality of the school tax level against real estate in an amount equivalent to the added contribution by the state to teachers salaries.

Fifth—to enact legislation controlling strip mining to the extent at least of requiring the rehabilitation of strip mined land.

Sixth—to proceed immediately to frame and enact any additional legislation necessary in enabling all men and women in the armed services to vote at primary, municipal and general elections—wherever physical conditions do not make voting impossible.

Seventh—to provide for the inauguration in this biennium of an adequately financed program designed to end stream pollution—a program in which community, state, inter-state and federal responsibility is clearly defined—a program that is keyed to accomplish definite results within stated definite periods.

Eighth—to provide for the submission to the General Assembly within a reasonable period of a comprehensive program for re-forestation of the Commonwealth's forest land—a program scoped on a thirty year basis and designed to produce revenue producing timber tracts—the plan to detail the extent to which expenditure of state funds on forest lands can be made on a sound investment basis.

Ninth—to request the administration's budget office to ascertain and report to the General Assembly within thirty days the basis upon which Governor Dewey of New York apportioned $17,500,000 derived from state utility taxes among the various municipalities for debt reduction purposes.

Tenth—to prepare a comprehensive program providing for the returned soldiers—a program specifically designed to increase occupational opportunities for the members of our fighting forces who are physically handicapped as the result of injuries—the program being designed to help provide increased opportunity for full employment.

Eleventh—provide increased facilities for the clinical and institutional care of the criminally insane, mentally defective delinquents and victims of tuberculosis.

Twelfth—provide increased appropriations for the rehabilitation of all physically handicapped persons for whose welfare the Commonwealth is either legally or morally responsible.

Thirteenth—provide occupational compensation for all occupational diseases—with adequate benefits.

Fourteenth—provide for the enactment of a fair employment practices act.
And be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly create a committee of eight members (4 members of the Senate and 4 members of the House—4 Democrats and 4 Republicans) to be known as the Legislative Committee on Non-Partisan Cooperation—the appointments to be made by the presiding officer in each branch of the General Assembly upon the recommendations of the party leaders in each branch of the General Assembly.

By Mr. WEISS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 4.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1945.

The history of today, far outstripping in magnitude and importance that of any comparable period of time, marks one more outstanding event, the inauguration for the fourth consecutive term of the man to whom has been entrusted, by majority vote of his fellow Americans, the destiny of a great nation, if not the destiny of mankind.

It is a solemn and significant occasion, to be viewed with reverence and awe. In this chaotic state of world affairs, the responsibilities of leadership rest heavily. The exigencies of each ever-changing moment make incessant demands for superhuman achievements, sublime courage, magnificent strength, and a wisdom and judgment beyond comparison. Grant, O God, that these be given to the President.

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, in behalf of the Commonwealth which it represents, by these resolutions, congratulate his Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, because of the trust and confidence that has been bestowed upon him and the opportunities that lie before him when he takes the oath of office in the city of Washington on January the 20th, 1945.

Resolved, That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pledge itself hereby to strive mightily and to cooperate to the fullest extent towards the speedy and successful bringing to an end of the holocaust of wars and destruction, and the bringing about of peace, equity and understanding among nations.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be certified and transmitted to his Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President and President-elect of the United States of America.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

PHILADELPHIA STATE HOSPITAL

A communication from John C. McConville relative to conditions at the Philadelphia State Hospital.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has the following communication from one of the Members.

"Get the pavement cleaned off in front of the Capitol or we will call the Session off."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, while I am in sympathy with the spirit of the communication which the Speaker has received, I doubt that I am in sympathy with the manner. I think that the steps in front of the Capitol certainly should be swept off.

In this connection, I have, together with other practical suggestions which I have submitted to the Chairman of the Committee on Rules, I have a further suggestion, which, Mr. Speaker, I will submit.

I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that this House take action to require that in the future all Members who are absent on Wednesday be constituted a snow-shoveling crew, and that the only way they are permitted to clear themselves of contempt is to get a shovel and go out and clear the steps of the Capitol.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Price for Mr. FULLERTON because of illness.

Mr. Dalrymple for Mr. POLASKI.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the Committee on Rules to hold a meeting during the session of the House? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

The Committee on Rules will meet immediately to the left of the rostrum.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Rules whether they are going to meet immediately on my suggestion about shoveling snow.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, because of the impressive plea made by the gentleman from Cambria, we thought it might be well to immediately call a meeting of the Committee on Rules, to ascertain the strength upon the majority side so far as snow shoveling is concerned.

COMMITTEE REPORT

Mr. SORG, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed House Resolution No. 4.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a privileged resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, to come to the rostrum and to read the resolution, together with the Proclamation of the Governor, if there be no objection. The Chair hears none. This Resolution is in connection with the birthday of Benjamin Franklin.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, it is my privilege to read at this time a Proclamation by His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania:

IN THE NAME AND BY AUTHORITY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
Harrisburg, Pa.

PROCLAMATION

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN DAY—JANUARY 17, 1945

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania owes much to the genius of Benjamin Franklin whose birthday anniversary occurs January 17th.

His cultural and intellectual leadership and his distinguished scientific achievements have enriched the lives of our citizens through the years. From his sound philosophy we receive guidance in our everyday affairs.

Franklin's zeal for liberty, unity and human rights have given us a pattern which may be followed today by every American. His broad vision and constructive statesmanship were reflected in practical patriotism. In these times of national peril his career should serve to spur each of us to greater effort in defense of the American heritage which we hold sacred.

Now, therefore, I, Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby designate and proclaim Wednesday, January 17, 1945, as Benjamin Franklin Day. I call upon the citizens of Pennsylvania to honor the memory of this truly great American in gratitude for the manifold benefits we enjoy due to his wisdom and his illustrious service to our Nation at home and abroad.

I urge that this important anniversary be observed with appropriate exercises in the schools and other educational institutions and by civic and patriotic organizations in order that our people may be inspired by the example and teachings of Benjamin Franklin to fight harder and to work with increased determination until the forces which threaten America are crushed in final and complete victory.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Harrisburg, this sixteenth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-five, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and sixty-ninth.

(Signed) EDWARD MARTIN.

BY THE GOVERNOR:

(Signed) C. M. MORRISON
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

That proclamation, ladies and gentlemen of the House, will be read at the ceremonies at the grave of Benjamin Franklin in Philadelphia at noon today, and His Excellency the Governor has delegated General Vale on his behalf to lay a wreath upon Franklin's grave. I will now read the following resolution:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1945.

January 17th marks the two hundred thirty-eighth anniversary of the birth of Pennsylvania's most prominent example of the possible results of the American doctrine of equality of opportunity, Benjamin Franklin.

No one in the Commonwealth's history ever issued from more humble surroundings to achieve an enviable place in the annals of his country than did Benjamin Franklin.

Born in Boston on January 17th, 1706, the son of a tallow chandler and soap boiler, and apprenticed at the age of thirteen years to his brother James, a printer, he ran away in 1723 and began work as a printer in Philadelphia.

Spurred on by his ambition and a burning desire to educate himself, Franklin studied the French, Spanish, Italian and Latin languages. The excellence of his work, his industry and his business shrewdness obtained for him a large share of the public printing of Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey, and from that foundation his progress was rapid.

In 1728 he established the Pennsylvania Gazette, which became the leading newspaper between New York and Charleston. He published Poor Richards Almanac in 1732 which achieved a circulation of ten thousand copies a year.

In 1730 he organized the first Masonic Society in Pennsylvania and was elected Grand Master in 1734. He was the Clerk of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth for fourteen years beginning in 1736, and in 1737 he became a Member.

He was later appointed Postmaster of Philadelphia, founded the American Philosophical Society, which became the University of Pennsylvania, and of which he subsequently became president.

His experiments with electricity won for him the rare honor of membership in the Royal Society. Harvard and Yale followed with degrees of Master of Arts and in 1762 he was given the degree of Doctor of Law by the Universities of St. Andrews and Oxford.

In 1775 he was a delegate to the second Continental Congress, and drew up the first Plan of Union Law before Congress.

He signed the treaty of alliance with the French King on February 6th, 1778, and in 1785, together with John Jay and John Adams, he concluded the provisional treaty of peace with Great Britain.

His last public act was the signing of an anti-slavery petition in Congress as President of the Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery.

This printer, statesman, scientist, linguist, educator, and envoy died at Philadelphia on April 17, 1790 in the 84th year of his life; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that it presents to the youth of the Commonwealth this resume of the life of one who soared to the heights from an obscure place in life by his own efforts, as an incentive to them to make a more careful and complete study of that life in order to draw therefrom inspiration to a like endeavor, and as a clear example of what can be accomplished here in America under the American Way of Life.

I ask for the adoption of that resolution, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate, has called my attention to a statement in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post which I believe is particularly appropriate, in view of the times in which he lived and in connection with the resolution just introduced.

That statement is a quotation from Benjamin Franklin, who said:

"Hence it is our common observation here that our cause is the cause of all mankind and that we are fighting for their liberty in defending our own. 'Tis a glorious task, assigned to us by Providence, which has, I trust, given us a spirit and virtue equal to it and will at least crown with success our efforts."

That is a statement that could have been made by a statesman as of yesterday.

The SPEAKER. The Chair also thanks the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. NORMAN WOOD, TROUT and ROYER offered the following privileged resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1945.

Outstanding among the jurists of Pennsylvania in the profoundness of his knowledge of the law and his deep, sympathetic understanding of the problems of everyday human life was the late William Huestis Keller, President Judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, to which office he succeeded upon the death of President William D. Porter, on February 9, 1930.

Judge Keller was born in Montgomery County, Maryland, August 11, 1869. He spent his childhood and acquired his early education in Bellefonte, Pennsylvania; graduated from Franklin and Marshall College in 1891, and from the Law School of George Washington University. He began to practice law in Lancaster in 1893 and was a member of the law firm of Coyle and Keller from January 1, 1899 until his appointment to the Superior Court in 1919.

A long and exceedingly useful public career included services as First Deputy Attorney General from May 10, 1915 to January 6, 1919, and as Judge of the Superior Court from that time until his death. He was also a trustee of Franklin and Marshall College, of the Home for Friendless Children and the General Hospital in Lancaster.

Judge Keller is survived by his wife, the former Anna Dickey of Lancaster; by his son, Oliver J. Keller, President of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; and by three daughters. Another son, Lt. Daniel S. Keller, was killed in action in World War I; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby record the passing of a great constitutional lawyer and judge, and express its regret that the Commonwealth has been deprived of the services of so eminent a jurist, and that his family and multitude of friends have lost a sympathetic and understanding husband, father and companion. The works of Judge Keller are recorded in the volumes of the Reports of the Superior Court for the past quarter of a century. The man himself will continue to live in the esteem of all those who were fortunate enough to have known him; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, duly certified by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, be transmitted to Mrs. Anna Dickey Keller with the heartfelt sympathy of the Members of this Body.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 2, Printer's No. 5.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 15, 1945.

His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth in his message to the General Assembly on the night of January 2nd last brought to the attention of the Members the matter of the construction of a new Governor's Mansion and in his budget as one of the possible postwar projects he carried the sum of $855,000 for such purpose

The Governor however made no recommendation as to the erection of a new Governor's Mansion or as to the most appropriate site for the same but suggested that a Legislative Committee be appointed to study the matter and report back to the present session therefore be it

The SPEAKER. The Chair really thought it was the sixteenth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Chief Clerk and myself have been in contact with the Department of Property and Supplies. Some of the men have difficulty in finding their cars out front and to recognize them because of the snow. Since the Committee on Rules has met we decided that the members are in no physical condition this morning to do too much snow shoveling, and I am informed that men will be available in front of the Capitol to help those who have difficulty in removing the snow or getting their cars out, requesting however that they have a little patience because there is a manpower shortage. Assistance will be given in every way possible in getting you on your way quickly. All cars should be removed from the plaza by one or one-thirty so that the plows can operate to remove the snow that has accumulated over the past few days.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. Will the Members please leave the bills on their desks so that the clerks can properly file them in your individual files.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time. The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Father, before whose face the generations of men come and go, grant to us while we have the light, the faith and wisdom to walk in the light.

Our fathers walked with Thee, trusted in Thy providence and fell asleep in the faith that all live unto Thee. May we, the children of today, emulate them in faith and good works that, rejoicing in Thy providence, we may also inherit Thy promises.

We pray for our nation in these testing times. Thou, the God of nations, hast given the law of national survival—the law of righteousness. Make us obedient to that law and we shall not fear what man can do to us. History proclaims this truth "as long as they seek the Lord God will cause them to prosper." May America seek Thee in Thine appointed way. May this session of the Senate seek and find that way.

For our President, our Governor, our Lieutenant-Governor, and for all in authority, we pray that they be given divine guidance. In Jesus' name. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY AND POWER PROJECT

Mr. MALLERY, on behalf of Mr. MARGIE and himself, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Whereas, Agitation for the passage of Federal legislation approving the completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project has been revived in the Federal Congress; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is vitally concerned in the effect that the completion of said project would have upon its citizens; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relies substantially for its economic stability and future prosperity on the preservation of its essential mining, manufacturing and transportation industries; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous and anthracite coal, the manufacture of steel products and the transportation of freight by steam railroads constitute important segments of the industrial life and well-being of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, The development of 2,200,000 horsepower of hydro-electricity as contemplated by the St. Lawrence Project would displace in excess of five million tons of bituminous coal annually; and

Whereas, The completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway would open existing markets for bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the Commonwealth, to ruinous competition from foreign coal mined by cheap labor and transported to Great Lakes ports of the United States and Canada in tramp foreign flag vessels at ballast rates; and

Whereas, The importation of steel and other manufactured products similarly produced at low cost in foreign countries and sold in competition with Pennsylvania manufactured goods would injuriously affect manufacturing industry and employment in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The diversion of freight tonnage to the proposed waterways from steam railroads serving the Commonwealth and the loss of traffic due to the diminution of coal tonnage would seriously and adversely affect the railroad industry; and

Whereas, As a result of the foregoing, thousands of citizens of Pennsylvania engaged in the mining and production of coal, the making and fabrication of steel and other products and the transporting of freight would be deprived of their means of earning a livelihood at their chosen occupations; and

Whereas, The development of the St. Lawrence Project would have an injurious effect upon the economy of the country, with incidental benefit, if any, being confined to relatively few small areas and certain manufacturers; and

Whereas, A large part of the enormous cost of this unwise and uneconomical project would fall upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

SERVICES COMMEMORATING THE BIRTHDAY OF WILLIAM McKINLEY

Mr. DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Monday, January 29th, marks the one hundred and second anniversary of the birth of William McKinley, a soldier, statesman and martyred President.

Born at Niles, Ohio, on the 29th day of January, 1843, he received his early education at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pennsylvania.

He enlisted as a private in the 23rd regiment of Ohio Volunteers, commanded by Rutherford B. Hayes who later became President of the United States. For conspicuous bravery at Antietam he was commissioned a Lieutenant, was promoted to a Captaincy in 1864 and for his conduct at Cedar Creek he was brevetted Major.

Upon his discharge from the army he studied law at Youngstown, Ohio, was admitted to the bar in 1867 and commenced the practice of the law at Canton, Ohio.

He was elected prosecuting attorney of Stark County, Ohio in 1869 and to Congress in 1876 where he served during many sessions and occupied a conspicuous place.

He was elected Governor of Ohio in 1891 and 1893, and was nominated as the Republican candidate for President in June, 1896, and was elected the following November.

His first term was most eventful for during those four years the Spanish American War was fought and won, Porto Rico and the Philippines were acquired and Hawaii was annexed.

He was re-elected to the Presidency in 1900 and on September 6, 1901 while holding a reception in the Music Hall at the Pan American Exposition at Buffalo, he was shot, and died on September 14.

His career during his session as the Chief Executive of the Nation was marked by a degree of tact which surprised his friends. He surrounded himself with able advisers and had achieved such popularity at the time of his assassination that his death caused wide spread grief and regret, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the commemoration of the birthdays of those eminent Americans whose lives are worthy of emulation should form a vital part of the education of the youth of our nation in order to inculcate in their minds the things that contribute to the eminence of those who have added glory to the history of the nation, and be it further

Resolved that the various schools and civic organizations of the Commonwealth are requested to meet on that day and by appropriate services commemorate the anniversary of the birth of William McKinley, who died in the service of his country as truly as the soldiers on the field of battle.

The history of today, far outstripping in magnitude and importance that of any comparable period of time, marks one more outstanding event, the inauguration for the fourth consecutive term of the man to whom has been entrusted, by majority vote of his fellow Americans, the destiny of a great nation, if not the destiny of mankind.

It is a solemn and significant occasion, to be viewed with reverence and awe. In this chaotic state of world affairs, the responsibilities of leadership rest heavily. The exigencies of each ever-changing moment make incessant demands for superhuman achievements, sublime courage, magnificent strength, and a wisdom and judgment beyond comparison. Grant, O God, that these be given to the President.

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, in behalf of the Commonwealth which it represents, by these resolutions, congratulate his Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, because of the trust and confidence that has been bestowed upon him and the opportunities that lie before him when he takes the oath of office in the city of Washington on January the 20th, 1945.

Resolved, That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pledge itself hereby to strive mightily and to cooperate to the fullest extent towards the speedy and successful bringing to an end of the holocaust of wars and destruction, and the bringing about of peace, equity and understanding among nations.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be certified and transmitted to his Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President and President-elect of the United States of America.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 23, 1945.

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father God, whose mercy is infinite and whose love is limitless, we who have been the beneficiaries of that mercy and that love give to Thee our sincere thanks. Thou hast preserved our lives while calling to live with Thee those we have known and loved. One of these whom Thou hast called was a member of this body, Dr. Leo C. Mundy, known and loved. His years of service in his chosen profession gave him an enduring place in the hearts of many as The Beloved Physician. And like the Great Physician "he went about doing good."

Called into the service of his state, Dr. Mundy brought into the Senate a trained mind, a fine personality and real devotion to the best interests of the State. His consecrated talents and disciplined character won for him the respect of his colleagues. We thank Thee for his life and accomplishments.

While all lament his passing and sympathize with his bereaved family, we pray that Dr. Mundy's life and character may continue to exercise their good influence and inspire us all to a like consecration to the work God has called us to do.

And now we pray that Thou direct us in the conduct of the duties of today and every day that when we are called from this life it may be said to us by the Master of us all, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Amen!

SERVICES HELD IN MEMORY OF HONORABLE LEO C. MUNDY, LATE SENATOR FROM THE XXI SENATORIAL DISTRICT

In the Senate, January 23, 1945,
2:30 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

This being the time fixed for holding memorial services by reason of the death of Honorable Leo C. Mundy, late Senator from the XXI Senatorial District of Pennsylvania, the Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, Chairman of the Committee appointed to conduct memorial services.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is most fitting that the Senate of Pennsylvania, where he rendered such conspicuous service, should pause in its labors to pay its tribute of esteem and affection to the late Honorable Leo Clement Mundy of Luzerne County. In his passing in the prime of life the county of Luzerne lost an outstanding citizen, Pennsylvania a distinguished public official and the medical profession a noted surgeon and general practitioner. From his humble beginning he rose to success in whatever he undertook to do, testifying to his dynamic personality as well as extraordinary capacity.

I knew him well and therefore I speak both from fullness of knowledge and fullness of heart. He was truly a self-made man, political leader, newspaper man, physician and surgeon, major in a medical group in the first World War, Collector of Internal Revenue, State Senator.

His whole life was the life of a man devoted to a lifetime of service to humanity. As a political leader Dr. Mundy had the courage of his convictions and never hesitated to express them. Possessing these traits it was but natural that he would be subjected to criticism, but always he would meet all opposition first with a disarming smile and then with arguments that were plain, direct and effective. He handled himself in masterly fashion. Senator Mundy was a real American. In him there was no pretense, on him there was no veneer; he hated sham and hypocrisy. Whenever he allied himself with a movement he never went half way, and despite all of this, he emerged from politics with a reputation as stainless as a star and a character as inescapable as truth.

Despite all the honors that were bestowed on Senator Mundy there was one that he prized very highly. A few years ago he came to my desk to tell me he had been voted a life membership in the American College of Surgeons. There was a sort of glow of pride in his expression. As a physician and surgeon Dr. Mundy had few peers. He toiled long hours with utter disregard of personal consideration and often on his way home from legislative sessions he dropped into the hospital at Wilkes-Barre to see his patients and on many occasions performed delicate operations in the early morning hours on patients who were critically ill.

Senator Mundy was a real member of the Senate and those of us who served with him will remember him best for his observance of law making, his fidelity to every trust and the steadfastness of his devotion to legislative ideals.

A few days before he died he journeyed to Harrisburg, accompanied by his devoted wife, who is in the Senate Chamber today, to say good-bye to his soldier son who was boarding a train to return to camp, when he was stricken ill. He sensed that the end was near and as he started home he looked about to take a last lingering look at the receding dome of the State Capitol. I am sure he said to himself, "I have kept the faith, I have fought the good fight."

Despite the seriousness of his illness he continued home, called the hospital upon his arrival, and, against the advice of the hospital, drove his automobile to the institution where his professional skill had saved many lives; a few days later the tired heart gave out and a remarkable career indeed had come to an end.

And now, Mr. President, we say good-bye to another gallant warrior who has unbuckled his shield, laid aside his arms and has been with honor mustered out of the battle of life. May his impressive record of services to humanity inspire all of us to rededicate our lives to the betterment of humankind.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Warren, Senator Chapman.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, gentlemen of the Senate:

The Athenians walked among the statues of their heroes and kept themselves familiar with their deeds. So we do well to draw near our mighty dead.

What is death? "I am standing on the seashore. A ship at my side spreads her white sails to the morning breeze and starts for the blue ocean. She is an object of beauty, and I stand and watch her until at length she hangs like a speck of white cloud just where the sun and sky come to mingle together. Then someone at my side says 'There, she's gone.' Gone where? Gone from my sight, that is all. She is just as large in mast and hull and spar, as when she left my side and just as able to bear her load of living freight to the place of her destination. Her diminished size is in me, not in her. And just at the moment someone at my side says 'There she's gone' there are other eyes that are watching her coming. And other voices ready to take up the glad shout: 'There she comes.' And that is dying."

It is with a sincere feeling of grief and sorrow that we today pay tribute to the memory of Dr. Leo C. Mundy, man among men, and member of the Pennsylvania State Senate from the 21st District. However, there is a feeling of keen satisfaction in the feeling that during his all too short lifetime he wrought well and must have passed from us after living a life full of good deeds.

Possessed of a genial personality he was the owner of a mind that made him an outstanding legislator and citizen. His life was an open book and every page was engrossed with the record of things accomplished. Never too busy to be a friend, never too self-centered to respect the views of another, he formed friends by the legion.

Human as are all physicians who contact life in its various spheres, he was a leader in all movements for the betterment of mankind. Legislation in which social conditions would be improved won his instant attention. He felt deeply the problems of the poor and the underprivileged. His skill as a physician and surgeon was outstanding, and was at the command of all, without regard to fee. His ethics in his chosen profession were pure. His interest in humanitarian principles led him to ask to become a member of the Cancer Commission named by this Senate, as he knew and realized the havoc done by the scourge of all peoples.

He led a life filled with public service from his school days when he strove for the honors of his athletic teams and classes until as years advanced he became a leader in civic affairs and was sent by his fellow men to this body. In World War I he emerged from the conflict with the rank of Major and bearing a Distinguished Service Citation. He was a brave man, not only in conflict with arms, but in the service of the State. He was found on the side of righteousness.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, he grew to manhood there and won the esteem and love of his fellow men. The measure of success he attained in his life attests the service he gave. Perhaps had he not so poured out his energy, he might have attained a greater length of years, but his wife and children must be comforted by the thought that he was a man among men and was one of those who served best because he loved best.

His wise counsels will be missed by us who are left behind. All can draw inspiration from his example. Citizens of Wilkes-Barre miss him and his leadership. Personally I will miss his words that often gave me strength for the walking of life's pathway. And may we pay to him the greatest of tribute, that he was a student of men, and the greatest study of mankind is man. Dr. Leo C. Mundy loved men and gave of his best at all times for them.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, members of the Senate, and friends of Leo C. Mundy, scholar, student, statesman and politician. Those of us who enter the political arena do so for various purposes.

During the year that I was privileged to participate in the debates of the Senate along with our distinguished colleague, Leo C. Mundy, I learned that he was motivated by a creed, probably best illustrated by a statement once made by President Lincoln, when Lincoln said: "As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master."

Senator Mundy needed nothing from politics that he did not already possess, except that as an American he knew that Democracy thrived upon work and sweat, tears and sacrifice. A man whose profession was so necessary and essential to the community in which he lived, he did not need the field of politics for extra activities. He was motivated by a love of political philosophy, knowing full well that every little bit that he contributed would make this a better State, this a better Nation, for the coming generations to live in. There was not any selfishness in his make-up.

He, along with other men who entered the political arena, had to give up the tranquility of home life, had to become the target of tyrants and political hacks and bigots, had to have his family suffer because of untruthful statements and personal attacks in political campaigns, had to take all of the bad things that go with a successful political career, and yet he took them because he was motivated by that desire to see to it that this would be a better place for all of us. By his battles upon the floor of the Senate who amongst us will not say that this is a better Senate because of his having been here.

By his attitude upon legislation those of us on this side of the Senate were inspired because he served unselfishly. And so we carry on, those of us who are still here, knowing full well behind us always is that spirit of Leo C. Mundy working for the common good of the common people of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now recognizes the Senator from Somerset, Senator Ealy.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I hesitated to accept appointment to this committee, for I realize that any words of mine will be inadequate to the occasion. Only those with whom one has lived and worked, and those who are intimately acquainted with his life and character, are able to express proper sentiments in regard to him. I knew Senator Mundy only as a member of the Pennsylvania State Senate; I came in contact with him only in connection with his activities here, but from those relations I came to have a deep respect for his ability and considered him an important member of this Senate, and it was with the deepest feeling of regret that I learned of his death.

From the facts of his life history as published in the newspapers, and from those that have been stated here, it is apparent that he lived a life of service both in war and peace—to his country, his state and his community. I refer to a few of those facts briefly.

It appears that Leo C. Mundy enlisted in the First World War as a physician and surgeon; after spending some time here in the United States he went to France, where he rose to the rank of a Lieutenant-Colonel and received a Distinguished Service Citation from General Pershing for his meritorious work. After his return from France he accepted an appointment as city physician for Wilkes-Barre for a time. He was chosen by his party as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1932, and later he was appointed as Internal Revenue Collector for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, which post he resigned to become a member of the State Senate. He had served almost two terms here and was a nominee of his party for a third term when he was fatally stricken.

He was a noted physician and surgeon and had a large practice, but in spite of this he found time to take an active interest in professional, civic, fraternal and church organizations.

Here is a record which may be recounted with pride by his relatives and friends, but though perhaps he received more honor and acclaim from his fellowmen for other activities, I think his greatest service was that which he rendered through the years to suffering humanity in his capacity as a physician and surgeon.

We all know the extra labors and tasks which had been put upon members of the medical profession in these last years and perhaps I can appreciate this the better because of the like profession of my father and numerous relatives, some of whom, like Senator Mundy, succumbed to the exactions of their work at an age earlier than that usually allotted to man.

We believe with sincerity that this life is merely a preparation for a life more glorious and beautiful beyond and that death is but a transition. It is harder to disbelieve in the hereafter than to have faith therein and it is pleasant to think that the Lord in his providence considered that Senator Mundy had completed his preparation for the more important duties over there and therefore the sooner was he called from his work here. Let us all hope that we may join him in a joyous reunion in the hereafter.

The PRESIDENT. We will conclude these memorial services by rising from our seats and standing with heads bowed in prayer.

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 29, 1945, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 29, 1945, at nine o'clock p. m.

PLEDGING COOPERATION OF COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA TO SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF THE WAR

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1945.

The history of today, far outstripping in magnitude and importance that of any comparable period of time, marks one more outstanding event, the inauguration for the fourth consecutive term of the man to whom has been entrusted, by majority vote of his fellow Americans, the destiny of a great nation, if not the destiny of mankind.

It is a solemn and significant occasion, to be viewed with reverence and awe. In this chaotic state of world affairs, the responsibilities of leadership rest heavily. The exigencies of each ever-changing moment make incessant demands for superhuman achievements, sublime courage, magnificent strength, and a wisdom and judgment beyond comparison. Grant, O God, that these be given to the President.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, in behalf of the Commonwealth which it represents, by these resolutions, congratulate his Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, because of the trust and confidence that has been bestowed upon him and the opportunities that lie before him when he takes the oath of office in the city of Washington on January the 20th, 1945.

Resolved, That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pledge itself hereby to strive mightily and to cooperate to the fullest extent towards the speedy and successful bringing to an end of the holocaust of wars and destruction, and the bringing about of peace, equity and understanding among nations.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be certified and transmitted to his Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President and President-elect of the United States of America.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. JONES read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 162, entitled:

An Act to protect the people from tuberculosis; to provide for the care, treatment, isolation and hospitalization of persons afflicted therewith; to provide for the commitment of certain persons afflicted with tuberculosis; to provide for their care, custody and discharge; and to prescribe penalties for the violation of this act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 163, entitled:

An Act declaring the policy of the State with regard to practices of discrimination against any of its inhabitants because of race, color, creed or national origin; and creating a temporary State commission to make studies, and to make recommendations designed to eliminate such discrimination; and making an appropriation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in the Governor's message I was very happy to see that he recommended an increase in the appropriation to the University of Pittsburgh in the amount of $275,200. I also noticed at the same time that he asked for an increase for the University of Pennsylvania of $680,000. More power to the University of Pennsylvania if they can get that $680,000.

The point I would like to make is with regard to the medical school of the University of Pittsburgh. There are located in the city of Philadelphia five medical schools, Temple, Jefferson, Women's College, Hahnemann and University of Pennsylvania. There are no other medical schools until we get to the city of Pittsburgh. According to the American College of Surgeons they govern how many students may be admitted to a medical school each year. In the general appropriation for the University of Pittsburgh that money goes to all schools under the University of Pittsburgh. We are only allowed, I think, 82 freshman medical students each year at the University. It was my thought that if we could get a separate appropriation for the University of Pittsburgh Medical School that money could be used in order to buy equipment, which would be passed on by the American College of Surgeons and probably we could be allowed to have more freshman students.

I am many times called on, as I am sure are Senator Walker, Senator Cox, Senator McGinnis and Senator Gertz, by members of the Senate and different leaders of both political parties from the middle parts of the state, trying to get a boy or girl into the University of Pittsburgh Medical School. Unfortunately the middle part of the state has no place to send their students. That is, ones who want to study medicine.

My thought was that the appropriation committee could give this matter some thought and perhaps get a separate appropriation for the University of Pittsburgh Medical School in order to aid some of the outlying counties of the state.

I do not think it is fair that Philadelphia should have five medical schools and then there be not another medical school until we get to the City of Pittsburgh, where there are three schools. Philadelphia gets separate appropriations for its medical schools. Therefore I offer these three bills in behalf of the University of Pittsburgh; the third one is in behalf of the women's nursing school.

I further ask, Mr. President, that the appropriation committee allow us to come before them and discuss this subject again.

Mr. BARR on behalf of himself and Mr. COX read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 164, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the University of Pittsburgh, for the general maintenance of and the purchase of apparatus and equipment for the University of Pittsburgh, and for the maintenance of teaching facilities in hospitals for students in the School of Medicine.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 165, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Medical School of the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 166, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Nursing School of the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HOLLAND on behalf of himself and Mr. KLEIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 167, entitled:

L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," providing for payment to cities, boroughs, towns and townships of a part of the registration and license fees collected; and appropriating moneys in the Motor License Fund therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. GOURLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 168, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-five of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1237), entitled "An act affecting marital relations; prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," by providing that libels in divorce may be presented to a judge at chambers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 169, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (f) of section forty-nine of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein; the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of non-resident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," by increasing the amount of wages due a deceased employe which may be paid to certain persons by the employer without the necessity for the issuance of letters testamentary or letters of administration.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. COX read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 170, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred one of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," abolishing capital punishment in the case of murder of the first degree.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. COLEMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 171, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act, approved the seventh day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 887), entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor and the Department of Welfare, to acquire certain land adjacent to and for the use of the Scranton State Hospital, providing for the improvement and use thereof, authorizing the City of Scranton to pay the costs of such improvements in whole or in part, and making an appropriation," increasing the amount of appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I intend to offer a resolution which under the rules will be referred to committee.

Mr. WOODRING. The purpose of this resolution is to inquire into the procedure of the Public Utility Commission and the whys and wherefores of the tremendous delays visited upon the many cases under their consideration and within their jurisdiction. I am about to present this resolution in my behalf and that of Senator Holland, in a kindly fashion, with a view of making an intelligent inquiry by our own Senate Committee on Public Utilities as to the reasons for these terrific delays.

Down in my own section of Northampton and Lehigh counties we recently have received a decision by the Public Utilities Commission which was eleven years in the making. The case at the end of that period of time, and when the decision came down, had long since ceased to serve its purpose.

Very recently I, and all of you other members of the Senate, have received bound volumes of copies of decisions of the Public Utility Commission and if you will take time to examine your copy you will find that many of these decisions spent five, six, seven or eight years in the making and it is a correction of that condition that I have in mind and the reason for which I now offer the following resolution in my own behalf and that of Senator Holland.

RESOLUTIONS

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE PROCEDURE OF THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

Mr. WOODRING on behalf of himself and Mr. HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Utilities:

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

Whereas, a certain case, to wit, Bangor Borough versus Bangor Water Company is now pending before the Public Utilities Commission; and

Whereas, said case was instituted September 17, 1941, hearings were held thereon between December 1941 and June 1943, and oral argument was held January 5, 1944; and

No decision has been rendered by the Public Utilities Commission during the past year although said case is impressed with public interest and is of vital concern to many citizens of the Commonwealth and to a municipal subdivision thereof; and

Whereas, the delay and protracted nature of dealing with the instant case is not an isolated or unusual condition in the manner in which such cases are handled by the Public Utilities Commission.

Now Therefore Be It Resolved, that the Senate Committee on Public Utilities be directed to investigate the procedure now being followed by the Public Utilities Commission and to report its findings and recommendations to the Senate.

THE SECRETARY OF WELFARE TO REPORT TO THE SENATE

Mr. JASPAN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 23, 1945.

The Act of May 25, 1937, P. L. 808, provided for the use of the former Pennsylvania Industrial Home at Huntingdon as an institution for the reception, care, maintenance, detention, employment and training of defective delinquents, changed its name to the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents, and placed the management and operation thereof within the Department of Welfare.

This act has not been amended, modified or suspended, and in accordance with existing law, defective delinquents should be received at the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents and maintained therein.

Four defective delinquents were recently committed to the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents at Huntingdon by Judge John Robert Jones of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, but the institution refused to receive them.

If the institution at Huntingdon refuses to receive defective delinquents, then there is no place within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where such children can be sentenced or provided for as contemplated by the Act of 1937.

This question has lately been commented upon in most of the Philadelphia newspapers following the flouting of Judge Jones' commitment by the authorities at Huntingdon; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of Welfare is hereby respectfully requested by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to inform this body why the institution at Huntingdon has not been opened for the reception and maintenance of defective delinquents as contemplated by the Act of 1937, and in the event that the doors of that institution are to continue to be closed in violation of the mandate of the said act, then to what institution are defective delinquents to be sentenced by the courts of the Commonwealth.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

OPEN SEASON FOR DOVES

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish:

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

Whereas, The hunting of doves was permitted last fall in twenty-six (26) States under Federal Migratory Bird Regulations, with seasons of varying lengths; and

Whereas, The neighboring States of Delaware and

Maryland were among those in which dove hunting was permitted; and

Whereas, No hunting for doves has been permitted in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a number of years, notwithstanding the fact that large numbers of those birds are raised within the Commonwealth and migrate to the states south of us where they are hunted annually; therefore, be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby requests the Pennsylvania Game Commission to include in its migratory bird season recommendations to the United States Department of the Interior for the current year, that a 1945 open season for doves be declared for the counties lying in Southeastern Pennsylvania, on an experimental basis during the regular upland small game season; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, certified under the seal of this body be presented to the Pennsylvania Game Commission for its consideration.

NATIONAL FREEDOM DAY

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

February 1, 1945, marks the seventy-ninth anniversary of the proclamation of the Secretary of State of the United States, adding the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

That amendment provided that: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

Thus ended slavery and an end was put to the controversy that had divided the nation and brought on the Civil War.

It made the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, freeing the slaves, a part of the Federal Constitution.

It made our country free in fact and wrote into the words "all men are created free and equal," the meaning that had theretofore never been recognized throughout the nation.

It marked the end of the slavery that had been the lot of the negro, and the beginning of his long fight for equal rights.

It set up as the law of the nation what had always been the law of Pennsylvania, for in this State slavery had never been recognized or practiced and here the negro was assured of his place in the sun and his privilege at the election polls.

It guaranteed to the man of color that same equality of opportunity that was the heritage of the white man, and the rapid advancement of the negro since that time is the best evidence of his natural right to that heritage.

The day that marked the issuance of that proclamation was our "National Freedom Day" and one well worth our yearly celebration, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby designates February first of each year as "National Freedom Day," and recommends its observance as the day upon which this nation granted to all within its confines, full freedom and equal liberty; the day when it proudly lifted its head among the nations of the world and became in fact the citadel of liberty, and be it further

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby requested to issue his proclamation calling February first as "National Freedom Day" and calling for its observance in the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman from Delaware tell me the purpose intended to be served by passage of this bill?

Mr. HEYBURN. On page 4, line 15, is an amendment to this bill, Mr. President, which will have the effect of reducing the minimum fine for violations of the aeronautic code from $50 to $12.50.

Mr. HALUSKA. I understand that, Mr. President, but what purpose is intended to be served by bringing the fine down from $50 to $12.50.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there are certain minor infractions which do not warrant the $50 fine, just the same as there are minor motor vehicle infractions that would not warrant a $50 fine. A violator still could be fined as much as $200 under this amendment, but it does reduce the minimum fine from $50 to $12.50. Under this bill a violator could be fined according to his violation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, from my reading of this bill it is not a matter of violation. In other words, under this proposed amendment a man might be licensed to operate an aircraft and give his license to an alien spy or some person who should not be permitted to operate an aircraft and that person could be fined only $12.50 instead of $200.

The next point I desire to make is, I see no good reason why they should bring it down to a $12.50 fine. A person who might have had his license suspended, knowing full well he is not permitted to operate an aircraft, still in defiance of the law can go back up in the air and be fined, if convicted, only $12.50.

Certainly, gentlemen, that is no minor violation; that is far from being a minor violation. I think this is a very bad bill and I do not see any good reason why this bill should pass.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I might ask the gentleman from Cambria whether he would favor an amendment to the motor vehicle code requiring a minimum fine of $50 on all violations. It is the same thing exactly.

Mr. HALUSKA. When a bill comes up pertaining to the motor code, Mr. President, I shall be glad to discuss it with the gentleman.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION

Mr. GOODLING offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the resolution which I am about to introduce on behalf of my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, and myself, is one which I deem to be extremely important and one which I trust will receive very proper and speedy action. I am only sorry that the rules of the House forbid the presentation of this resolution by two hundred and eight Members of the House. However, I believe that the two hundred eight Members of the House, when they are fully acquainted with its contents, will agree that it is a subject which should be handled quickly and sent over to the Senate for concurrence, so that Pennsylvania and the nation and the world may know at least what we think of this most important subject.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1945.

No. 8.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, January 24, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, our heavenly Father, as we stand reverently in Thy presence may our minds and souls partake fully of that reverence. Our prayer, faulty though it may be, will still be acceptable to Thee.

May we know Thee with that knowledge that is unto everlasting life, and serve Thee with that service which is perfect freedom.

Each of us has his own peculiar problems and difficulties. Hear us as we ask for wisdom to help us solve the problems and surmount the difficulties and thus to overcome our inherent weaknesses. We can, if we so will, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His right.

We pray for our nation. God make her strong in righteousness, strong to triumph over all enemies without and within, and bless her with peace.

Endow the President, the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor with wisdom, courage and faith, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JONES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JONES: Mr. President, on behalf of myself and Senator Haluska I am about to introduce a bill proposing to amend the public assistance act, relating to the portion of that act conferring authority upon the Board of Public Assistance to make allotments covering old age assistance. At the present time the act permits Board of Assistance to make rules and regulations as to eligibility as to certain individuals who desire old age assistance. The only requirement in the act is that of age, the age that a person must reach to be eligible to receive assistance. Other requirements for assistance are fixed by the Board and the Board in the development of this subject has laid down rules and regulations.

One of these regulations provides that a bond must be given by an individual who owns a small home and who desires this aid or assistance. That bond is a judgment bond which is entered of record in the Prothonotary's office in the county in which he resides.

This amendment proposes to eliminate that requirement of a bond. That is the full purpose of the amendment.

In this amendment we have endeavored to preserve all other rights of the Commonwealth and all other requirements of the Board of Assistance and we have tried and specifically included in this amendment the right of the Commonwealth to sue and collect any money that is paid over for public assistance where the individual's estate is sufficient to meet it.

The present methods of collecting public assistance are by an action of assumpsit or by entering this bond. We would preserve that right of assumpsit after the death of the decedent. We would also preserve the right of lien which exists immediately after the death of a decedent for a period of six months. We would also preserve the right to collect money the Commonwealth has paid the aged by providing other methods, by providing for the presentation of a claim to the Orphan's Court and realizing the amount.

The only thing we contemplate by this amendment is that the large bond of $4,000 shall not be required. It seems to me when the Commonwealth requires that bond that the Commonwealth in effect is in the banking business, it is loaning money to this aged person, and it expects him to pay it back with interest, but it is highly different when a bank loans money to an aged person that needs assistance at six per cent interest; they loan a lump sum, a fixed amount, whereas the Commonwealth allots periodically certain sums of money towards the support of the individual.

One of the invidious things about this requirement is that it does not work equally upon everybody in the Commonwealth, because probably two-thirds of all the individuals who are aged and receiving assistance are required to give this bond, they receive assistance because they have no real estate and no other assets where by moneys advanced can be protected or recovered, they receive it and they are a preferred class, but the other persons are required to give it and to have this lien against the property. As a result of this lien against the property they undergo certain inconveniences and hardships as a result of this distinction and discrimination against them, they undergo certain hardships which they should not be required to undergo.

This business, I could say to the Senate, is not a banking proposition, it is not the loaning of money at interest for the purpose of earning money, making money from aged people, it is primarily a humanitarian proposition, a charitable proposition, and in conformity with the ideas and principles involved the State of Pennsylvania should prohibit its Department of Public Assistance from requiring something which gives it a different color and a different aspect and different sentiment.

The Senate in the last Session received three of these bills. One of those was presented by myself and the House received several of those bills. They were not favorably acted upon by the Committee on Public Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions in either body.

On this occasion there are several bills in the Senate at this time, one of which was introduced by the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, last week. There have also been introduced several bills in the House, and I have been informed by the Legislative Reference Bureau that they have drawn some bills. I think that this is a subject matter that ought to come out on the floor of the Senate and on the floor of the House and be debated fully in order that the correct result shall be obtained in order that this error which apparently exists as we see it might be corrected and in order that some correction may be made in order to effectuate a desirable result.

Mr. JONES on behalf of himself and Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 178, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by changing the liability of property of indigent persons for their support, maintenance, assistance and burial in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. JONES read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 179, entitled:

An Act to further amend section sixteen of an act approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 468), entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department, by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner, two Deputy State Highway Commissioners, chief engineer, chief draughtsman, superintendents of highways, and a staff of assistants and employees; defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees; providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats, principal cities, and towns and extending to the State line; describing and defining same by route numbers as the State Highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the improvement, maintenance and repair of said State Highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth, and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same, and relieving said townships or counties of authority over some; requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State Highways wholly and in part; requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof; conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioners; providing for the payment of damages in taking of property, or otherwise, in the improvement thereof; providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State Highway, and procedure therein; providing for work of improvement of State Highways to be done by contract, except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work to be done by the State; providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads; defining highways and State-aid highways; providing method of application for State aid in the improvement, maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township, county, borough, or incorporated town petitions; providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State, county, township, borough, or incorporated town, and requiring contracts by counties, townships, boroughs, and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same; providing for the minimum width of State Highways and State-aid highways, and kind of materials to be used in the improvement; providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs; providing penalty for injuring or destroying State Highways; making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act; and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads, and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith; and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act," by providing for the payment of damages to abutting property owners arising from any change of grade.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GOODLING and BREISCH.

RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, January 23, 1945.

On January 16, 1945, War Food Administrator, Marvin Jones, called up the farmers of the United States for all-out food and feed production; on the same date, Dr. S. W. Fletcher, Dean of the School of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State College, predicted probable food shortage in 1945, and Governor Martin has recently asked for all-out production.

Dairy herds in Pennsylvania have been reduced and many others completely sold; beef cattle are being sold before being properly finished; less poultry is being produced than in many years; farms are lying idle for lack of man, power to operate; and hogs are not being produced in sufficient quantities to supply the demand.

The recent revision of our rationing system is further evidence of a food shortage with the prospect of a still greater curtailment.

Farmers and their families are willingly working fifteen and more hours per day in peak seasons and will continue to do so with reasonable cooperation from the government in order to contribute their all to the war effort. Older men are helping wherever possible, but in this machine age the younger element make the best operators.

In the face of these undeniable facts, Selective Service has instructed local draft boards to call farm boys for induction.

Every one, including the farmer and the farmers' sons, is convinced of the necessity of exerting the full man power of the nation in order to win the war speedily and completely.

The danger from this war and its consequences is as great on the home front as on the foreign front.

The danger of the starvation of, and insufficient nourishment for, the workers of the nation is as much a menace to the winning of the war as is the danger of bullets and bombs and grenades to those in the trenches and fox holes of Europe and the South Pacific region.

The soldier in the invaded countries and the sailor on the seas must be fed and the reduction of the output of food products here at home is a direct threat to their health and efficiency.

When we reduce the man power that produces the food, then we impede the progress of the machinery that makes the winning of the war possible; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby respectfully, but earnestly, calls the attention of the Members of the Congress of the United States and those in charge of the Selective Service of the Nation to change the all-inclusive order for the induction of young men heretofore deferred on reason of work on the farms of the Nation and to direct local draft boards to make a thorough investigation in each case to induct those who have used farm work only for deferment purposes, while they engaged principally in other lucrative employment and to continue the deferment of all farm boys who have been and are actually working and producing on farms, until the countless number of non-essential Federal employees has been reduced and until those engaged in non-essential work and those who are chronic absentees in essential occupations have been placed in uniforms; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to each Member from Pennsylvania in the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the President of the United States, Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director, Selective Service, and Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. COHEN and ROSE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 6.

In the House of Representatives, January 23, 1945.

Whereas, The present world tragedy, with its frightful toll of human lives, liberty and property, must be the last payment by the peoples of the earth, to insure against its recurrence; and

Whereas, The utmost efforts of the world's home front leaders must be fully utilized and directed to achieve a permanent and just peace; and

Whereas, The community of peace-loving and respecting nations have already taken great measures to accomplish this result; and

Whereas, The efforts of these nations has been thus far taking definite form in the accord far reached at the Dumbarton Oaks conference, held recently in the United States; and

Whereas, It is desirable that—

(a) The sovereign equality of all peace-loving nations be assured;

(b) That all member nations undertake to fulfill the obligations assumed by them;

(c) All member nations shall settle their disputes by peaceful means;

(d) All member nations shall give every assistance to its organization in any action undertaken by it in accordance with its agreement;

(e) That all member nations shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force;

(f) That all member nations shall refrain from giving assistance to any state against which preventive or enforcement action is being undertaken; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That it is the sense of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the attainment and implementation of these objectives is of the utmost and primary importance, and hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States and all responsible officials of the Federal Government to push forward with our assurance of unified support in reaching these objectives, among which shall be the recognition of the truth, that (a) no nation hereafter can immunize itself by its own exclusive action; (b) that once defeated, the Axis must be demilitarized and that the President should have power to use armed force instantly without further recourse to the Senate, to make victory permanent; (c) That everything possible must be done to prevent the outbreak of a third World War, which would open new laboratories of death too horrible to contemplate; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officers of each House of Congress and to each United States Senator and Congressman from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

February 1, 1945, marks the seventy-ninth anniversary of the proclamation of the Secretary of State of the United States, adding the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

That amendment provided that: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

Thus ended slavery and an end was put to the controvery that had divided the nation and brought on the Civil War.

It made the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, freeing the slaves, a part of the Federal Constitution.

It made our country free in fact and wrote into the words "all men are created free and equal," the meaning that had theretofore never been recognized throughout the nation.

It marked the end of the slavery that had been the lot of the negro, and the beginning of his long fight for equal rights.

It set up as the law of the nation what had always been the law of Pennsylvania, for in this State slavery had never been recognized or practiced and here the negro was assured of his place in the sun of his privilege at the election polls.

It guaranteed to the man of color that same equality of opportunity that was the heritage of the white man, and the rapid advancement of the negro since that time is the best evidence of his natural right to that heritage.

The day that marked the issuance of that proclamation was our "National Freedom Day" and one well worth our yearly celebration, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby designates February first of each year as "National Freedom Day" and recommends its observance as the day upon which this nation granted to all within its confines, full freedom and equal liberty; the day when it proudly lifted its head among the nations of the world and became in fact the citadel of liberty, and be it further

Resolved that His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby requested to issue his proclamation naming February first as "National Freedom Day" and calling for its observance in the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 2

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 15, 1945.

His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth in his message to the General Assembly on the night of January 2nd last brought to the attention of the Members the matter of the construction of a new Governor's Mansion and in his budget as one of the possible post-war projects he carried the sum of $855,000 for such purpose.

The Governor however made no recommendation as to the erection of a new Governor's Mansion or as to the most appropriate site for the same but suggested that a Legislative Committee be appointed to study the matter and report back to the present session therefore be it

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this microphone must have been placed for the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, judging from the height. I wonder if in the future we could have it raised to a place where some of the rest of us boys might have a chance to speak.

Mr. Speaker, I arise this morning to speak on a matter that I would much prefer were not presented on the floor of the House, but a situation has arisen which, it seems to me, needs to be brought plainly and frankly here on the floor of the House, because in the last week or ten days there have been so many conflicting stories, rumors and statements made.

I think we all realize that after all there is a certain amount of politics that enters into the operation of the state government, and the Legislature is no different than any other part of the state government. We realize that in the operation of this legislative body the question of party politics enters into the selection of the employees and of the officers of the House. We naturally expect that to be true, and we know that patronage does exist, and that patronage is the prerogative first of the majority party.

However, Mr. Speaker, there are some conditions that exist among our attaches, our employees and among our officers that have long been recognized on the part of the Members of this House that extend beyond the realm of partisan politics, because of the position or because the employee or the officer holds some unique or particular position in which case the benefits, the good that arises—or the convenience, perhaps is the word I was searching for,—the convenience of the Members transcends and rises above the question of pure partisan politics or of party superiority or majority in the legislative body.

I well remember that in 1935 when my friends on the other side for the first time took over control of this House after a period,—I think it was forty years in Pennsylvania,—that most of my friends on the other side gallivanted into the session with the idea that they would pick up a brand new broom and that they would sweep out many of those who had been here for years, and that they would place in those places people whom they desired to reward for their service to their party. But I testify to the good, sound, commonsense leadership on the other side of this House at that time. They soon realized that it was impossible to treat the positions in this House in the same respect that you might treat the ordinary political job. I remember that some of the gentlemen that are sitting at the desk in this House received appointments at that time. I remember that the head of the Reference Bureau, although he had been an appointee of the Republican party for a great many years, was reappointed and carried on for a period.

I remember that there are others of lesser degree in importance perhaps, to the general scheme of things as you might consider them on the surface, but whom we all know are important cogs in the machinery that make the wheels go round, for after all, the public and the Members of the Legislature know very little about the great amount of work that is necessary behind the scenes downstairs in the different offices to keep the wheels of this parliamentary body moving smoothly and to keep the session moving forward so that the work can be properly and efficiently done.

Therefore, it seems to me that by any consideration when we meet conditions of that kind it is not a question of the political party, it is not a question of the patronage which belongs to any particular office; the first consideration should be, first, what is the efficiency, what is the contribution to the efficiency of the operation of this body; and secondly, what is the contribution to the efficiency and the convenience of the Members of this body?

In the matter which I have stated has been in circulation, known to all the Members of this house for the last week or ten days, I am not at this time taking any position on one side or the other of any of the personal issues or any of the personal questions that might have been raised. I have been trained too long as a lawyer to judge things from surface indications or from the testimony on one side of any question. I hesitate to make up my mind until I feel that I know the facts, and it is for the very reason that the facts seem to be so obscured by charges, countercharges, by stories of one kind and another, by rumors that are circulated about, that I arise this morning to say first to the leadership in this house that I think the present situation does no credit to the Republican party nor to the leadership in this house, and in the second place to say that I think it is the duty of the leadership in this house to see that this matter is brought to a proper conclusion in a proper way.

I look about me here at Members on both sides of the House who have for years looked to the employe about whom I am speaking for every manner of help and favor that you can think of. I know men who have been, not during sessions alone, but between sessions, constant visitors to that office for the purpose of securing some help for themselves or their constituents. I cannot quite understand, as I have known the fine spirit of justice that has existed among the Members of this House in the past, how they can sit passively here and let a matter of this kind go on without making any attempt to do justice, and justice demands that there should be a hearing. I do not mean to say that we need to have a public hearing.

There are associates of mine on this side of the House who have the feeling that if something of this kind is said on the floor it would be giving aid and comfort to the men on the other side, that they would be glad to see a family squabble. But this is not a family squabble; the chief of the department about which I have been speaking has been a friend of mine for a great many years. We have had a long association, but again, I am trained as a lawyer, and I am divorcing myself from questions of friendship and turning to questions of, first, what I feel to be for the good of the body, and second, common ordinary decency and justice in the conduct of our affairs. I say if the men on the other side of the House out of such a situation can see an opportunity to gain a partisan advantage, that I cannot help, it is an unfortunate affair, but I have confidence enough in the men on the other side of the House to believe that they will not do so when they stop to consider.

And so, Mr. Speaker, I say to you again that I feel in view of the situation that exists, the Slate Committee or whatever committee it may be, should go into this matter clearly and frankly, that opportunities to be heard and be confronted with charges should be given. That need not be public; that might be embarrassing all the way around, but certainly no employee who has served the Members of this House over a period of longer than twenty years as I know it, should be dismissed from a position without an opportunity to be heard.

If the difficulties are personal, if the difficulties arise out of partisan politics, or petty partisan politics, I would put it, I think then we should see whether that should weigh heavier in the balance than the convenience of the Members of this House.

I am frank to say to you that there are a great many Members of this House who will be unable to serve their constituents as they have in the past if this condition continues.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

It is just a coincidence and not a plan that leads me to speak at this time, following the gentleman from Delaware. Until there is some matter,—since he has referred to the matter he has, I would say that until there is some question before the House upon which I can consult my colleagues in the House of course I will have nothing to say, and I trust no one on this side of the House will have anything to say until there is some question pending before us.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I think I really should be speaking under a question of personal privilege, not because of anything that has been said, but because of things that would probably be said if I should not make a statement. And I, in the course of my remarks may have to explain my remarks, perhaps even offer my apologies to the distinguished Republican member of this House, none other than the tall cedar of Lebanon, stalwart man that he is, the gentleman from Bucks, the Chairman of the Utilities Committee Commission, and of course I want to apologize to him.

Then I must apologize and explain my position to my colleagues on this side of the House, and when someone in my position apparently crosses the party line and comes before you to sponsor a measure that has had the benefit of Republican benediction, Republican blessing, Republican leadership, some explanation is due.

Now, if my memory does not fail me, the gentleman from Bucks in the 1943 session sponsored a bit of legislation that has become a part of the Democratic program. It was a fine bit of legislation. It was a child that I trusted would be a strong and sturdy child, that would grow into legislative manhood, that its daddy could take pride in, but I regret that nothing of the sort happened. This child was neglected, forgotten until by chance it found lodgement in our legislative affections. The bill has to do with the schools. It proposes in brief that the state pay the entire amount of the minimum salary which teachers are to be paid under the law.

That is our position on this side of the house. It is a position which we propose as time goes by to establish in this house, that those payments be made inside of the present tax structure of our Commonwealth, and that to carry out the purpose and intent of the measure, one time sponsored by the gentleman from Bucks, it will not be necessary to levy any new taxes and it will not be necessary to scale any of the Commonwealth's essential services.

So I faintly hope that the gentleman from Bucks will pardon me for not soliciting him to become a co-sponsor of this measure, and I hope that my Democratic colleagues will forgive me for sponsoring a bit of legislation that for a time was strong in the affections of the gentleman on the other side. I hope that this bill that I am introducing will grow to legislative manhood, and I hope that when it becomes a law, that while I am posing as its father, the gentleman from Bucks does not come wandering along and say: "Little legislative bill, that fellow from Cambria is not your father. Little child, I am your papa."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TROUT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened to the talk by the gentleman from Delaware with a great deal of interest, but I may not be around where rumors fly, and I was at a loss to know against whom or about what the charges were made that the gentleman from Delaware had in mind, and as a Member of the House and I believe there are others here who are not thoroughly familiar with what Mr. Turner was speaking about, I should like to have him explain definitely just what is the trouble so that we all might know the things that the gentleman from Delaware knows.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Commenting upon the remarks of the minority leader concerning certain legislation, Mr. Speaker, first, I appreciate very much the very complimentary remarks of the gentleman from Cambria, and I am rather persuaded that although this particular bill to which he refers is not yet out of committee, that it has had a very salutary effect.

There was created a commission to study the public schools. There will be some very progressive legislation presented, and I am frank to say that for my part I shall be very glad in turn if some of the Members of the minority are included in the sponsorship of those measures, because they will go in great measure toward establishing exactly the purpose set forth in my bill, and they will go, I believe, upon the findings of this commission much further in the rectification and the correction of conditions within the Department of Education. This would be my answer and my appreciation to him for his very kindly remarks.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. TURNER. I had expected, Mr. Speaker, that you would ask me whether I would permit myself to be interrogated after the remarks of the gentleman from Lancaster.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster did not request permission to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. TURNER. I appreciate that he did not, directly. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman arise?

Mr. TURNER. I rise to ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I purposely and studiously avoided making any reference to any person on the floor of the House because I felt that I had gone as far as was necessary to go in opening the question, but I realize that the gentleman from Manheim is a newspaper publisher and that as a newspaper publisher he desires all the news. I am amazed, though, that with his perspicacity and his aptitude as a newspaper man, that anything such as has been going on around the House should have escaped his attention.

I think we should call attention of the Hon. John Cummings of the Inquirer to this fact because he likes to ride the idiosyncracies of the House, whether they exist or not, and this one happens to exist.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the matter is not one for facetiousness. I rather thought as the gentleman from Lancaster was speaking that he was trying to do either one of two things; he was either trying to be facetious or to put me on the spot. He has lived with me as a Member of this House for a good many years, and I do not think that I ever ducked being put on the spot at any time.

The matter to which I refer is the matter which I learned of yesterday, and I had it from half a dozen different sources on direct authority, that Mrs. Cohen in the Chief Clerk's office had been summarily dismissed. That is the sum and substance of the subject about which I was speaking.

If there is any further interrogation I shall be happy to answer such questions about which I have personal knowledge. As I said in the beginning, I am not endeavoring to make up a decision for anyone, nor am I endeavoring to decide either side of any question on which I do not know all of the facts, but I do think in common justice, as I said in the beginning, that there is a distinct burden, yes, a distinct necessity, on the leadership of this House to dispose once and for all of this question in a proper way, in keeping with the best traditions of this House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATERHOUSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the house.

Mr. Speaker, I may be a bit out of order because I am a new man, but it is my belief that this matter of a dismissal or of an appointment rests with the man who is appointed or elected by this body. I believe that we have an efficient Chief Clerk. I believe that his office will be conducted in such a manner that it will be no hardship on the Members, and if that were not so, we would only have something like we have in Washington.

With all due respect to the learned gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and in conjunction with what the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout says, I myself believe that Bill Habbyslaw should have the privilege of appointing his own assistants. I do not believe that it is up to any Member of the House to say who Mr. Habbyslaw shall have as an assistant. I believe if we were in his place we would resent very much his telling us with whom we should work. I myself am very much opposed to any part that we might take in forcing him to retain in his office anyone who will not cooperate one hundred per cent with him, and which I believe, from what I have learned has been the case.

FORMER MEMBERS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes a former Member of this House Mr. Vance B. Peacock of Washington County, who served in 1939 as a Member of this House. Will the gentleman please rise. The Chair is glad to have the gentleman present in the House this morning.

The Chair also has the pleasure of recognizing another former Member of this House, who served with us for many years.

The Chair is informed that this is the first time the gentleman from Montgomery has ever been to a Wednesday session. The Chair has the distinct pleasure of introducing to the House the gentleman from Montgomery, who is now treasurer of Montgomery County, Hon. Edward Winner.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTIONS

Mr. MARTIN L. MURRAY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution.

Additional sponsors were added as follows: Messrs. William J. Moore, Hennihan, White, Komorofski, Flack, Mikula and Boney.

Mr. MARTIN L. MURRAY asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of a resolution which was read considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1945.

Walter Grey Gryskewicz, a member of the House during the session of 1941, will be well remembered by those who served with him for his friendliness and his deep interest in the business of the General Assembly.

Today he can only be a memory, for on December 5, of last year, he made the supreme sacrifice on German soil as a member of the armed forces of the nation.

His life was part of the price we are paying for a better world and part of this sacrifice we are making for the generation yet unborn, made necessary by the errors committed since World War I.

Our former member was born in Ashley on December 17, 1911, educated in the public schools where as a student in the High School, he demonstrated his leadership by his work on the basketball and baseball teams of the school and by his election as President of the Debating Society.

He was elected to the Borough Council in 1935, and Chief Burgess in 1937, and served in the drives made for the Red Cross and Community Welfare. In 1940 he was elected a member of this House.

He is survived by his widow, Della Whiteman Gryskewicz, and three children; therefor be it

Resolved, by the members of this House of Representatives, that in the death of Walter Grey Gryskewicz, the Commonwealth has lost another patriot, his community has lost a citizen who showed evidence of prominence and of future worth to it, and that to his wife it extends its deep and sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this Resolution to his widow.

Mr. WELSH offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1945.

The true spirit of the American soldier is typified by Private First Class John B. Nolan, a brother-in-law of our colleague, the Honorable Joseph J. Hersch.

Private Nolan was inducted into the service on December 13, 1943, took part in the invasion of Normandy and the advance on Paris and through Belgium. He was a member of the gallant army which so desperately and magnificently strove for and conquered the city of Aachen, the first major community on German soil to be captured by the Allies.

At Ubach, on October 10th, 1944, Private Nolan was hit in the leg by a fragment of an 88 millimeter shell, necessitating the amputation of the leg. On January 3, 1945, he returned to his wife and child; and is now, at the age of 30, a patient at the England General Hospital in Atlantic City.

When interviewed, Private Nolan said, "Don't feel sorry for me. I'm lucky that it was only my leg that I left at Aachen and not my life."

Resolved, That the House of Representatives pay tribute to the sunny disposition, the indomitable courage and the cheerfulness of the average American serving his country in combat duty while we civilians have it so easy and comfortable at home—to the American doughboy exemplified by Private First Class John B. Nolan.

Resolved, That a certified copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Private Nolan at Atlantic City.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 29, 1945, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:56 p. m.) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 29, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

May we be conscious of Thy presence, O God, as we stand before Thee. Knowing that Thy thoughts are higher than our thoughts, and that Thy works are infinitely greater than ours, yet on their lower plane our thoughts and works can be like Thine if we will to have them so. We pray for the power to will and to do Thy good pleasure.

For the blessings of health that are ours we thank Thee. For work to do that which if rightly done will benefit many we thank Thee.

For loved ones and friends who add to the joy of living we give Thee thanks.

We pray for those of our number who are laid aside by sickness. Restore them to service if it be Thy will. For the officers of our armed forces, and for all men and women serving under them, we pray. Give to all wisdom, courage and strength until the day of victory; and may that day be hastened. In Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have a bill here prepared which I would like to briefly discuss to acquaint my colleagues with its nature. This bill provides for an increase in salaries for all members of the Legislature. Up until now, as we all know, we are receiving $3,000 per biennium, which seems to be very unfair; one, the salary is small; two, the $3,000 we receive must be used in the year in which we receive it and that puts all of us naturally in a higher income bracket. It should be divided into a two-year period.

Under this proposed act we would receive the sum of $4,800 per biennium, or $200 a month, the first $2,400 payable at $400 per month throughout the regular session, the entire $2,400 being paid by the last day of the regular session, the remaining $2,400 to be paid at the rate of $200 a month on the first day of each month the year we are not in session; for special sessions in addition there will be $500 and $750, as is now upon our statutes.

The balance of the law remains as written. I bring this to your attention so my colleagues may have first hand facts and I am sure the bill will not lie long in committee.

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 196, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 579), entitled "An act to fix the salary and mileage of the members of the General Assembly, and to provide for the furnishing of such postage, stationery, and supplies, as may be necessary for the conduct of their offices, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," by increasing the compensation of members of the General Assembly.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. EALY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 197, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Bureau of Colored Children, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HOLLAND. In presenting this bill I believe a few words of explanation are necessary. We in Allegheny county have had a very peculiar condition existing over a period of years. During the nineties a number of companies were formed by promoters who rushed by devious means into councils and secured franchises for the use of the streets for transportation. These franchises were given to hundreds of underliers in Allegheny county, but today we have them down to 52 underliers, which the Pittsburgh Railway Company consists of.

In the last 42 years the Pittsburgh Railway Company has lost $32,000,000 and while they were losing $32,000,000 these underliers collected $20,000,980 for pieces of paper for the use of our streets, the right to which belongs to the people of Pittsburgh and the surrounding communities. They have the use of the streets through leases of 999 years, with the result that we of Allegheny county will never have a decent or paying street car system working.

These people who have these franchises do not pay to the city of Pittsburgh or the boroughs and townships one cent for the use of the streets, although they bought these franchises in the market. The Pittsburgh Railway Company receives large incomes, as high as $2,500,000 a year.

In presenting this bill I am giving the right to the local municipalities to tax the income received by the underliers for the use of our streets, because at least the streets belong to the people and the people should be paid for the use of the streets.

Mr. HOLLAND read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 201, entitled:

An Act imposing a tax for city, borough, incorporated town or township purposes on the gross amount of rents or other consideration received by passenger railway companies for the use of their tracks and rights to use any streets, highways, or bridges upon which they have laid no tracks, by other passenger railway companies operating transportation facilities thereon; providing for the assessment and collection of such tax; imposing duties on the Department of Internal Affairs; and prescribing penalties.

Mr. DENT, on behalf of Mr. GOURLEY and himself, read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 202, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 192), entitled "An act authorizing women who have been divorced from the bonds of matrimony to retake and use their maiden names; and making certified copies of their election evidence in all cases," providing that such women may take the name they bore at the time of marriage dissolved by the divorce.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

They also read in their place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 203, entitled:

An Act to amend section one and to add section seven-point four to the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1625), entitled "An act providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a county employees retirement system in counties of the third class; and imposing certain charges on counties," making per diem employees eligible to join the retirement system.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. HEYBURN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 204, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections seven and thirteen of the act approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 252), entitled, as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the traffic in malt and brewed beverages, as herein defined; providing for the licensing of the manufacture, transportation, sale and distribution of such beverages; imposing license and permit fees, and providing for collection and distribution thereof; restricting ownership and interest in licensed places; permitting municipalities and townships, by vote of the electors, to prevent the licensing therein of places where such beverages may be sold for consumption on the premises, and regulating elections for this purpose; imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, quarter sessions courts, district attorneys, the Department of Justice, proper authorities of political subdivisions of the State and election officers; providing penalties; and repealing existing acts," by providing for appeals to the Superior Court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 205, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections thirteen and fifteen of the act approved the nineteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred twenty-six (P. L. 16), entitled, as amended "An act regulating, under permit, through the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, the manufacture, production, distillation, development, use in manufacture, denaturization, redistillation, rectification, blending, recovery, reuse, holding in bond, holding in storage by bailees for hire, and transportation for hire, of any alcohol, alcoholic liquid or alcoholic beverage, by certain persons; requiring the registration of Federal permits; also providing for fees and the disposition thereof, and for appeals to the courts; also authorizing the inspection of the records of permittees and purchasers of said alcohol, alcoholic liquid, and alcoholic beverages; also declaring certain places nuisances and providing for their abatement; also providing penalties; and also repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act," by providing for appeals to the Superior Court and changing the method of determining certain license fees.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 206, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections four hundred four, four hundred eight and four hundred ten of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15 1933-34), entitled, as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale, manufacture, possession, transportation, importation, traffic in, and use of alcohol, and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State government, courts, and district attorneys, authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses, subject to local option, to sell such beverage for consumption on and off the premises; forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in, connection with, and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others; providing for the forfeiture of certain property; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees; and imposing penalties," by providing for appeals to the Superior Court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of information.

Mr. MALLERY. Possibly the chairman of the Committee on Law and Order would prefer to speak for himself but it would seem to me that these bills should properly be referred to the Committee on Law and Order, inasmuch as they appertain to licensing.

The PRESIDENT. Specifically, Senator Mallery, the bills appertain to appeals to the Superior Court and it seems to the Chair the Committee on Judiciary General is especially qualified to cover that subject.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, in 1834 the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania created a public system of education in Pennsylvania. Since that time we have constantly passed a legislative pattern until today it may be likened to a pair of pants that has been so patched that nothing of the original garment remains and the pants are badly breaking at the seams. I am satisfied that the time has come in this Commonwealth when we must have a completely new system of education and no more patchwork.

In 1933 the Legislature set up a legislative commission to study public school education in Pennsylvania. Last week this commission laid on the desks of the Members of the Legislature their first report. I personally feel that if nothing comes from this commission other than the fact that they have demonstrated in their first report the serious defects which exist today in our public school system that they have done an excellent job. Perhaps we can not agree entirely with their recommendations for change in this system, but they are at least unique and the product of very careful study.

During the past week the Members of the Legislature have received a communication from the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania. One of the recommendations that this Association makes is that we reduce the number of State Teachers' Colleges in Pennsylvania from fourteen to six.

As I recall, in the last Regular Session of the Legislature Senator Holland introduced a bill to completely end the life of teachers' training schools in Pennsylvania. As far as I know no study has been made of teachers' training schools in Pennsylvania. They were originally established because, as a part of any proper educational system, we realized that we must have teachers who were properly trained. I personally feel very warm to the teacher training colleges, I think they have done an excellent job, but perhaps we have too many, perhaps there should be a reduction, perhaps there should be a change in the curricula which they teach.

So I have here a resolution, which I am presenting at this time, requesting the legislative commission for the purpose of studying education to make a survey of the State Teachers' Colleges of Pennsylvania and to report their findings to this Legislature.

I want it distinctly understood that my purpose in introducing this resolution is not an attack on the State Teachers' Colleges of the state. I personally feel that the members of this Legislature realize that in this period of greatest productivity and greatest income in the history of this Commonwealth that we are in a position to make radical changes in our education system and I know that the Members of this Legislature realize that after this war is over we are going to be confronted with tremendous and grave economic and social problems. What those problems will be none of us know, but I do know one of the most important institutions we have in America is our public school system.

I am introducing this resolution in order to have afforded to the Members of the Senate an opportunity to vote on it intelligently and therefore I am moving that it be laid on the table so that I later may bring it up for action on the part of the Senate.

I present the following resolution and move that it be laid on the table.

RESOLUTIONS

STATE TEACHERS' COLLEGES

Mr. COX offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, January 29, 1945.

Whereas, The Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania, in its Legislative Program of Proposals for the Improvement of Education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has gone on record as believing that the teacher training program of the Commonwealth is in need of consolidation and strengthening, and proposes that this be accomplished by consolidating the fourteen State Teachers' Colleges into six, and that these six be made pre-eminent among teacher training institutions in the country, and further that the remaining eight institutions be used for other public needs not now adequately provided for; and

Whereas, Similar proposals have been made from time to time in the past by individuals and organizations interested in the training of teachers at public expense, and in the use of the facilities of a number of the State Teachers' Colleges for needed vocational training; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Commission to study the methods of maintaining and supporting public schools, and the method of participation by the Commonwealth and local school districts in the maintenance of a thorough and efficient public school system, created by the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 635), is hereby requested to investigate and report to the Senate, before the end of the present legislative session, (1) the need for continuance of the fourteen State Teachers' Colleges as such, (2) the desirability, both from the standpoint of economy and of raising the standards of teacher training, of consolidating the present number of such institutions into a more limited number, and (3) the need for and the practicability of using the facilities of present State Teachers' Colleges for schools of vocational training; and be it

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Chairman of said Commission.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree that the resolution be laid on the table?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, at the request of the Majority Leader, I withdraw my motion to have this resolution laid on the table and request that it be referred to the Committee on Education.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Education.

MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 29, 1945.

The usual amount of snow precipitated upon the highways of the Commonwealth during this new year has made them almost impassable at some places and thousands of owners and drivers of motor vehicles have been unable to operate them for many weeks.

Not only have the owners and drivers of motor vehicles been unable to operate them, but persons riding in automobiles owned by others in order to reach their places of employment, have been kept at home and the war effort has been delayed.

Mechanics employed at official motor vehicle inspection stations have been unable to get to work and the testing of such vehicles as required by law has been effort has been delayed.

The last day for the inspection of motor vehicles is January 31st, and those not then bearing the official inspection tag for the coming period will not be permitted to travel on the highways of the Commonwealth.

Due to the unprecedented weather conditions, thousands of automobiles will, on February 1st, remain uninspected, and those trying to operate them will be law violators and liable to arrest.

Failure to operate them will keep thousands of workers at home and materially slow up the war effort; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly hereby requests the Secretary of Revenue to immediately issue an announcement assuring operators of motor vehicles that no arrests will be made for driving a motor vehicle that has not been inspected before February 1st, and calling upon law enforcement officers throughout the Commonwealth to co-operate in saving harmless those who have been unable to comply with the law, and to continue in such cooperation until March 1, 1945; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall forward a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of Revenue of the Commonwealth immediately, upon the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN: Before I present the following resolution, I desire to read a statement prepared by myself and Senator Holland, my co-sponsor.

Generally, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is without authority to delegate its powers. However, with respect to utilities, its control, supervision and rate-making, the exception is the rule. The delegated powers are now assumed by the Public Utility Commission. I may say, parenthetically, delegation of powers does not in any sense connote abdication or surrender of its powers. The P.U.C. in short is our agent and as such should do our bidding commensurate with the law, common sense and good judgment. It is the duty of the Commission to protect the consumer as well as the investor, but when the majority of the Commission renders an opinion strictly in favor of the investor and the Utility without any regard for the rights of the consumer, it is time to call a halt and ask for a close examination of the records and the reasons and inquire into the possible motives underlying the opinion on which the order was made.

I am cognizant of the activities of pressure groups, particularly the utility groups, and if I may digress for a moment, they flood the legislative halls, curry favor with the legislators, and in their cute ways attempt to influence us against our better judgment. There is now a strong pressure group working feverishly to prevent the passage of stream clearance and anti-pollution bills, and unless we get down to brass tacks, they bid fair to succeed. The Utility group, however, is the worst of the lot. As a matter of fact, they have the most powerful lobby in the United States. Money is no object, and they spend without limitations. I am sure you are not unmindful of the fact that the consumers foot the bills in the long run in the form of increased rates. The influence wielded by them is tremendous, but to me they represent sore spots in our American system. They are cancerous growths, multiplying daily, and gradually eating away our vitals. I agree with Governor Martin who recently stated that we should ignore pressure groups. I hope he is sincere, and he himself will not succumb to their requests concerning legislation favorable to the interests of the tax-payer, and inimical to the interests of the pressure groups. I believe they all should be yanked out, and forcibly so. They won't listen to reason. You can't insult them. They are determined to accomplish their ends, either by hook or crook. We are, presumably, intelligent men and I am sure we can get along without them. Needless to say, they attempt to dictate legislation, appointments, and the decisions of boards representing the State Government. Nobody will deny that. To what extent they recently influenced the P. U. C., if at all, I am not prepared to say.

In a recent decision (Robert Pfeifle and the P.U.C. vs. P.P.L.C.C.) the P.U.C. dismissed proceedings instituted in 1933 by Mayor of Bethlehem and joined in by the Commission in 1935. Yes, believe it or not this rate proceeding took 11 years. Very short time in one's life, and still shorter in the life of a utility. Man passes on and the utility still goes on. The majority opinion, on which the order was based, resulted in the consumer being sold short. Certainly the majority ignored the rights of the consumer who always pays and continues to pay, and what is more important, has given the green light to the P.P.L. to increase their rates at a time when they are earning more than ever before in the history of the Utility. Sounds like a travesty of justice to me. The majority opinion smelled so bad that it left a stench in the nostrils of Commissioner Morgul, and he for the first time, at least within my memory, filed a dissenting opinion. For the information of the Senate, Commissioner Buchanan also filed a dissenting opinion. Who is better qualified than Commissioner Morgul who has been with the Commission for many years before they took office and since. Commissioner Morgul has made Public Utilities his life study. Yes, Commissioners Morgul and Buchanan are at a loss to explain or understand the majority opinion. The P.P.L., headed by John Wise, understands. He scored another victory. To paraphrase it, there is another notch in his gun (another killing at the expense of the consumer or ratepayer).

In my opinion, and for your information, the majority opinion is vague and indefinite in spots, and values arbitrarily fixed without any basis therefor; have included items of expense to make up the rate base which have no place there. I have specifically in mind, excess profits tax and the financing of preferred stock. In arriving at a rate-base, the majority has ignored the present utility laws and instead used concepts now outmoded. The majority ignored the testimony of its own witnesses and in a measure gave credence to the Company's witnesses. The P.P.L. was not straightforward and honest in many matters concerning its financial structure. They did little or nothing to help the Commission unravel problems concerning their activities. Everything possible was done to increase or build up the fair value of the Utility property. Small wonder it is.

It stands to reason that the higher the value, the greater the return to the Company allowing it a fair return on its property, but in order to realize a greater return, the rates must necessarily be raised. That is exactly what the consumers in 28 counties in the State now face, notwithstanding the fact that the company is now enjoying peak prosperity and paying millions of dollars in excess profits tax to the government.

Members of the Senate, I have before me a copy of the majority and minority opinions. They are rather lengthy and I do not intend to read them to you. Time and your patience will not permit. However, I invite close inspection of them. They speak for themselves.

Mr. President, the present order of the Commission not only nullifies previous rates reductions but opens the door for future increases of about 16% on the basis of to-day's business and of 30% on the basis of 1937 operation at the will of the P.P.L. Co.

To-day their rates are practically the highest in the United States. Knowing Mr. Wise as I do, you may expect rate increases very shortly. His job is to perpetuate himself first with the parent Company and then the P.P.L. He has succeeded very well at the expense of the rate-payer. He is in himself an all powerful lobby, always hindering or at least trying to hinder and block legislation favorable to the consumer. The ground of the utilities is holy, and no one dare to tread on it. I can recall very vividly how he tried to ruin Rural Electrification as sponsored by the government, although it afforded no competition to the utilities. Millions of farmers under the R.E.A. for the first time enjoyed the advantages of electricity. Prior to the passage of the R.E.A. bill, his company either refused to furnish power to farmers on virgin territory or charged prohibitive rates making it impossible for them to buy it, and yet he attempted to prevent them from getting it elsewhere. I wonder why? On other occasions he was instrumental in blocking legislation that might affect existing utilities. Isn't it strange that every time a bill is introduced to erect and construct a dam across rivers, an amendment bearing the handwriting of the utility prohibits the use of the dam for the production of power. No competition is the by-word and pass-word. Isn't it much better for power to be produced and sold to consumers and eventually the State's investment will pay for itself. Of course competition, the utilities contend is ruinous. It is much better for them to have watered stock as happens to be the case with the P.P.L. and pay dividends on them. My friends, the records of the P.P.L. and its parent company are bad. I suggest you read them and decide for yourselves. There are others equally bad, and it is unfortunate that Pennsylvania is a backward state with respect to utility growth. We have not as yet seen the light of day. The Utilities run rampant, enjoying monopolies that tend to destroy free enterprise and competition. In Philadelphia, the U.G.I., a holding Company, controls, manages and supervises the Electric Co. and the Gas Works. Both products are competitive, but on account of the monopolistic tendencies of the parent company, there is no competition and the consumer is compelled to pay high rates for both products. Also in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Transportation Co. enjoys a monopoly giving at the present time very poor, inefficient service and unsafe at a time when it is needed most. This particular Company has imposed on the public for years. They have assumed a public be damned attitude. You can't use your automobiles. You need us. Take what we give you or else. These are glaring examples of the Utilities' failure to furnish adequate service at reasonable rates. Yet nothing is done by the P.U.C. To correct the situation, I dare say competition is needed. Wherever we have it between utilities the service is adequate and the rates lower. As illustrations, may I cite the competition between gas companies in the City of Cleveland, and the rates are comparatively low. In the region of the T.V.A., where the Government is producing and selling power, private utilities objected, contending that competition was ruinous and destructive. The matter was taken to court; the private utilities lost their cases, and immediately the Georgia Power & Light and the Alabama P. & L. reduced their rates to meet competition. As a result these private utilities sold more electricity and earned considerable money, and for the first time paid dividends. I say to the Utilities, don't complain that the government is destroying free enterprise, maintaining a beaurocracy and forcing regimentation. In this particular respect the government is a piker when compared with you.

Regulation, however, is needed and it has been found wanting in Pennsylvania. Much work has to be done to ferret out and remove the evils that have crept into our Utility system. It will take men of courage, vision and independent thought, untrammelled. The company, I have so often referred to, requires close investigation. I have in mind the P.P.L. Frankly, I doubt whether our present Commission can undertake the task in question. It is gigantic, and the present Commission is not equal to the occasion. How the P.U.C. arrived at its present order, I am at a loss to say. However, I was taken aback upon learning of it. Knowing the history of the P.P.L., the majority should have been on guard. To make matters worse, they played right into their hands. I can't accuse the Majority Commissioner of connivance with the P.P.L., but frankly it appears to me there is something rotten in Denmark.

The Commissioners are legislative appointees. I honestly feel that the Commissioners who wrote the majority opinion have failed in their duty to the consumer, and certainly have failed the Legislature that has given them life, and having thus failed, they ought to resign and pave the way for Commissioners who will truly represent the Legislature.

The Legislature can and must force them to resign, in the event they refuse.

In the meanwhile, Senator Holland and myself are introducing this resolution to give the Commission an opportunity to purge itself.

DECISIONS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION

Mr. JASPAN on behalf of Mr. HOLLAND and himself offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 29, 1945.

On January 3d, 1945, the Public Utily Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania handed down orders in the case of Robert Pfeifle, Mayor of the City of Bethlehem v. Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission v. The Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

These orders dismissed complaints made to existing rates charged by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company in the City of Bethlehem, and surrounding communities, and will become effective within thirty days if no exceptions are filed thereto.

The decision of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission in these cases is purely a utility decision, and is not based on evidence adduced before the Commission, but is purely arbitrary. It is a decision which has neglected the rights of the consumer; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Public Utility Commission is hereby requested to appear before the Senate Committee on Public Utilities at as early a date as convenient, to explain to the members of the committee its reasons for, and an explanation of, the decision made in these cases; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately forwarded by the Secretary of the Senate to the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

An Act authorizing the Secretary of Revenue to issue one registration plate for motor vehicles during the present war and for a period of not longer than two years thereafter and making it lawful to operate a motor vehicle with only one registration plate attached thereto as provided herein

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, within the past ten days the American people have been reading a great deal about the selection of a man to be a member of the President's cabinet in Washington. Some of you may wonder what business that matter may have upon the floor of the Senate of Pennsylvania. It so happens that the fight in the Senate of the United States directly affects every American citizen; it is one that is fraught with great danger to the future peace and security of these United States.

A small group of men representing one philosophy of government are determined that no person who represents the majority opinion of the people of these United States shall be permitted to sit in the cabinet of a liberal president of this nation.

President Roosevelt, in order that he would not in any way hinder the progress of the war or the talks that may come about the peace, named as his Secretary of State a man who represents one philosophy of government. This man later named as his assistants six men who also represent that philosophy of government.

The individuals in the United States who won the election began to wonder where they came into the picture. This same group, representing this philosophy, have without a question of doubt control over a majority, a vast majority of the agencies that disseminate news and create opinion in this land of ours.

These agencies succeeded in the June convention of the Democratic Party in setting aside the man who should have succeeded himself as the vice-president of the United States. No deed of his disqualified him, no statement of his disqualified him, if we are to accept his statements, and in the light of the past history of these United States.

Men who stand forth looking into the future and seeing something good for all people, have always been ridiculed by that few who are the loudest in America, the richest in America, the most influential.

We can go back through our histories and find that only these same men, who, like Henry Wallace, had been accused in their time of being visionary, are the men who have withstood the ravages of time and have come through as the outstanding figures in American history.

Before a committee of the United States Senate the lame excuse was given that Henry Wallace was not qualified to be the Secretary of Commerce. What a ridiculous position to put the American people in, in the eyes of the world a man who had been elected to the second highest office in the land, a man who stood ready at any time, at any time that fate intervened, to take the position of the presidency of these United States, and now this little group of wilfull men stand up and say this man is not qualified to serve in a cabinet position. Why, you men in the Senate know what cabinet officers are made up of—we need not go into that—they are made out of political friends, politicians, men who have contributed a great deal to the party cause. There is no need for this group in the Senate of the United States to try to tell the average American citizen that a cabinet officer has to be an outstanding individual, one blessed with superior intelligence. It is my humble opinion that all a man needs to serve this nation of ours, and this democracy, is integrity, honesty and sincerity of purpose. No man as yet has accused Henry Wallace of lacking any one or all three of those qualifications.

I stand up because I can see the handwriting on the wall in the halls of the Senate. These same men are beginning now to set the stage in order that they may sabotage the peace movement when it comes, when the war is over; the tingling peals of victory are already being heard everywhere sounded, with this propaganda, and so they are now sitting around their small tables, in small groups, deciding what shall and shall not be written into the peace.

These same men do not want the men of the United States—who are today spilling their blood in order that you and I may live in freedom and peace, they do not want them to come home to a prosperous and generous nation; they want them to come back to the same job-line they found after the last great debacle when the war ended in 1918.

This man Wallace stands today shoulders above any other man in America, in his proposals for the returning men who are dying for us. This man Wallace stands for all that can not be ridiculed or laughed at by the big chain newspapers, by the utility controlled Senators in the Committee of Commerce in the United States Senate. This man can not be laughed from the pages of history, because what he stands for is what democracy stands for. What he stands for is what the common people of this nation need and what the common people of this nation believe in.

This man Wallace should not be made the goat because they despise and hate Roosevelt to such an extent that any chance they get to inflict little wounds they will do so, even if in so doing they must crucify a decent honorable man, one who has given his time in the service of these United States of ours.

When they speak of qualifications for loaning money, did you all know that in 1940 Henry Wallace loaned a billion five hundred million dollars to three hundred thousand small farmers in the United States of America and that his rate of return upon the loans was 81 per cent, and that all the loans that were ever made by Jesse James Jones were $450 million dollars, and he loaned it to thirteen hundred bankers and individual industrialists and industrial concerns, and his rate of return was 76 per cent?

Qualifications? What kind of qualifications? I will tell you the kind of qualifications they are afraid of. They are afraid when the war is over and we have upon our hands one hundred billion dollars of surplus war goods and war factories, that this man Wallace will insist that they be used for the common good of the common people, and that Jesse Jones and his group of Bourbons will insist that they be used for the common good of a few people in America.

We are interested in the returning soldier and the war worker of today. We are interested in a post-war world operated so that they shall have jobs to go to, that they shall have work for their hands, that they shall have food for their stomachs, that they shall have clothes for their backs and that they shall have shelter for their children. We are interested in that and no man in America today stands for a program such as that, more foursquare than Henry Wallace, who is being publicized around the country today as a visionary—an honest to God dirt farmer from Iowa, that is what he is—and they say he does not know anything about business. Any man that can sell four million dollars worth of seed corn is a pretty good business man, and I don't intend to be corny.

I say to all of you here, that this man lacks no qualifications and has all the ability for the job. He has all the ability that is required of any individual. But this group in the Senate is afflicted by a devastating disease in the Senate of the United States, a disease that may well mean the kiss of death to the aspirations of millions of American boys, a disease that will, if left go, eventually suck the life blood out of this American democracy of ours, a disease that I believe I am correct in terming a Bourbonic plague.

PRAYER

O Lord, we come to Thee in days when swift tragedy abounds, when worlds are shaking as before judgments, when civilization itself is tottering, when in the balances of God so many are being weighed and found wanting, when the realities which make life worth living are facing quick destruction.

Make our lives real, pure and good. Cleanse us from all that is sordid and mean, low and impure, all that is displeasing to Thee. Give us great ambition sanctified by dedication to Thee.

Seal our purpose, O Lord, with Thy benediction. For we know that to us has come the choice of eternal destinies. Lead us to choose aright—through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS

NATIONAL FREEDOM DAY

Mr. SALUS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

The seventy-ninth anniversary of the proclamation of the Secretary of State of the United States, adding the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, occurs on Thursday, February 1st.

That amendment stated: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

That amendment supplemented the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln freeing the slaves and made real freedom the supreme law of the country.

Our proud boast that this was the "land of the free and the home of the brave" was made real and hypocrisy ceased.

For the negro it meant a new life and brought within his reach that equality of opportunity which had been theretofore only a dream.

In this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it only emphasized what had always been the law, for here, due to the wise and benevolent counsel of William Penn, slavery had never been recognized and here the negro enjoyed a freedom that was strange to those of his race in other sections of the country.

The proclamation of the Secretary of State on February 1st, 1866, was our "National Freedom Day," and the importance of that proclamation compels the observance of it by the people of the nation, therefore be it

Resolved, by the members of the House of Representatives, that it feels that the occasion of the adding of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution is one that deserves national observation in order to bring home to the American people, and especially to those it personally benefited and enriched, a new conception of the wonderful privileges and blessings it had brought to them, and be it further

Resolved, That this House requests the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States to urge and to assist in the passage of Senate Joint Resolution 153 now pending in the Congress and which requests the President to proclaim February 1st as "National Freedom Day," and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to each Senator in the Congress of the United States from Pennsylvania and to each member of the House of Representatives thereof.

The SPEAKER. The resolution lies over for printing under the Rules.

ELECTRIC ROLL CALL SYSTEM

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr., offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

A committee on the revision of the Rules of the House has been making a study of the question of the tedious procedure incident to the taking of roll calls, and the verification of rolls in the House in order to avoid the confusion usually arising therefrom.

The calling of the rolls in the manner which has been practiced in the House of Representatives for many years consumes much time. It is estimated that each roll call requires approximately seven minutes. During the Session of 1943, there were 823 roll calls in the House, which would mean that almost 6,000 minutes, or 100 hours were consumed in the calling of the roll.

As a result of the information obtained as to the time spent by using the present system, and with its knowledge of the confusion attendant upon roll calls, the committee is unanimous in its recommendation that an investigation of the electrical roll call system be made; therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five Members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker, for the purpose of making an investigation of the electric roll call system, is hereby created. It shall be the duty of the committee to make a thorough investigation of the feasibility of such a system by inquiry and by investigation of systems now in operation in other states, and to report the results of such investigation, together with its recommendations, to this House on or before March 1st, 1945; and be it further

Resolved, That the expenses incurred by the committee in making this investigation shall be paid by the Chief Clerk of the House out of his fund for incidental expenses.

ADDITIONAL SPONSOR

Mr. EWING asked and obtained unanimous consent to add an additional sponsor to a resolution.

EXTENSION OF MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION PERIOD

Messrs. EWING, HAUDENSHIELD and DALRYMPLE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House. The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

The unusual fall of snow in Western Pennsylvania has brought severe damage to thousands of farmers and other workers. Roads have been blockaded, bridges have been closed and travel has been brought to a standstill.

Days have been spent by those who need open highways, to open those highways in order that they could arrive at the places in which they work.

The war effort has been severely lessened and production has been greatly reduced.

To add to the burden and hardship placed upon these people who have been kept from their work, it is suddenly brought to their attention that Wednesday, the thirty-first day of January, is the dead line for the inspection of their automobiles—their sole means of transportation to and from work.

The delay in the bringing of automobiles into the testing stations, caused by the impassable roads, has created a bottle neck which will make impossible the testing of thousands of vehicles.

The use of such vehicles on the highways after Wednesday will be illegal and their non-use will greatly impede the war effort; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Secretary of Revenue to direct the members of the Pennsylvania State Police to refrain from making arrests for the operation of uninspected motor vehicles on the highways until March 1, 1945; to announce to the public that no arrests will be made and to request all other law enforcement officers within the Commonwealth to cooperate with the State Police in avoiding such arrests; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall transmit a copy of this Resolution to the Secretary of Revenue immediately upon the concurrence of the Senate thereon.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will lie over for printing under the Rules.

EXTENSION OF MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION PERIOD

Mr. BENTLEY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

The unprecedented snow fall which has closed many of the important roads within the Commonwealth, and made impassable more of the less important roads leading to official motor vehicle inspection stations in the Commonwealth.

The date fixed by law for the expiration of the present inspection period is January 31st, and a new inspection sticker will be required to be affixed to every windshield before any person will be able to operate a motor vehicle on or after February 1, 1945.

The failure of drivers of motor vehicles to have their automobiles inspected, in many cases was caused by inability to get to an inspection station or by reason of the fact that the unusual weather conditions resulted in unusual work which made impossible the making of a trip to such inspection station.

Residents of rural communities will suffer a real hardship if they are not permitted to operate their automobiles for even one day after February 1st, and war workers will be prevented from doing their bit to turn out essential war material. Enforcement of the law will jeopardize the war effort by aggravating the critical transportation crisis therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby requests the Secretary of Revenue to publicly announce an extension of the expiration date for the inspection of motor vehicles for an additional period of thirty days, and to call upon law enforcement officers throughout the Commonwealth to cooperate with the Department in not causing additional hardships for those already severely injured by the unusual weather conditions; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk and the Secretary of the Senate to the Secretary of Revenue.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask for unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I object to giving unanimous consent. I spoke to the gentleman from Allegheny, and a similar resolution was presented by three Members on this side of the House and it was filed with the clerk, and will go through the regular procedure. I would therefore have to object to unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution lies over for printing under the Rules.

COMMITTEE REPORT

Mr. SOLLENBERGER from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 105.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

February 1, 1945, marks the seventy-ninth anniversary of the proclamation of the Secretary of State of the United States, adding the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

That amendment provided that: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

Thus ended slavery and an end was put to the controversy that had divided the nation and brought on the Civil War.

It made the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, freeing the slaves, a part of the Federal Constitution.

It made our country free in fact and wrote into the words "all men are created free and equal," the meaning that had theretofore never been recognized throughout the nation.

It marked the end of the slavery that had been the lot of the negro, and the beginning of his long fight for equal rights.

It set up as the law of the nation what had always been the law of Pennsylvania, for in this State slavery had never been recognized or practiced and here the negro was assured of his place in the sun of his privilege at the election polls.

It guaranteed to the man of color that same equality of opportunity that was the heritage of the white man, and the rapid advancement of the negro since that time is the best evidence of his natural right to that heritage.

The day that marked the issuance of that proclamation was our "National Freedom Day" and one well worth our yearly celebration, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby designates February first of each year as "National Freedom Day" and recommends its observance as the day upon which this nation granted to all within its confines, full freedom and equal liberty; the day when it proudly lifted its head among the nations of the world and became in fact the citadel of liberty, and be it further

Resolved that His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby requested to issue his proclamation naming February first as "National Freedom Day" and calling for its observance in the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the gentleman state what committee was reporting the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. SPEAKER, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, if you will pardon my indulgence in some ancient history, first may I state that as a lad I used to have a habit of sitting out on the front porch almost every evening, and usually on Friday nights there was a confectioner's wagon getting through with its day's work which used to pass our street almost at the same time every night. There was nothing to attract attention outside of the horse which seemed so tired except a legend on the back of this confectionery wagon which read "Something new every day."

I have attended sessions in this hall for the past eight years and two months, both man and boy, and I must confess today that I found out something that I had not heard of before. It is a somewhat serious matter, Mr. Speaker, because it has to do with the matter of economy in bills, and a matter of possible favoritism or with an advantage that possibly some Members might have over other Members, although I am certain that no Member of this House has any advantage over any other Member in this respect.

I have reference, Mr. Speaker, to a matter that was called to my attention in the past week or ten days by Members on this side of the House, when asking for copies of bills that had been introduced and printed they were unable to get copies of them.

I do know there are certain accredited agencies and certain accredited organizations throughout the Commonwealth, both public and private, who do receive copies of all bills. In fact, I believe Members of this House are permitted to request such bills to be sent to certain groups of individuals or individuals or agencies where there is need.

I know I have in the past very rarely availed myself of this privilege, and I believe at this session I have only asked that one organization receive copies of bills introduced and printed in this House.

I am not prepared, nor will I make any accusation because I refuse to make an accusation unless I have the facts to prove that they are so beyond a reasonable doubt, but I have heard more than one rumor from reliable sources, that one of the possible reasons for lack of bills for distribution to Members is that certain groups ask for batches of these bills, which are obtained and paid for by persons not otherwise entitled to them, and used for their own selfish purposes, for which I am sure this House never intended the Bills to be printed.

I think, Mr. Speaker, that this House should put itself on record in asking the Chief Clerk, not in the way of criticism of him, because I do not believe that the fault lies there, but to strengthen the Chief Clerk's position to see that bills do not get into the hands of persons who should not get them.

As the story goes the bills are sold to people on the outside and sold to people who cannot get copies otherwise. I think something ought to be done, checking up on the system, to make certain that bills are available for accredited agencies and organizations throughout the te and made available to Members of this House. I think that possibly some unofficial inquiry and possibly an unofficial report to the proper officers of this House ought to be made as soon as possible to take precautions to make certain that bills do not go astray in the future. The SPEAKER. The Chief Clerk has informed the Chair that he has a complete record of all persons who received bills by mail, and all persons who received bills otherwise. He will be glad to show any Member of the House this complete record if it is desired at any time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a few remarks in behalf of about 50,000 employes in the western part of this State representing the United Electrical, Radio and Marine Workers of America. They have submitted to me a ten point program which I believe if adopted will prove very successful legislation here, and I believe it will also line up with the Governor's program as well as the minority program.

The winning of the war is our number one job today; the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can contribute most to our speedy and total triumph over the Axis by enlisting support to every phase of our war effort. This can best be done by strengthening within this State the democracy we are fighting for, strengthening the morale and health and working efficiency of our people, by strengthening our resources for Victory.

All groups within this Commonwealth have expressed their desire to win this war, the labor movement, the Governor of the Commonwealth as the leader of the majority in power, the leaders of the minority party, and the people as a whole, have pledged themselves to support the cause of Victory; and it is therefore resolved to secure this objective in the shortest possible time, and will require the carrying out of the following legislative program in this Commonwealth:

One. State aid in industrial areas, with full attention to mining communities, for health clinics through the Department of Health; for recreational facilities for war workers and their families as a contribution to production efficiency and morale; and to establish more child day centers or nurseries to enable maximum use of all available workers. Federal funds are available if the State takes initiative and assures administration of a program.

Two. Extension of our political democracy to ensure the right to vote to all citizens who have reached their eighteenth birthday. We are inducting eighteen-year-olds into our Army, and we can surely therefore grant them the franchise.

Three. No legislation designed to crack down on the working people and their unions; such legislation merely creates disunity, weakens our production drive, and is a fitting answer to the all-out effort being given by our war workers and their organizations.

Four. Maintain and extend our economic democracy as a bulwark for Victory; liberalize the Unemployment Compensation Law to include partial unemployment compensation, extension of benefit payments, increase in benefits, and reduction of the waiting period; improvement of the workmen's compensation legislation, to assure particularly employers' financial responsibility; an amendment to the Female Labor Act to provide that women shall receive equal pay for the same work as men, other measures in this direction include health insurance restoration of the Anti-Injunction Act and the Labor Relations Act to effectively outlaw company unions; pay increases for teachers and other public school employees and maintenance of an adequate educational budget; and action to remove humiliating provisions from present relief acts relating to public assistance.

Five. No return of the Department of Public Assistance financial burdens to the Counties. This measure would discriminate against those who require and will require this assistance, and create chaos in financing and administering a real public assistance program.

Six. Aggressive action by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in behalf of the working farmers, directed toward increasing agricultural production to win the war and assuring decent conditions to the small farmer. This must include State action for full use and pooling of machinery, state maintained repair stations, and fair distribution of repair parts; State action to assure enlargement of small farms for greater production, shifting farmers from poor to better lands where greater production can be secured, and state aid for low cost credit facilities for the farmers; State assistance for aid in marketing facilities for small producers, including transportation assistance where necessary; a State farm relief program for working farmers threatened by sheriff sales, mortgages, and other financial crises. Plans for maintaining the post war farm market by providing adequate security and continued employment; the plans for post war extension of rural electrification and co-operatives through State aid.

Seven. Vigorous action for legislation to assure American rights to national and religious minorities by outlawing discrimination in employment in war industry, public agencies, utilities, mines, and other enterprises, and legislation to make it illegal to include discriminatory references in advertising for employment.

Eight. A democratic State tax policy, which will further tap profits and assure revenues to carry out this program without imposing new burdens on the common people. Opposition to proposed large reduction in corporation taxes in these times of swollen profits, and opposition to efforts further to shift the tax burden to the common man; no sales tax.

Nine. Action against stream pollution to conserve the health and natural resources of our Commonwealth and to assure more easily available areas for Pennsylvania sportsmen; extension of flood control.

Ten. A comprehensive and adequate plan for post war security with a place in the budget for such planning; with attention to the problem of industrial workers, farmers, miners and the people as a whole.

The adoption of this program by the Legislature will assure the maximum mobilization of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, its people, and its resources, behind the effort of America, and the United Nations for a speedy Victory over the enemy.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I was wondering if the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, had asked leave of absence for his colleagues on the other side for tonight's session. I see so many vacant seats.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the request was made of the Minority Leader as to whether it was all right for the Democrats of Philadelphia to meet and celebrate their great and glorious victory at the recent election, and the minority leader very promptly said that it was all right, he would let the Democrats celebrate the victory yesterday while he prepared to celebrate the victory tomorrow, and I assure him we will all be there tomorrow.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, my interrogation to ask the gentleman from Cambria whether he had asked leave of absence for his colleagues, seeing so many vacant seats.

I do appreciate his kind words in saying we will have our celebration tomorrow, because I am most happy to join and cooperate with many of the men on the other side in celebrating the victory in Philadelphia tonight, because it has been a long time since they have had an opportunity to celebrate a victory of this kind, and according to the gentleman's remarks I do not believe he sees any great possibility in the near future for a similar celebration.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, that I haven't the slightest doubt that there are various Members on the other side that today have surveyed the depleted ranks on this side this evening and drew a sigh of relief that they were so scant.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 30, 1945.

The Senate met at three o'clock, p. m.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God who hast created us in Thine own image and sustained us by Thy grace throughout the years until this day, enable us by godly lives to express our gratitude.

We ask divine guidance in all matters to come before this body, and faith to believe that Thou art ready to give such guidance.

For Thy gift of life to us and for the responsibilities that come with the gift we give Thee thanks, and pray that we may be endowed with clear heads and pure hearts to meet the responsibilities. May we have the strength to be right and the character to do right under all conditions.

For our nation's welfare we pray. Give wisdom that is greater than man's to our law-makers. To those who are leading our armies and navies give the valor and courage that comes with the consciousness that they are battling for the right, and for a just and honorable victory.

Guide our President, our Governor, our Lieutenant-Governor in all their ways that tend toward a lasting peace. In the name of Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, on behalf of myself and my co-sponsor, the Senator from Westmoreland, Senator DENT, I am about to present to the Chair two bills.

With regard to this one bill that is co-sponsored, I would just like to say one word, so that inadvertently Senator Dent and I are not classified as taking sides on a controversial question.

The Act of 1855, which we are repealing by this proposed statute makes it a crime for an inn keeper, restaurant keeper or hotel keeper to permit the consumption of alcoholic products on his premises on Sunday, and the hotel keepers, as well as my co-sponsor and I, think that it is unfair to place that responsibility on the hotel keepers, to police all of the rooms, especially if we would happen to stay over the weekend here in Harrisburg, to see that alcoholic beverages are not consumed on the premises on Sunday. That is the purpose of this bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GOURLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, before introducing a bill I would like to make a brief statement.

We are all aware of the untiring efforts now being extended by service officers of our various veteran organizations, such as the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Those men work tirelessly and give of their time without financial remuneration, in an effort to assist any man or woman who is in the military service, or any veteran after his discharge. They also lend assistance in the preparation of forms and affidavits in order to comply with various state and federal regulations, in order to have claims properly filed. After they complete their work it is necessary that the form that is prepared be sworn to before a notary public, or some person qualified to administer an oath, and generally they have to send the person concerned to a notary public or other qualified person.

In a great many of the posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars the organizations have authorized taking from the treasury of the organization the necessary fee of $25 to make payment to the Commonwealth for the cost of the notarial commission. It is also necessary that there be withdrawn from the fund of the veteran's organization an amount sufficient to pay for the bond which must be filed.

It seems only fair to me, when a service officer make no charge for the help that he gives, that we should have such a provision in the law, whereby the service officer of any veteran's organization would be qualified to administer oaths, similar to a commanding officer of any man who is in active service, or confined to camp.

I have, therefore, prepared a bill which will authorize the Secretary of the Commonwealth to appoint a service officer, as a notary public limited, without any fee or charge being paid to the Commonwealth. That commission will be issued to a service officer as long as he acts in the capacity of service officer for the organization. He is allowed to make no charge, he is allowed to receive no fee for taking acknowledgments to any matter on paper which he might prepare or which might be brought to him for acknowledgment.

In substance, why should a chapter of the American Legion or the Veterans of Foreign Wars have to take from its treasury $35 to $40 in order to qualify their service officer as a notary public.

I, therefore, on behalf of myself and my colleagues Senator Mallery and Senator Cox, present to the Chair the following bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. GOURLEY, MALLERY and COX read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 223, entitled:

An Act providing that the service officer of each post and chapter of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled American Veterans of the World War shall be commissioned as Notary Public Limited, without the payment of any fee.

ties on political subdivisions and certain officers having taxes for collection and on county commissioners; providing for the discharge of tax liens where tax statements are not filed; and clarifying the provisions of said act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 226, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirty-one of the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CARR from the Committee on Forests and Waters Game and Fish, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Kephart on January 23, 1945, reported the same without amendment as follows:

OPEN SEASON FOR DOVES

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

Whereas, The hunting of doves was permitted last fall in twenty-six (26) States under Federal Migratory Bird Regulations, with seasons of varying lengths; and

Whereas, The neighboring States of Delaware and Maryland were among those in which dove hunting was permitted; and

Whereas, No hunting for doves has been permitted in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a number of years, notwithstanding the fact that large numbers of these birds are raised within the Commonwealth and migrate to the states south of us where they are hunted annually; therefore, be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby requests the Pennsylvania Game Commission to include in its migratory bird season recommendations to the United States Department of the Interior for the current year, that a 1945 open season for doves be declared for the counties lying in Southeastern Pennsylvania, on an experimental basis during the regular upland small game season; and be it further which was laid over for one day in accordance with the rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. One day in the summer of 1917 a student was reading in his room in Moscow. A stranger entered, laid a book on the table, and silently vanished. The cover of the book bore, in Russian the words from the 24th Chapter of Matthew, "He is near, he is hard by the door."

The student sensed the masterful irony of higher powers in the strange happening. They had sent him a silent message. He opened the book, and the voice of the demon spoke to him.

We—the demon always says “we”—shall create unrest, struggle and hate in the whole of Europe and thence in other continents. We shall at all times be in a position to call forth new disturbances at will, or to restore the old order.

We shall stulify, seduce and ruin youth.

We shall not stop at bribery, treachery or treason as long as they serve the realization of our plans.

Our watchword is force and hypocrisy.

We are the chosen. We are the true nien. Nature has destined us to dominate the whole world. We shall introduce an order of violence and all people will bow to our domination.

To the student it is not absurd. It sounds fantastic—but it is not a mere issue of lies. He turns back the pages and discovers all this accursed wisdom—all these diabolical plans were hatched out by a group of old Jews who met together in a back room in Basel, Switzerland, in 1897. The “demon”—aiming to devour the world—is a Jewish Club. It stands there in black and white.

Twenty years had passed before this knowledge found the right man and thus the Protocols of the Wise men of Zion (since to become so famous) fell into the hands of Alfred Rosenberg, later to be Hitler’s right hand man, and the material therein, he used throughout the world to arouse a religious hatred that brought murder and rape aimed at a religious class. The fury and tempo of the persecution has never been surpassed in the history of man.

But here are the true contents of the famous Protocols.

In 1860 a French lawyer by the name of Maurice Joly wrote a satire against Napoleon III, then Emperor of France. His work was published in Brussels in 1864 by A. Mertens and Son as an illegal propaganda pamphlet. It bore the title “A Dialogue in Hell between Machiavelli and Montesquieu—or the Politics of Machiavelli in the 19th Century by a Contemporary.”

The police of the French Emperor discovered him and he was sent to prison. His book was published in a second edition and then it was forgotten.

Joly, the author, saw Napoleon as a conspirator and a usurper. He saw him as a Nationalist and a Socialist, Democrat and tyrant, Pacifist and conqueror, Dictator by virtue of bayonets and plebscite; applauded by the masses whom he had politically raped.

Joly had written his book about Napoleon. Napoleon was the demon who would commit crimes and the people would admire him for it. However, poor Joly’s portrait of modern tyranny underwent a strange fate. After 30 years of oblivion its great day came. It was discovered by a group of Russian conspirators—not those conspiring for the people, but those who wished to make the Czar stronger and stronger.

These crafty agents, members of the Ochrana—the Czar’s secret police—wanted to frighten the Czar, drive him to bloodshed and to this end they persuaded him that the Jews of the whole world had devised a secret conspiracy to achieve domination first over Russia and then over the whole world.

Claims of this sort were not new, for in the 19th century the Jews had nearly everywhere—though not in Russia—achieved civil equality and thus were taking their place in modern society.

In 1868 a German, Herman Godsche, wrote a novel called “Biarritz.” In it 12 rabbis from all corners of the earth met in the Jewish cemetery in Prague, there they were supposed to set up a cry of satanic glee for through accursed gold Juda had conquered the world, bought kings and princes of the church, Juda is wallowing in vice and glory. The Ochrana Police, through General Ratchkovsky, using both Joly’s and Godsche’s stories proved there was a movement by substituting “We Jews” for the “Demon” in Joly’s satire on Napoleon and using Godsche’s story of the meeting of the 12 rabbis.

And so arose the movement called the Black Hundreds in Russia, whose chief activity was the bloody persecution of the Jews.

Their aim being to call attention to the Jews as the cause of all bad conditions and not the then ruling class.

Butmy, the leader of the Black Hundreds was the author of the book Rosenberg used to stir up the German people against the Jews.

Rosenberg believed in the secret session in the cemetery in Prague and the meeting in Basel.

When the Revolution in Russia started, Rosenberg remembered he was a German, he returned to his native city of Tallin, and according to Rosenberg, it was the Wise Men of Zion fomenting the Revolution in Russia. All the top leaders, according to him, were Jews. He accused Lenin of being a Jew, Rykov, Kalinin, Bucharin, all were Jews in his eyes.

Rosenberg joined the German conspirators in Thule against the Weimmar Republic and met Rudolph Hess. He brought with him the protocols of the Wise Men of Zion—The Nazi program from then on.

A certain Ludwig Miller published the protocols in German—edition followed edition—then to England—to America—to France—Poland—to Italy and even in Turkish and Arabian the protocols appeared.

The story of the circulation of the protocols of the Wise Men of Zion would seem to indicate the existance of an International network of secret connections and cooperating forces, the actual aims of which did not become known to the world until twenty years later—yes too late—for then Hitler’s hordes were on the march, first to divide—then destroy, to kill and to conquer.

These are the facts gentlemen—the true facts—and I felt it was time for such facts to be stated on the floor of the Senate.

Some may wonder why I have taken the time of this august body to give a history lesson—the answer is very simple.

Rosenberg’s lies have started to kindle flames of religious hatred right here in Harrisburg.

We all saw the smoke of religious and racial hatred during the past year in the presidential campaign and I understand some fuel for this smoke originated with some leading Pennsylvanians. We have seen the smoke at a distance with the Coughlin’s, the Dillings, the Pelleys, the Winrod’s, the Jerald K. Smith’s and all their ilk—that smoke was some distance away.

On January 22nd, there was issued a pamphlet entitled “The State News Service”—and right here in Harrisburg we saw flames leap from all the smoke—yes, gentlemen, of all places the Masonic Temple, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, is the address of this new service.

This particular pamphlet is No. 522 and two sections echo Hitler's complete program. Let me read it to you "JEWRY Inroads by Hebrews into Pennsylvania politics constitute the gravest problem facing the Republican Party, in the opinions of GOP overlords.

"There has been more comment and discussion on this point than on any other during the legislative session. No county or city leader has defended Jewish people in Republican ranks as worth a tinker's dam to their party.

"They are considered worthless as small time precinct leaders, unreliable as electors. Surveys of late election results in territories where the party is overmanned by clean-cut boys convince the GOP brasshats they should clean house, get rid of them without further debate. Their trail is marked by an endless series of double-crosses.

"SEMITES: The anti-Semitic sentiment hereabouts reached a crescendo last week. In legal parlance the outcome was a set-off.

"One of them (That Woman) went out of public office in which she has been firmly entrenched for many years.

"Another (Ted Rosenberg) was appointed by Martin as Auditor General to fill 3½ months of Ross' unexpired term.

"But the State's grasping Jews are relentless. They'll not settle for anything less than the best.

"Now they are launching a campaign to have Martin name Nochem S. Winnet, a Philadelphia municipal judge, to the Superior Court vacancy created by death of Judge Keller. His booster started clamoring at the gates before funeral services were held.

"Short in stature, long on brains, Winnet is best known in legal circles as 'No-see 'em Nochem.' As a Philadelphia jurist once put it when this attorney appeared before his bar of justice: 'I can hear you, but I can't see you.'

Now it is my impression that we Senators owe a certain debt to the founders of this country. Those men after careful study and deep thought saw fit to write "All men are created equal" in our Constitution. Yes gentlemen in our National Constitution "freedom of worship" is guaranteed to every American.

Just before taking the floor I was handed letter No. 23 of the State News Service, dated January 29, 1945. Let me read what appears in this week's letter.

"Exclusive. The Philadelphia Record ownership may soon pass into the hands of Joe Pew."

"From sources close to the Sunoco politico it is reported he has been quietly acquiring control of some of Dave Stern's financial obligations. When he has enough in and to swing the kind of deal he wants Pew will exert needed pressure to take over the New Deal sheet."

"For three months a story has persisted that Pew intended to launch a new Philadelphia A. M. newspaper, to buy the Daily News tabloid. That was expected to come about June 1.

"Pew, co-leader of Pennsylvania Republicanism, has two objectives in his newspaper publishing project:

"1. To give Philadelphia, and rest of the State, an upstanding, stalwart, crusading party organ on which he can depend. He doesn't trust the Inquirer farther than he can throw a tanker. That newspaper's all-out build-up of Martin, to exclusion of everybody else in GOP circles, has convinced Pew the Inquirer is a one-man, not a one-party promotion medium. He wants his own."

"2. Pew aims, too, to give Philadelphia a Christian morning newspaper. With Jewish interests controlling both A. M. papers (Record and Inquirer) he seeks gentile representation in the morning field. There will be an amicable working agreement between the Evening Bulletin and Pew's morning sheet."

As most Senators know, I may attack Joe Pew as a Republican but I will not agree to an attack on Joe Pew as an emissary of Hitler.

Here is the last: "Mopping-up. (This concerns us.) Now that the House has been satisfactorily fumigated and deodorized, interested persons have directed attention to a reported similar unsavory situation on the 'other side'—presumably the Senate. It will be looked into."

If we are to uphold our oath of office we cannot permit such insidious propoganda to be disseminated—propoganda that hurts or tends to hurt any groups of Americans—regardless of race, color or creed. Have we not learned a lesson from Nazi Germany?

Because of this I offer the following Resolution and ask that it be passed unanimously so that the people of Pennsylvania can see that the elected representatives of their State, great Pennsylvania, the cradle of Liberty—believes in tolerance—fair play and a true American Democracy.

RESOLUTIONS

INVESTIGATION OF "STATE NEWS SERVICE"

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, From almost under the dome of this Capitol there issues periodically a sheet under the caption of "State News Service, Masonic Temple, Harrisburg," of which one A. O. Vorse is the reputed writer and publisher; and

Whereas, This publication operated in conjunction with a reputed State Business and State Legislative Service is devoted primarily to a continuing tirade against the Jews as a race, and to inciting race and religious prejudices, patterend after the most scurrilous utterances of the arch-Jew baiter, Adolph Hitler; and

Whereas, Our Nation and its component Commonwealths, in particular the lands of Pennsylvania, have since their earliest settlement been dedicated to the principles of religious and racial tolerance, which are guaranteed to all of its people by the Federal and State constitutions; and

Whereas, While the constitutions likewise proclaim freedom of speech and of the press, such freedom cannot be converted into a license to incite blind hatreds and to preach the basic doctrines of our enemies; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate be instructed to conduct an investigation of the State News Service, The State Legislative Service and The State Business Service and its publisher, and report to the Senate its findings and recommendations; and that said committee is hereby given the authority of the Senate to bring before it for questioning, and to compel the attendance of A. O. Vorse, reputed publisher of the State News Service, and any other person, and any records, books and papers having any bearing on the subject under investigation.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOLLAND. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EALY. I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he means that this editor is connected with the state government?

Mr. HOLLAND. I hope I did not in any way give the impression that I thought he was. I would like to know what he is. Sometimes I think he may be referring to some of the men the F.B.I. are looking for. I do not think for a moment, and I am not trying to insinuate that he is connected in any way with the state government administration. I do not think anyone would after the attack he made on Pew.

Mr. EALY. I am wondering if we have authority to just call in anybody who has a public newspaper connection and ask him to explain.

Mr. HOLLAND. He advertises himself as a legislative news service and in his advertisement of a legislative news service he casts a slur and a reflection on this house.

Mr. EALY. If he is connected with any of the state departments I think we have a right properly to investigate him; I doubt if we can go further than that. It seems to me there is remedy in the courts. We are all in favor of toleration. If the Senator had offered a resolution expressing sentiments here of religious freedom and tolerance I think we all gladly would have gone along with that. The resolution is a little complicated and I doubt the wisdom of passing it without further consideration.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the only proper course we can take on the question is the fact that this person seems to predicate the sale of this scandal sheet of his upon knowing what is happening in the Senate of Pennsylvania and what is going to happen in the Senate of Pennsylvania and in the House of Representatives. He freely predicts in his sheet what we are going to do in the future. I think it becomes the duty of the Senate to find out how and where and when he gets his knowledge.

He also, as I understand it, represents certain clients throughout the state of Pennsylvania and receives printed bills, printed at the expense of the state of Pennsylvania, to send out through his own private channels, and he charges money for those bills. We must know whether or not we are expending state moneys for private purposes. That is reason enough for the Senate of Pennsylvania to demand that this man present himself before the Senate of Pennsylvania and explain to us where and why and how he gets the power he claims to have.

Mr. BARR. I think, perhaps, Mr. President, in order that we may have opportunity to further study this resolution, that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, would not object to the bill lying on the table until tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT. If there is objection to immediate consideration of the resolution the Chair must refer the resolution to committee, unless there is some other motion, because that is the proper and orderly way to do it.

Mr. EALY. I do not intend to object. If there is anything wrong in any of the departments of the state government we have a perfect right to know about it, but I doubt if that is in order in connection with some private individual here, such as a newspaper man.

Mr. JONES. This seems to be a matter that should take the usual course and be given the usual consideration. I therefore ask that the resolution go over.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Luzerne object to immediate consideration of the resolution?

Mr. JONES. Yes, I do.

The PRESIDENT. There is objection to immediate consideration of the resolution and therefore under the Senate rules it can not be considered at this time, unless by unanimous consent.

The resolution therefore is referred to the Committee on Rules.

MEMBER TO BE APPOINTED TO THE BOARD OF PAROLE

Mr. JASPAN on behalf of Mr. HALUSKA and himself offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

RESOLUTION

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, the Jones Act calls for appointment of three (3) members to the Board of Parole

Whereas, the Jones Act became law in 1943 and since then only two (2) appointments have been made to the Board

Whereas, the duties of the Parole Board are manifold, gigantic, burdensome, and essential in character rendering it almost impossible for only two (2) men to perform the work required of three (3) men

Whereas, in event there is any division in the opinions of the two (2) present members, very little if anything can be accomplished

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania requests the Governor of Pennsylvania to make an additional appointment immediately in conformity with the law.

RESOLUTIONS REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

GOVERNOR TO BE REQUESTED TO FILL VACANCY ON LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD

Mr. JASPAN on behalf of Mr. HALUSKA and himself offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

RESOLUTION

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, There is now a vacancy existing on the Liquor

Control Board and such vacancy has existed for several years,

Whereas, the duties of the Liquor Control Board are manifold, gigantic and essential in character,

Whereas, the Liquor Control Board cannot function properly unless an additional member is appointed,

Whereas, it is mandatory for the Governor to make this appointment in conformity with the law,

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Senate of Pennsylvania requests the Governor of Pennsylvania to fill the existing vacancy immediately.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

FELICITATING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES ON HIS 63D BIRTHDAY

Mr. DENT offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, Today, January 30, 1945, the President of these United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, celebrates his 63d year of life, and

Whereas, The birthday of this great American has become symbolic of the spirit of good will and charity to the unfortunate victims of the dread disease of infantile paralysis, and

Whereas, The whole nation joins today in the celebration of the President's birthday fully conscious of the great and overwhelming problems that still confront the peoples of this nation and the world, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby wish the President of the United States good health, god luck and Godspeed in the immediate task before him in which the hopes of the peoples, not only of the United States, but of the entire world rest in the faith that they have in his leadership, be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the wife of the President of the United States, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. CHAPMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Before presenting a resolution, Mr. President, I wish to make a very brief statement relative to the contents of this resolution, which has to do with the increasing of the cost of per diem patients to late-aided hospitals from $3.50 per day to $4. The cost, as we have surveyed the various hospitals at the present time, is about $5 and I do not think it is the intent of the legislature to have the hospitals find other sources of revenue to pay for service patients.

I therefore introduce this resolution and ask for its immediate adoption, increasing the per diem rate from $3.50 to $4 per day.

INCREASE IN PER DIEM RATE FOR HOSPITALS

Mr. CHAPMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Appropriations now made to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals within the Commonwealth provide that the amounts specified in the bill making the appropriation to the specifically named hospitals, is to be used for the purpose of maintenance in the manner prescribed by law, at the rate of $3.50 per diem for the medical and surgical services rendered to and maintenance of said persons treated in such hospitals, who are entitled to free service, and for part pay service in such proportion of the $3.50.

The necessary service and treatment now rendered by these hospitals to patients cannot be furnished for the sum made payable therefor, by the bill making the appropriation and the hospitals are now compelled to pay from other sources the difference in the cost of such service and the amount received from the Commonwealth. The increase in the cost of maintenance, labor, nursing service, food and supplies has increased so greatly during the past years that it is now impossible to render the service contemplated by the General Assembly at the rate allowed by it; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That it is the opinion of the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the rate of $3.50 per diem now provided for by law should be increased in the next appropriation to such hospitals to the sum of $4.00 per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Appropriation Committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives, by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

CONDOLENCES EXTENDED TO THE LATE LT. COL. JAMES P. BARR, Jr.

Mr. DENT on behalf of Mr. COLEMAN and himself offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, The late Lt. Colonel James P. Barr, Jr., a member of the United States Air Corps, lost his life in the performance of his duties in the month of October 1943 on a lonely island in the Pacific Ocean, and

Whereas, His devotion to his country and to his fellow men has been recognized by the War Department by the presentation of the Bronze Star Medal on January 24, 1945, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania pay their respects to this gallant soldier who was the son of Mr. James P. Barr, Sr., 5744 Kentucky Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and a brother of our colleague the Honorable Joseph M. Barr, and in so doing we pay respect to the many thousands of Lt. Colonel James P. Barr's buddies who have also made the supreme sacrifice in order that this land may forever remain the "Land of the free and the home of the brave," be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the immediate family of Lt. Colonel James P. Barr, Jr., attaching thereto a copy of the citation from the War Department.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PASS LEGISLATION
COMMITTING THE UNITED STATES TO PARTICIPATE ACTIVELY IN THE FORMATION OF A UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION

Mr. ROSENFELD offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 30, 1945.

In the course of human progress, peace-loving nations of the world have always assumed that the end of each war brought peace. Armistices and treaties of peace have been signed and always the hope and idea has been that peace among such nations was a fact.

The two World Wars have convinced such nations and their peoples that an armistice or a treaty is not indicative of peace, but merely an interlude between wars; and it must be concluded that unless peace is actively practiced and the same incessant care and attention is lavished upon its preservation as is now lavished upon the waging of war, there can be no lasting peace.

The experience of history supports the conclusion that the power of liberty and freedom, which is forced to wage war to maintain that liberty and freedom, can be utilized to maintain a permanent peace.

It is recognized that such power can endure only if it gives and maintains laws within which peoples enjoy the liberties they regard as more important than life. It is these which must be respected under the law if the power beyond the law is to endure.

It is further recognized that power and force can be exercised in accordance with laws that are open to discussion and are subject to orderly revision. Security and liberty are the benefits which such an order can provide. They are such great benefits that whenever men have enjoyed them at all, they have rallied to the authority which provided them.

For these reasons it is self-evident that in a full enlightened view of the vital interests of all peace-loving peoples, a United Nations Organization is necessary to establish permanent peace.

Such an organization dedicated in a statement setting forth the principles of peace understood by all peoples; dedicated to an educational program so that all peoples may know at any time how the peace is working; dedicated to the use of the necessary power and force to wage the peace and to prevent war is along the general lines tentatively drafted at Dumbarton Oaks.

It is therefore fitting and proper that our force be added in urging the establishment of such a world order; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur). That the Congress of the United States be memorialized to adopt immediately such proposals and legislation as may be necessary to commit this country to participate actively in the formation of a United Nations Organization, with the authorization of such power as may be deemed necessary to prevent wars and to insure a real and lasting peace.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, being sympathetic, as we all are here, with the objectives of the Senator from Philadelphia, namely, peace, nevertheless when the Senator proposes to draft his resolution along the lines of the proposed Dumbarton Oaks conference, I am just wondering how many men in this Senate, if any, know what was proposed at Dumbarton Oaks.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think the resolution requires more study and I object to its immediate consideration, in order that it may be studied in committee.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

EMPLOYEE OF THE SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 30, 1945.

Resolved, that the following persons be elected officers and employees of the Senate, as is provided for by the Act of Assembly:

CLERK TO COMMITTEE

Anne Wilkinson.

FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO HON. H. JEROME
JASPAN

Mr. COLEMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, The energetic Senator from Philadelphia, the Honorable H. Jerome Jaspan, has been handling his legislative duties with more than the usual gusto this week, and

Whereas, Inquiry reveals the reason for his buoyant spirit is the addition to the Jaspan household of a baby girl, born last Saturday, and

Whereas, The gentleman from Philadelphia, ever alert to the Legislative needs of his constituents, can now be expected to join the Members of Congress in protesting the acute shortage of three-cornered pants, and

Whereas, The leaders of the Democratic party are delighted to see tangible evidence of their drive to increase Democratic registration, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania felicitate the proud parents and extend to them best wishes for happiness.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. HEYBURN. I am about to move that the Senate recess for a short time but before doing so I desire to announce that there will be a meeting of the Committee of Rules, to be held in the office of the President Pro Tempore, immediately upon recess.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a short recess.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. TALLMAN from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Holland on January 30, 1945, reported the same without amendment as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, From almost under the dome of this Capitol there issues periodically a sheet under the caption of "State News Service, Masonic Temple, Harrisburg," of which one A. O. Vorse is the reputed writer and publisher; and

Whereas, This publication operated in conjunction with a reputed State Business and State Legislative Service is devoted primarily to a continuing tirade against the Jews as a race, and to inciting race and religious prejudices, patterned after the most scurrilous utterances of the arch-Jew baiter, Adolph Hitler; and

Whereas, Our Nation and its component Commonwealths, in particular the lands of Pennsylvania, have since their earliest settlement been dedicated to the principles of religious and racial tolerance, which are guaranteed to all of its people by the Federal and State constitutions; and

Whereas, While the constitutions likewise proclaim freedom of speech and of the press, such freedom cannot be converted into a license to incite blind hatreds and to preach the basic doctrine of our enemies; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate be instructed to conduct an investigation of the State News Service, The State Legislative Service and The State Business Service and its publisher, and report to the Senate its findings and recommendations; and that said committee is hereby given the authority of the Senate to bring before it for questioning, and to compel the attendance of A. O. Vorse, reputed publisher of the State News Service, and any other person, and any records, books and papers having any bearing on the subject under investigation.

A motion was made by Mr. HOLLAND and Mr. JASPAN.

That rule 39, which requires resolutions reported from committee lie over for one day be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I want to make clear to the members of the Senate that when I mentioned the Masonic Temple in my talk a short time ago I had no reference to the Masonic Order; instead I wished to state that there was misrepresentation by the use of the name Masonic Temple, because I never for one minute would think or suggest that such an honorable body as the Masons would ever be connected with any type of insidious literature sent out by this man.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. EWING, HAUDENSHIELD and DALRYMPLE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 7.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

The unusual fall of snow in Western Pennsylvania has brought severe damage to thousands of farmers and other workers. Roads have been blockaded, bridges have been closed and travel has been brought to a standstill.

Days have been spent by those who need open highways, to open those highways in order that they could arrive at the places in which they work.

The war effort has been severely lessened and production has been greatly reduced.

To add to the burden and hardship placed upon these people who have been kept from their work, it is suddenly brought to their attention that Wednesday, the thirty-first day of January, is the dead line for the inspection of their automobiles—their sole means of transportation to and from work.

The delay in the bringing of automobiles into the testing stations, caused by the impassable roads, has created a bottle neck which will make impossible the testing of thousands of vehicles.

The use of such vehicles on the highways after Wednesday will be illegal and their non-use will greatly impede the war effort; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Secretary of Revenue to direct the members of the Pennsylvania State Police to refrain from making arrests for the operation of uninspected motor vehicles on the highways until March 1, 1945; to announce to the public that no arrests will be made and to request all other law enforcement officers within the Commonwealth to cooperate with the State Police in avoiding such arrests; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall transmit a copy of this Resolution to the Secretary of Revenue immediately upon the concurrence of the Senate thereon.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. SALUS.

RESOLUTION No. 8.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

The seventy-ninth anniversary of the proclamation of the Secretary of State of the United States, adding the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, occurs on Thursday, February 1st.

That amendment stated: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

That amendment supplemented the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln freeing the slaves and made real freedom the supreme law of the country.

Our proud boast that this was the "land of the free and the home of the brave" was made real and hypocrisy ceased.

For the negro it meant a new life and brought within his reach that equality of opportunity which had been theretofore only a dream.

In this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it only emphasized what had always been the law, for here, due to the wise and benevolent counsel of William Penn, slavery had never been recognized and here the negro enjoyed a freedom that was strange to those of his race in other sections of the country.

The proclamation of the Secretary of State on February 1, 1866, was our "National Freedom Day," and the importance of that proclamation compels the observance of it by the people of the nation, therefore be it

Resolved, by the members of the House of Representatives, that it feels that the occasion of the adding of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution is one that deserves national observation in order to bring home to the American people, and especially to those it personally benefited and enriched, a new conception of the wonderful privileges and blessings it had brought to them, and be it further

Resolved, that this House requests the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States to urge and to assist in the passage of Senate Joint Resolution 153 now pending in the Congress and which requests the President to proclaim February 1st as "National Freedom Day," and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to each Senator in the Congress of the United States from Pennsylvania and to each member of the House of Representatives thereof.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. BENTLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 9.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

The unprecedented snow fall which has closed many of the important roads within the Commonwealth, and made impassable more of the less important roads leading to official motor vehicle inspection stations in the Commonwealth.

The date fixed by law for the expiration of the present inspection period is January 31st, and a new inspection sticker will be required to be affixed to every windshield before any person will be able to operate a motor vehicle on or after February 1, 1945.

The failure of drivers of motor vehicles to have their automobiles inspected, in many cases was caused by inability to get to an inspection station or by reason of the fact that the unusual weather conditions resulted in unusual work which made impossible the making of a trip to such inspection station.

Residents of rural communities will suffer a real hardship if they are not permitted to operate their automobiles for even one day after February 1st, and war workers will be prevented from doing their bit to turn out essential war material. Enforcement of the law will jeopardize the war effort by aggravating the critical transportation crisis therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby requests the Secretary of Revenue to publicly announce an extension of the expiration date for the inspection of motor vehicles for an additional period of thirty days, and to call upon law enforcement officers throughout the Commonwealth to cooperate with the Department in not causing additional hardships for those already severely injured by the unusual weather conditions; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk and the Secretary of the Senate to the Secretary of Revenue.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL NO. 106

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 29 1945.

The unusual amount of snow precipitated upon the highways of the Commonwealth during this new year has made them almost impassable at some places and thousands of owners and drivers of motor vehicles have been unable to operate them for many weeks.

Not only have the owners and drivers of motor vehicles been unable to operate them, but persons riding in automobiles owned by others in order to reach their places of employment, have been kept at home and the war effort has been delayed.

Mechanics employed at official motor vehicle inspection stations have been unable to get to work and the testing of such vehicles as required by law has been hindered and delayed.

The last day for the inspection of motor vehicles is January 31st, and those not then bearing the official inspection tag for the coming period will not be permitted to travel on the highways of the Commonwealth.

Due to the unprecedented weather conditions, thousands of automobiles will, on February 1st, remain uninspected, and those trying to operate them will be law violators and liable to arrest.

Failure to operate them will keep thousands of workers at home and materially slow up the war effort; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby requests the Secretary of Revenue to immediately issue an announcement assuring operators of motor vehicles that no arrests will be made for driving a motor vehicle that has not been inspected before February 1st, and calling upon law enforcement officers throughout the Commonwealth to cooperate in saving harmless those who have been unable to comply with the law, and to continue in such cooperation until March 1st, 1945; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall forward a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of Revenue of the Commonwealth immediately, upon the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would request the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, to explain the bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, this bill seeks to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June nineteen hundred forty-one, Pamphlet Laws 159. That law provides for the investment of sinking fund funds in United States Government bonds. At the time this act was passed, there was no such thing as appreciation on United States Government bonds, all bonds of the United States Government were of the coupon type. In the war financing certain bonds have been issued which are of a new classification in the investment field and are called appreciation bonds. This amendment has particular reference to only one type of appreciation bond, known as "F" bonds. The reason for that is that while the "E" bonds are also appreciation bonds of a nature, they are not purchasable by the custodian of public funds, they are not purchasable in amounts in excess of five thousand dollars in each year, as we all know. The "F" bonds were specifically designed for purchase by the custodian of public funds, and the Treasury Department has set a limit for such purpose at one hundred thousand dollars in any one year. Now, these appreciation bonds or Series "F" bonds, which is the only type we need to consider, do not bear interest in the usual meaning of that term, but they do have an annual increment of appreciation. In the first six years of the term of Series "F" bonds, which term is twelve years, that amount of depreciation is very slight. After the first six years it becomes unreasonable or rather out of proportion to the first six years—very much greater. What this amendment seeks to do is to permit the municipal authorities to purchase one hundred dollars "of promise to pay one hundred dollars at the end of twelve years," that promise being made by the United States Government, for the sum of seventy-four dollars, and it seeks to permit the custodian of public funds or the sinking fund managers to enter on their books the purchase of "F" bonds at the maturity value, one hundred dollars. But the bill further provides that such bonds purchased for such a purpose may not be redeemed prior to the maturity date, so that when the one hundred dollar "F" bond is set on the books at one hundred dollars, it stays there until one hundred dollars is paid, and it is a one hundred dollar asset of the municipality. That will have the effect in turn of course of somewhat enlarging the borrowing capacity of the municipality by this type of bond. It will have the further effect of stimulating the purchase of war bonds on the part of municipalities.

I will only add further that the amendment further provides that bonds may not be purchased when the term of the "F" bond is of a greater duration than the term of the bond to be protected by that purchase.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Delaware for explaining the bill. I merely wanted to call the attention of the House to the provisions of the bill, which the gentleman has already explained very thoroughly, and I ask the Members on this side of the House to support the bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, January 31, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, Thou hast given us another day of opportunity; may we give to Thee another day of service, the kind of service that will be acceptable to Thee and of real benefit to our fellowmen. That we err not in our judgment as to what is right, or in our performance, do Thou guide us in the ways Thou wouldst have us go.

Enable us, O God, while we labor for the life that now is, to be mindful of the life which is to come. Keep us from becoming satisfied with material possessions or worldly honors lest we lose our souls.

As men chosen by the electors to represent them in the affairs of state may we magnify our office by a conscientious performance of every duty. Only by so doing can we glorify Thy name and maintain our self-respect.

Remember our nation which Thou didst found and has preserved, and give her victory over all enemies; endow with wisdom from above Thy servants the President, the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor and all in authority. Unite all citizens of the Commonwealth in the brotherhood of peace. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

HOUSE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being in-troducted informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DESIGNATING "NATIONAL FREEDOM DAY" AND REQUESTING PROCLAMATION

In the Senate, January 23, 1945.

February 1, 1945, marks the seventy-ninth anniversary of the proclamation of the Secretary of State of the United States, adding the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

That amendment provided that: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

Thus ended slavery and an end was put to the controversy that had divided the nation and brought on the Civil War.

It made the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, freeing the slaves, a part of the Federal Constitution.

It made our country free in fact and wrote into the words "all men are created free and equal," the meaning that had theretofore never been recognized throughout the nation.

It marked the end of the slavery that had been the lot of the negro, and the beginning of his long fight for equal rights.

It set up as the law of the nation what had always been the law of Pennsylvania, for in this State slavery had never been recognized or practiced and here the negro was assured of his place in the sun and his privilege at the election polls.

It guaranteed to the man of color that same equality of opportunity that was the heritage of the white man, and the rapid advancement of the negro since that time is the best evidence of his natural right to that heritage.

The day that marked the issuance of that proclamation was our "National Freedom Day" and one well worth our yearly celebration, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby designates February first of each year as "National Freedom Day," and recommends its observance as the day upon which this nation granted to all within its confines, full freedom and equal liberty; the day when it proudly lifted its head among the nations of the world and became in fact the citadel of liberty, and be it further

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby requested to issue his proclamation naming February first as "National Freedom Day" and calling for its observance in the Commonwealth.

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, January 29, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 5, 1945, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 5, 1945, at nine o'clock p. m.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COLEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, in presenting the following bill I should like to make just a few brief remarks in explanation of its purpose.

Six weeks ago, in the City of Scranton, a woman in the autumn of her life received a telegram from the War Department that her only son was missing in action. This is not the first time that the cruelty of war was forcibly brought home to her because the same son was seriously wounded in the first World War. His name is T. Linas Hoban, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in the county of Lackawanna, and a Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army. Judge Hoban was in the thick of the fight at Strassburg with the 28th Division, made up of Pennsylvania boys, who poured out their blood so lavishly in the attempt to check the Nazi drive. Under existing law Judge Hoban will be denied the right to run for re-election since his term expires this year unless this amendment becomes a law. The bill, briefly, permits anyone who has been assigned a power-of-attorney by anyone in the armed service of America, whose whereabouts is not known to any of his kin, his parents, wife, brother, sister, son or daughter, to sign an affidavit in his behalf. If the bill sponsored by the Republican and Democratic floor leaders of the House, which moves up the primary election to June 19, becomes a law, it means that the first day for circulating petitions legally will be March 6, and accordingly I would respectfully suggest that this bill be given prompt consideration by the committee to which it will be referred.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. COLEMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 238, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine hundred ten, and subsection (e) of section nine hundred fifty-one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of act relating to elections," by providing that in certain cases when a candidate is in the armed forces of the United States an affidavit by certain members of his family or by a person holding a general power of attorney may be substituted for such candidate's affidavit required by said act to accompany his nomination petition or nomination papers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 53, on second reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have no objection to this bill going back to the Committee on Judiciary General. The purpose of sending it back is for a public hearing. When we come to that place in the program where the Secretary makes announcements the Secretary will make an appropriate announcement that there will be a public hearing.

However, I would like to have the bill read the second time and then recommitted, because if there are any amendments that anybody would like to make, or that the committee would like to make, they can be made in committee and the bill reported out as amended.

I think that would serve the purpose which perhaps may be in the mind of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, who made the motion to recommit this bill. I am not objecting to recommitting the bill, but I am just suggesting that it be read the second time and then be recommitted.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny said to now read this bill for the second time and then put it back in committee would satisfy me, and that is not so; I want it to go back the way it is, on second reading.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am not going to quibble over a technicality. I would like to just suggest to the Senator from Philadelphia if he can not convince a majority of the members of the Committee on Judiciary General on any amendments he has, he will have little chance of convincing the Senate as a whole.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

By Mr. ERB.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 10.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

Something is definitely wrong with the Pennsylvania State Police set-up in Blair County and, according to many rumors now current, other places throughout the State.

We have a situation in Blair County involving the Pennsylvania State Police which is badly in need of diligent investigation and of having corrective measures ordered since efforts to make an adjustment through the highest officers did not produce the desired results. Then too, it is questionable as to whether or not they could be expected to take appropriate action in a situation which they should not have permitted in the first place if the administration was such as to serve the best interests of economy, convenience and service to the public and for the welfare of the less fortunate members of the Pennsylvania State Police force who comprise the great majority.

Originally, when Troop Headquarters for the Pennsylvania State Police were established in Blair County, they were located within the Borough of Hollidaysburg in a central location in relation to the area being served. The home, which was amply adequate and attractive to uphold the dignity of the organization was on the main street which is also U. S. Route 22 and less than a block from U. S. Route 220 so that the interests of the traveling public as well as local inhabitants could best be served. The service station where State automobiles are greased was just across the street the Post Office was less than a block away, the Courthouse was less than two blocks away, the Pennsylvania Department of Highways sheds where gasoline is obtained were nearby, the County Jail was nearby, it was easily located and accessible to the public and last but, by no means least, it gave the members a decent consideration relative to living nearby and enjoying community life.

From all the advantages enumerated about a change of location was made, for no plausible reason as yet expressed, to an isolated spot known as Ant Hill and connected to U. S. Route 220 by a steep winding private drive which becomes very slippery during the winter so that it is difficult to locate and at times impossible to approach by automobile. It is sufficiently far enough out of town and off the main highway to have sacrificed all former advantages. It is common knowledge that everyone suffered by the move except Mrs. Wm. Templeton, whose practices are questionable and incompatible with proper secrecy, dignity and privacy in administration of Pennsylvania State Police affairs. She is the so called landlady who furnishes quarters, meals, office space and garage space for the Pennsylvania State Police and who seems to have the inside track with certain commissioned-officers so that her interests are looked after to a greater extent than are the interests of the Commonwealth, efficient public service and the welfare of the enlisted members.

This situation now existent would indicate that the commissioned-officers in direct charge of this administration are either indifferent, careless or incompetent in the proper discharge of Pennsylvania State Police affairs.

More can be said and proved but, that can best be uncovered by the committee designated to investigate. Since it will be necessary to interview numerous subordinate members of the Pennsylvania State Police they should be given assurance that so long as facts are furnished they need not fear their superior officers.

The change hoped for is to restore the Pennsylvania State Police to the advantages formerly had in Blair County, relative to location, to divorce the present incompatible landlady service from a Troop Headquarters administration, to permit subordinate married members to obtain the advantage of subsistence allowances which is true of most, if not all other Troop Headquarters throughout the State and which will effect a substantial savings to the Commonwealth. This will increase their standard of living so that undoubtedly the morale of the organization will be greatly increased and the great majority profit thereby.

Resolved by the members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Speaker of the House is hereby authorized and requested to appoint a committee of three members of the House, who shall make a full and complete investigation of the conditions complained about and report the results of the investigation to the House on or before March 15, 1945.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY.

EXTENDED REMARKS OF SENATOR DiSILVESTRO

Mr. DiSILVESTRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to have prepared remarks spread upon the Legislative Journal.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. My attention has recently been called to a statement attributed to the Rev. W. C. Williamson, who claims an affiliation with the Local Bipartisan Committee Sponsoring Fair Employment Practice Commission Legislation.

I would not be inclined to issue a statement in answer to the reverend gentleman were it not for the use of a particular adjective by which he has chosen to describe me. That is the word "reactionary" applied to the appellation "Democrat" by which he designated me.

This name-calling was apparently induced by my introduction into the State Senate of a bill which called for the appointment of a commission to investigate the matter of unfair labor employment practices in this State and to recommend legislation to correct these evil and un-American Practices.

The bill I introduced was the first legislation introduced in either body of the Assembly pointing toward a new fair deal for all men in the pursuit of their livelihoods. That's how reactionary I am.

I want to tell how I came to introduce that bill. Nobody knew that I was going to introduce it. I didn't consult with either the Democratic leaders or the Republican leaders—or the Communist leaders—to whom I understand my bill is undesirable.

During the last campaign in the First Senatorial District, I had promised the people there—those who voted against me as well as those who voted to return me to the Senate—that one of the first things I would do would be to try to get a square deal for them in the matter of employment practices.

I therefore consulted with the New York State Legislature's secretary and got a copy of the bill on which the legislation recently introduced in that body covering the same subject was based.

The original bill called for an investigatory commission of 25—I suggested a commission of 15 for Pennsylvania. I also amended the appropriation to a lesser sum. But the bill itself is, in virtually all other respects, the same bill as was adopted in New York at the behest of Governor Thomas E. Dewey—the very same Governor Dewey for whom the reverend gentleman went "all out" at the last Presidential election—or did he?

At any rate, he headed up a committee of gentlemen who are supposed to have organized the members of a number of congregations with a view toward the election of Mr. Dewey to the Presidency—that much has been published. Now you wouldn't exactly call Mr. Dewey a reactionary—Mr. Williamson, or would you?

When I saw what excellent results had come from the investigation of the problem in New York, I decided entirely on my own account—to introduce the DiSilvestro Bill.

I honestly believe that an investigation at which the whole matter will be aired in open hearings will convince the people of the Commonwealth of all political beliefs that something must be done to rid our State of prejudice and that out of such an investigation will come legislation that we will all be proud of and will support.

To the reverend gentleman, and those who are affiliated with him, I would like to say a word. Don't call for names without knowing the facts. It is sad, but true that pressure groups, in their misguided zeal, sometimes abandon reason and fall back on billingsgate and name-calling. I personally don't care what they call Anthony J. DiSilvestro because I, of all people, know how clear his conscience is. I have to live with that conscience, and it is clear as crystal because it has always stood for a break for the little fellow—and it always will.

But don't reverend sir, call me "reactionary." The use of the adjective is unjustified, as all who judges me without bias will testify. I said in introducing my bill in the Senate that it was intended only to obtain a square deal for the Negro, the Jew, and every member of every minority group who has too long been pushed around by bigoted and prejudiced narrow-minds.

If there is any other legislation which will accomplish this purpose more effectively, and which can be passed and receive the Governor's signature, I'm for it—a hundred per cent.

My good mother—out of her great experience distilled from life—taught me when I was a little boy an Italian proverb I have never forgotten: "Never spit in a well. You might have to drink from it some day." I repeat it for your benefit, reverend sir, and suggest you bear it in mind. When you call me a reactionary, you're spitting in the well.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to read into the record a communication dated Thursday, January 18, 1945, from Mr. John U. Shroyer, Secretary of Highways. The communication is as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Department of Highways, Harrisburg,

News Release, January 18, 1945, Thursday A. M.'s

"Harrisburg, Jan. 17—Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer today formally cited the snow removal crews of the Department who have "rendered unlimited and exceptional service during the unprecedented winter conditions" of the past six weeks, which in some areas, aggregated more than 100 inches of snowfall.

"Between December 25 and January 1, Secretary of Highways invited Senator John G. Snowden, Lycoming County, Chairman of the Senate Highways Committee, who in turn selected Senator A. H. Letzler, Clearfield, to sit in a conference, in which they were joined by State Senator M. Harvey Taylor, president pro tem. They agreed upon a reward for the permanent organization of the Department who had such meritorious service which Secretary Shroyer declared a 'crisis.'

"The reward will come in the form of additional pa for the members of the permanent organization, Mr. Shroyer stated.

"The citation follows, a copy of which Secretary Shroyer distributed today.

"In recognition of meritorious service rendered by Department of Highway employees for their exceptional and loyal labor during the critical days through which Pennsylvania passed during the unprecedented snowfall of the past six weeks, in keeping highways cleared, risking serious illness and exposing themselves to winter hazards far and beyond the call of duty."

Now, Mr. President, that is very fine. I hope I still am the representative of the people back in my district and for that reason I call upon you today to listen to my brief story.

Last Wednesday when I left here I took a train to Altoona, got in my car at Altoona to go home, which is seventeen miles north of Altoona, and I arrived at my home at midnight Friday night; trying every possible route between Altoona and the town of Patton, I finally found a route open and I traveled 138 miles from Patton to Altoona, which is seventeen miles, and it took me three days. This morning, Mr. President, in order to get to Altoona I drove 111 miles to go seventeen miles.

I bring this up because I feel that something should be done in regards to the highways of my county. I can not speak for other counties; they can speak for themselves. We have in my county hundreds of men who are unable to go to work, marooned away from their families and away from their work.

Highway crews are sitting by idly. I do not know whether it is the fault of the highways, the fault of the superintendent, the fault of the Secretary of Highways; I do not know whether it is lack of money or lack of equipment; I am not trying to embarrass anybody, the administration or any body or any person, but on the fifteenth day of January, my colleague from Westmoreland county, Senator Dent, and myself, introduced a resolution, which is now peacefully lying in committee, asking that the Secretary of Highways be called to a meeting to be held by the Committee on Highways, or the members of this Body, to tell us why these conditions exist.

We have gone through other years when there was a lot of snowfall. I can recall back in 1936 we had more snow but we were not held up over twenty-four hours. The road between Altoona and my town had not been touched up until early this morning. People definitely cannot get across the highways. It is a main highway, leading from Altoona to the Lake to the Sea highway. Probably can find reasons why some small country road could not be opened, but I definitely can not agree that a main highway should be closed for a week at a time. There are ways and means of opening these highways, and I say with my knowledge, living in my county all my life, we could, and we have the power, to delegate powers to them to open these highways.

I am told—and I hope it is not true, and I can not convince myself it is true—but it so happened I was in a room the other day and a caretaker said "Well, where you go; as long as you fellows keep on voting Democratic in this county, you will never have any highways opened; we are fed up with you."

Now, Mr. President, that can not be true; that impression I hope is false; I hope that no political party ever takes that attitude, either Republican or Democratic, and I will not hold either party responsible for that. However, he happens to be on the payroll and it is a poor impression to leave with the public.

I do know, Mr. President, that that road between Patton and Altoona, between Johnstown and my town, can be opened if the highway superintendent is given the proper equipment and proper men. I have been told that because of a new ruling by the Secretary of Highways, whereby the men are placed on a monthly basis, that is the reason the roads are not open. If that might be the reason we ought to look into it.

Back in my county they have established a rule whereby men are paid $144 per month, that is, the caretakers, and when five o'clock comes they quit. They get no overtime, only straight pay, and they are determined they shall not work after five o'clock. If a snowfall comes after five o'clock we are snowbound.

Now, certainly something must be done and should be done for the people back in my county so that they can make a livelihood. We can not get to our hospitals. I can cite other illustrations of people who have to stay home.

I am only asking that this Committee on Highways meet today, Mr. President, and bring out that resolution, without any embarrassment to anyone, and bring Mr. Shroyer before this committee, and let us question him, let us determine from him whether it is possible to move some equipment into these small towns, so that when a snowfall comes they can start plowing and can start working. The people in my county have been calling me and asking me to bring this matter to the attention of this Body and that is the reason I am on my feet this afternoon.

I am hoping you will pass this resolution and bring this man before the Committee on Highways and let us question him so that possibly we might devise some ways and means whereby we can do some good, especially to aid the war effort at this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LETZLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President and members of the Senate: I believe that we all are experiencing the same condition that Senator Haluska mentioned that he is confronted with over in Cambria County. We have found, however, that the Secretary of Highways is inclined to be very co-operative in his effort to remove the snow, which has resulted from what we learn is the worst storm in some fifty years. We up in the mountains, of course, have had probably more than our share of it. Yesterday I found over in Clearfield and Center Counties that the large bulldozers, which are the only type of machines that can remove deep snow, were all very busy, as they had been contracted for by the Highway Department. Unfortunately, I believe that the Highway Department does not have enough of this type of equipment to put out on the roads to do this work daily, and consequently it has to make special contracts with people who have this type of machinery.

I personally know some of the men who are furnishing this machinery when they are not using it in their regular business. Yesterday they were out all day on a piece of road two miles in length in our immediate neighborhood. That was opened during yesterday and during the night, but it took all day and all night for an eight-ton bulldozer to go through this road.

Many new roads have been used by people in the coal mining regions, because there are stripping operations back in the hills were not in use before, and the men who work back there have to find some way of getting back to them, but they are roads that are not in use all the time, except by those men, and they are comparatively new roads and it makes it very difficult to open them.

The point I am making is, I feel very certain that the Secretary of Highways will be more than glad to sit down with any group, or with any member of the Senate, and discuss the situation in his particular county.

I am sorry that Senator Haluska feels it might be due to some political complication, that his county is treated in this manner. I do not feel that that is true. I feel that every one is more than glad to try to meet this situation with which we are confronted today, something which is very serious, and I would like, as a member of the Highway Committee, to proceed to have the Secretary of Highways come to a meeting of the Highway Committee, or whatever may be arranged, to further discuss the problem.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I hope my good friend from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, does not feel my previous remarks were to be construed as stating I thought it was political. I tried to be very careful in making my statement that such a remark was made but I personally do not believe the condition is due to politics.

I only ask that this resolution come out of committee. I know we have a problem and we must work it out together and by talking with Mr. Shroyer possibly we can work it out.

For instance, I met with three groups of borough councils who have snow removal equipment, which offered their services if the Commonwealth would enter into agreements with them to pay the nominal cost of the equipment. They are willing to help, they know we have a crisis, but they do not have the authority to do that, so I am asking that Mr. Shroyer come before us and sit down and with our aid and our suggestions I am certain we can work something out, but please bear in mind I did not say, nor did I mean to say, I thought it was political, because I do not think it is.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. During the past week a situation arose that shocked the entire sporting world, and to a greater extent it seriously disturbed and affected the mothers and fathers of young men now attending school. They have good reason to be alarmed at the manner in which sinister influences are now operating to undermine morale, the honesty and integrity, particularly of students who are inclined towards competitive sports. Yes, the gambling fraternity invaded the amateur field and bribed five players of the Brooklyn College team with a view to have the boys throw games to their opponents. The gamblers looked for soft spots, preyed on the credulous, the youth of America who generally give their all on the athletic field. Incredible as it may seem, they involved young men who have not begun to see the light of day. Some of our State Senators played baseball, football, basketball, participated in boxing matches, at college, high school or on the sandlots, and fought hard and cleanly to win simply for the honor and glory that goes with it. We, in competition, broke noses, arms, legs and what have you, bent on winning for the alma-mater. Some of us are still battle-scarred as a result of stiff and bitter opposition, but we are happy for it in that we gave everything to win. It is part of that American spirit, that indefinable spirit that is traditional with true American athletes. You, who participated in athletics can appreciate the significance of the dastardly acts of the racketeers who not only destroy themselves eventually, but in their wake contaminate and corrupt anyone who by chance comes into their paths.

Needless to say, it brings back memories of the "Black Sox Scandal" in 1916. It took many years for organized baseball to live it down, and it was only the heroic efforts of the late Commissioner Landis that the good name of baseball was restored. How long it will take College sports to remove the suspicion or stigma now cast upon, I am unable to say. We, however, can help in a large measure. It therefore becomes our duty to take whatever action possible to prevent the recurrence of the Brooklyn College affair by passing legislation which will discourage gambling at sporting events, whether it be professional or amateur, and to say the least reduce gambling to a minimum.

I realize that many people gamble, either in the form of card-playing, bingo, shooting dice, or horse races. That may be the privilege of the American people, but when it affects the peace and morale of our citizens, and further when they are caught in the tentacles of the octopus that squeezes blood out of its victim, gradually killing him, it is extremely dangerous.

The gambling fraternity today is apparently highly organized, and there lies the danger. Professional gamblers have no useful or gainful occupation, and will resort to any scheme or device to accomplish their ends. They are clever and cunning, and like parasites, operate insidiously, and in time render their victims helpless, cause broken lives and careers. In short, they are racketeers, and may use guns, and kill when interfered with. I am not exaggerating the importance of the matter; I probably am understating it.

Gambling has been and is rampant in the baseball parks. Last year the late Commissioner Landis made an investigation of conditions at Shibe Park and found that gambling was at its worst there. You will find the same conditions true at prize fights, and basketball games.

Here is a statement only issued yesterday by Mayor LaGuardia, of the larger state of New York in which he says, and I quote from the paper:

"Mayor LaGuardia said today that the practice of 'fixing basketball games in the metropolitan area was widespread but 'it just happened that Brooklyn College was the school that got caught'."

Unfortunately, particularly in Philadelphia and probably in Pittsburgh and the larger cities throughout the entire state, the police are not able to cope with the problem, the reason being that the law today is entirely too weak. I will not charge them with negligence or being lax, but we need statutes with teeth in them—to quote Inspector Craig Ellis, Chief of the Vice Squad in Philadelphia, who has done all he possibly could to break down these racketeers and professional gamblers.

In conclusion I say with all the emphasis at my command, let us pass legislation to protect participants in athletic events and the patrons as well. This is not a laughing matter. You can make light of it but it is very serious, when our health is being poisoned by racketeers and professional gamblers. Say what you will and comment as you will, but I am familiar with the situation, I have experienced it, and it is a very dangerous situation and something must be done.

With that thought in mind I have prepared four bills, two of which are now ready, and I will ask unanimous consent to present to the Chair the two bills which are ready. The other two bills will be ready tomorrow.

One bill is designed to increase the penalty for gambling at sporting events—that will be presented tomorrow.

Another bill was designed to redefine bribery so as to cover sports and making it a felony, punishment by a fine of a thousand dollars and imprisonment of not less than three nor more than six years.

I have here one of the bills, which eliminates decision contests in boxing and sports events, except championship fights. The purpose is to reduce gambling to a minimum and prevent the gamblers from betting on a fight or wrestling match on the night on which it takes place.

The other bill I have here transfers certain powers from the Boxing Commission to the Police Department, which is better equipped to examine participants physically and better able to judge the qualifications of referees, judges, managers, promoters and seconds.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 241, entitled:

An Act to further amend section ten of the act approved the fourteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 242, entitled:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. JAMES and WRIGHT.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 12.

In the House of Representatives January 31, 1945.

Major General Anthony Wayne began his public career as a member of this General Assembly of Pennsylvania where he actively promoted measures leading toward independence.

Turning from service in the legislature to service in the American army, Anthony Wayne commanded with distinction the first Pennsylvania troops to take an important part in battle during the American Revolution when, by their brave steadfastness during the battle of Three Rivers, they founded a Pennsylvania tradition which has been maintained in every war of the United States.

Raised to the rank of Brigadier General in 1777, Anthony Wayne led the Pennsylvania Line in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth and helped General George Washington to hold the army together during the terrible winter at Valley Forge.

Anthony Wayne won especial fame in 1779 by his daring exploit in surprising and capturing the fortress of Stony Point on the Hudson River.

The victory at Yorktown did not end Wayne's services to the American cause for his Georgia campaign in 1782 and 1783 against the Tories and Indians was largely responsible for saving that state for the new nation.

Having fought for independence, he later supported sound conservative government when re-elected to the General Assembly in 1784 and was an influential member of the Pennsylvania convention which ratified the Constitution of the United States in 1787.

When Indian hostility threatened to prevent American settlement and possession of the rich territory north of the Ohio River, Major General Anthony Wayne was chosen by President Washington to command the United States Army and with the reliable force which he had trained at Legionville near Ambridge in Beaver County, Pennsylvania, Wayne defeated the Indian confederacy at the battle of Fallen Timbers on August 20, 1794, enforcing their submission by the Treaty of Greenville on August 3, 1795.

After a lifetime spent in the service of his country, he fell ill while returning from the Northwest Territory which he had saved and died in Fort Presque Isle at Erie, Pennsylvania, on December 15, 1796 at the age of fifty-one years.

Anthony Wayne, as military leader and as patriotic statesman, above all believed first in his country and rendered great services to the United States and especially to Pennsylvania and the States formed from the Northwest Territory.

Two hundred years have passed since his birth on the family plantation of Waynesborough Chester County, Pennsylvania, on January 1, 1745; and one hundred and fifty years since his crowning achievement of the Treaty of Greenville which dictated the future course of American expansion and which followed long days of discipline, drill and watchfulness by the Conqueror of the Old Northwest from which the present state: of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin were carved, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do honor to the memory of Anthony Wayne by designating as "Anthony Wayne Day," August 3, 1945, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Treaty of Greenville and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways be hereby instructed to designate an appropriate highway in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the "Anthony Wayne Memorial Highway," and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby commend and endorses the proclamation of Governor of the Commonwealth, Edward Martin, calling attention to the significance of this anniversary year and calling upon the schools and all other public agencies and institutions and all the historical, patriotic civic and other organizations of the Commonwealth at some time during the year to conduct appropriate exercises and undertake such other observances as may seem fitting to pay tribute to the achievements and services of Anthony Wayne.

Referred to the Committee on Highways.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 30, 1945.

Appropriations now made to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals within the Commonwealth provide that the amounts specified in the bill making the appropriation to the specifically named hospitals, is to be used for the purpose of maintenance in the manner prescribed by law, at the rate of $3.50 per diem for the medical and surgical services rendered to and maintenance of said persons treated in such hospitals, who are entitled to free service, and for part pay service in such proportion of the $3.50.

The necessary service and treatment now rendered by these hospitals to patients cannot be furnished for the sum made payable therefor, by the bill making the appropriation and the hospitals are now compelled to pay from other sources the difference in the cost of such service and the amount received from the Commonwealth. The increase in the cost of maintenance, labor, nursing service, food and supplies has increased so greatly during the past years that it is now impossible to render the service contemplated by the General Assembly at the rate allowed by it; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That it is the opinion of the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the rate of $3.50 per diem now provided for by law should be increased in the next appropriation to such hospitals to the sum of $4.00 per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Appropriation Committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives, by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Lloyd H. Wood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee whether it is his intention to press for the immediate adoption of the tax measures that are on the calendar for first reading this evening.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. The answer is yes, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to talk to you and the members of the House briefly as legislators. I take it that you are interested, as we are interested, in good, sound legislation. I know that you are impressed with the necessity of maintaining a solid party front, but I also take it that no party front could be so solidly arrayed that it is unassailable to reason.

Now, gentlemen, you will admit that you have reversed all of the ordinary procedure in our parliamentary practice. This House usually and administrations usually determine first what the compelling necessities of the Commonwealth are; then they enact legislation meeting those compelling needs and then, knowing how much money they need and what they are going to spend the money for, they proceed to enact tax bills.

You are coming to us and we are coming to the State and presenting a tax program. None of your legislation has been definitized. There have been no intimations anywhere as to what the cost of your various bits of legislation will be.

You know and I know that as a result of bad guesses the Commonwealth is now the fortunate possessor of a surplus in excess of one hundred ten million dollars in the General Fund, and that is your margin on bad guesses. Now, you come with a tax program which you guess produces a certain amount of money and we say on the basis of the program you project—mind you, on the basis of the program you project, we say that the tax measures which you now propose to enact and which the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee says he is going to press for passage, this legislative program and your tax program will add eighty million dollars at least to your surplus at the end of this biennium and you are to justify it in passing so-called emergency taxes.

Now, gentlemen, we have been in the process of conferences with his Excellency, the Governor. We do not know—none of us on this side of the House knows whether the presence of these tax bills and the program to be pressed for immediate passage means that the conferences so happily begun are to be so early terminated, but obviously if we are to discuss the outlines of legislation with his Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, or on the other hand in the legislative halls, since you are already cutting the pattern and making the suit, there is nothing to discuss with the Governor or anyone else.

Our position is plain and a matter of your knowledge and of common knowledge and of public knowledge. We are not opposed to these emergency taxes as they are called if the money that is to be raised by these taxes is to be used for the benefit of the people. Our major concern if these tax measures are passed is that a minimum of seventy-five million dollars be added to the amount that the Commonwealth contributes to support schools, and we maintain that we could show to any Committee or to this House that these tax bills will make it possible to add seventy-five million dollars to the support we are giving the schools.

To pass the tax bill, to add to the surplus and under no compelling necessity to propose to make permanent a tax so frequently denounced as emergency is a program that you yourself should survey with some misgivings. The people will want to know about these emergency taxes, these special taxes, these taxes that we enacted in all good faith for a brief period, to serve a particular cause. If there is no other equally worthy cause to be served, then these special emergency taxes should be wiped from the statute books, and I simply ask you, and I believe the people of this state will ask you, to justify those taxes before you enact them.

Let us have your program. Whom are you going to help? What are you going to do with this money? A twelve million dollar blanket appropriation for one of your departments without a single item itemized? Gentlemen of the House, that is reckless, reckless legislation. What you are doing and what you are asking us to do, what you are asking us to concede to go along with, and what you are asking the people to do, is to swallow these taxes so that there may be added eighty million dollars to an already swollen surplus.

I am not saying that if we knew what your purposes were that we would not be glad to support these taxes, but until we know what your purposes are we cannot support them and we will have to do what we can to see that these measures are rereferred to committee, and if they cannot be rereferred to committee, that they are amended to the end that they may be earmarked as to where the money raised will go, and then to lay our case before you and the people when these measures come up in the House on third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that I do not feel that this is necessarily the proper time to go into an exhaustive discussion of the tax measures that are about to be taken up for consideration on tonight's calendar, namely, House Bills 39, 62, 64, 80 and 83. However, I would like to answer briefly several of the apprehensions expressed by the gentleman from Cambria, the Minority Floor Leader.

He first stated that we have not had sufficient time in which to properly deliberate as to the wisdom of passing these measures. I should like to say to the Members of the House that the Governor's budget message is very clear. To start out with, I think the public as well as the Members of the House were advised well in advance, that owing to the fact that these are unusual times this would be an unusual session of the General Assembly. I believe it is a fact that the appropriation measures were prepared and introduced into this House earlier than perhaps they ever have been in the history of the Commonwealth, and these tax measures that we have before us this evening were introduced on the 15th of January, approximately three weeks ago. The budget message among other things point out that the budget calls for approximately $134,000,000 in excess of the budget set up prior to the 1935 session of the Legislature, the first session in which the so-called emergency taxes were first introduced and enacted. The majority proposes to show justification for the budget, and we feel on the majority side at least that we will be able to break the budget down in such a manner as to satisfactorily explain to all the Members of the House what the money will be used for, the purposes for which it is being appropriated and allocated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, for the information of the Senate I am about to present two bills. These two bills deal with workmen's compensation. There are two groups of bills that deal with the entire field of social legislation pertaining to workmen's compensation, unemployment, occupational disease, and workman's injury compensation. These bills are designed to bring in line the Pennsylvania compensation laws with those in other states.

As you all know, in 1937, Pennsylvania passed a very liberal workman's compensation law. In 1939 that bill was emasculated by the then Republican majority and passed by the then Republican governor. From that time until now there has been an uphill battle on the part of the working people of Pennsylvania in order that they receive during times of unemployment, and during times of unemployment caused by injury, a sum that would be somewhere near equal to the amount that is needed to care for the injured person.

I notice that there has been some kind of an agreement on the part of representatives of labor with the majority party on a bill affecting unemployment compensation. That bill sets up a maximum standard of $20 a week. It seems perfectly ridiculous to any thinking person that he would pay $20 a week for idle time when a person is perfectly healthy, and yet you pay a maximum of $18 a week when a person is idle because of injury. Therefore, to wipe out this inequality, these two bills are presented. Before the end of the next week, together with my colleagues, Senators Gourley and Haluska, I will present to the Senate an entire group of bills affecting social legislation, with the end in view that we in Pennsylvania need no longer bow our heads in shame when it comes to taking care of the injured and idle of this Commonwealth.

In the Senate, February 6, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 12, 1945, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 12, 1945, at nine o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President yesterday at one o'clock the Committee on Highways held a meeting regarding my request of yesterday asking that the Secretary of Highways come to our meeting to answer certain questions as embodied in a resolution presented a couple of weeks ago by my colleague from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, and myself.

We met and discussed the highway situation, at which time a number of Senators disclosed their conditions. It appears to me that the eastern part of the state was probably cared for more than the western part. That may have been because of less snow.

The Secretary was very kind and courteous, but, as usual, very evasive. He stated, not being a lawyer, that he would hate to admit anything—that was very fine—but he was very courteous and tried to give us a comprehensive picture of the highway situation in the Commonwealth.

However, he did admit that we are lacking in equipment; equipment has broken down and worn out and he has difficulty in obtaining new equipment. He stated that he has tried on numerous occasions to purchase new equipment. Some came through last May, others were still pending.

It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that if the War Production Board would grant priorities on much needed equipment, we could keep open our highways in this Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, I have prepared a resolution which I submit to the Chair, and urge its immediate adoption, asking the War Production Board to consider the requests made by the Secretary of Highways, and to grant the proper priorities so that the equipment we need may be purchased immediately.

RESOLUTIONS

REQUESTING PRIORITIES BE GRANTED TO PURCHASE SNOW REMOVAL EQUIPMENT

Messrs. HALUSKA and HEYBURN offered the following resolution which was twice read considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 6, 1945.

Whereas, it has been stated that there is an acute shortage of snow removal equipment, and

Whereas, such shortages are contributing factors to the present unsatisfactory conditions existing on Pennsylvania Highways, and

Whereas, thousands of war workers have been unable to get to their places of work, and

Whereas, a request has been made by the Secretary of Highways of Pennsylvania to certain Federal agencies located at Washington, D. C. for priorities and releases in order that such equipment as needed in Pennsylvania may be purchased immediately, therefore be it

Resolved, the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby request the proper agency or agencies give immediate consideration to the request made by the Secretary of Highways of Pennsylvania to purchase machinery and equipment in order to relieve this unsatisfactory condition, and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Highways and the War Production Board or any other Federal Agency or Agencies dealing with these matters whose duty it is to pass upon and grant such priorities.

ACTING CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 6, 1945.

Resolved by the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that during the absence, due to illness of William J. Ridge the Chief Clerk of the Senate, that Vera L. Froberg, be designated Acting Chief Clerk of the Senate, to act as fully in respect to all the duties of said office as the Chief Clerk might have one had he been personally present; said authority to continue during the absence of said William J. Ridge or until further action by the Senate.

EMPLOYEE OF THE SENATE

He also offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 6, 1945.

Resolved, that the following person be elected officer and employee of the Senate, as is provided for by the Act of Assembly:

CLERK TO COMMITTEE

Lillian Thomas, Philadelphia, vice Florence DiLeo, Resigned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. By a recent decision the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional Section 702 of the Public Utility Law, stating that the Legislature never defined public interest and therefore the Court did not know or could not interpret what is meant by public service.

I offer the following resolution, which is self-explanatory, and move its immediate adoption.

COMMISSION BE REQUESTED TO SUGGEST AMENDMENTS TO THE PUBLIC UTILITY LAW

Messrs. BARR and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 6, 1945.

Whereas, by recent decision the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has declared unconstitutional the provisions of Section 702 of the Public Utility Law, regulating contracts between public utility companies and affiliated interests; and

Whereas, Section 920 of the Public Utility Law provides as follows:

"Section 920. Contracts; Power of the Commission to Vary, Reform or Revise—The commission shall have power and authority to vary, reform, or revise, upon a fair, reasonable, and equitable basis, any obligations, terms, or conditions of any contract heretofore or hereafter entered into between any public utility and any person, corporation, or municipal corporation, which embrace or concern a public right, benefit, privilege, duty, or franchise, or the grant thereof, or are otherwise affected or concerned with the public interest and the general well being of the Commonwealth.

"Whenever the commission shall determine, after reasonable notice and hearing, upon its own motion or upon complaint, that any such obligations, terms, or conditions are unjust, unreasonable, inequitable, or otherwise contrary or adverse to the public interest and the general well being of the Commonwealth, the commission shall determine and prescribe, by findings and order, the just, reasonable, and equitable obligations, terms, and conditions of such contract. Such contract, as modified by the order of the commission, shall become effective thirty days after service of such order upon the parties to such contract;" therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate hereby requests the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to advise it whether, in the opinion of the commission, the holding unconstitutional of the provisions of Section 702 of the Public Utility Law likewise renders unconstitutional the provisions of Section 920 of said law; and that if it is the opinion of the commission that Section 920 is unconstitutional, the commission is hereby requested to suggest such amendments to the Public Utility Law as in the opinion of the commission will render the same constitutional; and also that the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission is hereby requested to define the term "public interest" as used in Section 920 and in other parts of the Public Utility Law; and be it further

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be given to the chairman and each of the members of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. I desire to make this statement, Mr. President, in explanation of a resolution I am about to present.

The Public Utilities Commission is a creation of the General Assembly. All the power they have a function as a Public Utilities Commission is a delegated power, delegated by this Honorable Body, as it is a creation of this Body. Responsibility for their decisions must be our responsibility; we must accept or reject the righteousness of all the decisions they make. This power, although delegated, has not been entirely relinquished by the General Assembly. During the last few years, increases in public utility rates in Pennsylvania have amounted to millions of dollars. If the same increases were made in taxes there would be an entire revolution on the part of the people of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, in the presenting of this resolution on the part of my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, and myself, I am asking the Public Utilities Commission to bring the facts of the cases of the Peoples Natural Gas Company, Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Equitable Gas Company, and the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company before the General Assembly, and let the General Assembly, when the facts are known to it, make a decision whether or not Public Utility rates should be increased in the State of Pennsylvania.

I offer the following resolution on the part of Senator Barr and myself and ask its immediate consideration.

Messrs. HOLLAND and BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 6, 1945.

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has within the past several years issued orders increasing rates for natural gas to ratepayers of The Peoples Natural Gas Company and Manufacturers Light and Heat Company serving large portions of western Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Equitable Gas Company has filed tariffs effecting similar increases in rates for natural gas to its ratepayers effective February 10, 1945, and

Whereas, the increased rates to the small ratepayer or customer of the three gas companies in some instances exceed 100% of the old rates, and

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has issued an order in the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company rate case which will permit increases in electric rates to its ratepayers, and

Whereas, it is contended that reductions in rates should have been made to the ratepayers of all four companies instead of increases authorized or that may be authorized by the Commission, now

Therefore be it Resolved, that the House of Representatives and the Senate of the General Assembly constitute themselves as a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of receiving and considering data in the hands of the Public Utility Commission and the four companies involved to the end that the Legislature exercise its legislative function under Article XVI, Section 3 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, to establish just and reasonable rates to be charged to the ratepayers for the natural gas or electricity supplied by the said four companies respectively.

Be it Further Resolved, that the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate and the Minority Leaders of the House and Senate be and are hereby constituted a Committee of Four for the purpose of gathering and compiling the necessary records and data in the files of Public Utility Commission from the books and records of the four above named public utilities and to compile therefrom the actual legitimate original cost of the properties, the amount of invested capital, capitalization, working capital requirements, legitimate operating expenses, depreciation and taxes for the purpose of compiling data for submission to the Committee of the Whole not more than thirty calendar days from the date of this action and as much in advance of that date as may be possible. For so doing said Committee of Four shall be authorized and directed to require of the Public Utility Commission and its staff such aid and assistance as it, the said Committee of Four, shall deem necessary and proper, which aid and assistance shall have priority over other Commission matters, and, likewise said committee shall have power of subpoena and shall have available to it the services of the Sergeants-at-Arms of the House and Senate for the purposes of enforcing the production of evidence or witnesses or such other matters material to the fixing of just and reasonable rates in this proceeding, and

Be it Further Resolved, that at the end of thirty calendar days from the date of this resolution or within five calendar days thereof, the House and Senate of the General Assembly shall meet in executive session as a Committee of the Whole to receive the report of the above named committee upon the original cost, invested capital, etc., as above recited and in due course to hear argument by counsel of the public utilities above named and intervenors representing municipalities and other parties in interest that may desire to be heard and that said Committee of the Whole shall continue in executive session with reasonable recess over week-ends until a final determination is reached of the just and reasonable rates to be charged the customers of the four public utilities, The Peoples Natural Gas Company, Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Equitable Gas Company and Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in arising to object to the request of the gentlemen from Allegheny, Senator Holland and Senator Barr, to immediate consideration of the resolution just offered, I find myself in a peculiar position in defending public utilities. I have had the privilege of being a participant in a lot of public utility legislation and litigation. I had the privilege of being associated with former Governor Pinchot on the Giant Power Project. I was public utility adviser of Governor Pinchot in his second administration. I have tried a lot of rate cases, always against public utilities, and I am in sympathy with the objective of the first resolution offered by my colleagues from Allegheny, Senators Barr and Holland, and also with the second resolution offered by Senators Holland and Barr, but I am not in sympathy with the method that they are following in order to arrive at their desired result. I have no sympathy with increasing utility rates, especially at a time like this.

In his introductory remarks, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, stated that increases of rates were very prevalent in Pennsylvania in the last few years. That remark perhaps will not be borne out by the record because utility rates have not been increased to such a great extent over the course of the last few years. If memory serves me rightly, the records will indicate that utility rates have been on the downward grade over the past few years, but, be that as it may, the end that the gentlemen from Allegheny, Senator Holland and Senator Barr, desire to accomplish—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of order.

Mr. DENT. Is this resolution debatable, Mr. President? Would we be permitted opportunity to answer the allegations made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, if the resolution is not debatable and is to be sent to committee before consideration.

Mr. WALKER. Before the Chair rules, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland raised the point of order that the resolution is not debatable and I submit, Mr. President, that, when the resolution was introduced, there was an explanatory statement made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, in support of the resolution and in support of immediate consideration. In objecting to immediate consideration of the resolution, I surely have a right to state my reason for so doing. I am not debating the merits of the resolution. I am explaining for the record, just as the gentleman who proposed the resolution explained why he wanted it considered at this time.

Mr. DENT. If I may straighten out the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, the gentleman says that the history of rates being charged in Pennsylvania will not bear out the allegations made in the resolution, and how does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, take the position that the resolution makes any allegations unless he is debating the contents of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I certainly agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, and I have no desire to debate the resolution, but I will gladly join in a debate on the merits of this resolution at any time with any gentleman who thinks it is founded upon sound procedure, but—

Mr. DENT. I might suggest, Mr. President, if the gentleman does not object to immediate consideration he will get the debate.

Mr. WALKER. May I suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that even though I am objecting he is going to get the debate.

Mr. DENT. I am ready at any time, Mr. President, to debate the question of this resolution, or any other proposition.

Mr. WALKER. Up to this point I have missed Shapiro, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. I rise on a point of order, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. I think I have the floor, Mr. President, unless the gentleman from Delaware arises on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Members of the Senate, of course we always have this gallery play on these things. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, when he introduced the resolution, asked for the privilege of explaining the resolution, and when the gentlemen from Allegheny, Senator Walker, objects to immediate consideration of the resolution, in the opinion of the Chair, as a matter of courtesy he has a right to give his reasons for so objecting. To the Chair that seems just a matter of common sense—it may not be in the rules.

Mr. DENT. You can have a good common sense administration, Mr. President, if you have the rules.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, will proceed, without interruption, I hope.

Mr. WALKER. May I say to the Chair, in all fairness, that the purpose of my explanation is so that we suddenly do not become branded, on the Republican side of this Senate, as being opposed to any investigation of rates. All we are asking is whether that is the proper modus operandi in arriving at the conclusions the gentlemen are after, and it is with that thought in mind, and with the absolute conviction that the procedure followed in these two resolutions sponsored by the gentlemen from Allegheny, Senator Barr and Senator Holland, is not the proper procedure to follow, that I make my objection.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. There has been objection to immediate consideration of the resolution. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the Chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Will the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery, tell me whether it would be possible to hold a meeting of the Committee on Public Utilities next week instead of waiting until February 20? At the present time these rate increases in the four cases mentioned in this resolution are particularly at issue in our end of the state, and as the representative of these people, I will not stand idly by and not do my duty and try to find what the facts are.

Would it be possible to hold a meeting next week of the Committee on Public Utilities?

Mr. MALLERY. The matters involved are of such magnitude that in my opinion the time fixed for the meeting is proper for their consideration. I understand that the matters under discussion possibly have been going on for some fifty or hundred years and therefore I do not think matters will be jeopardized much by delaying the meeting another week.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. During the discussion by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, in giving his reasons for objecting to the resolution, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, stated that he was doing so in order that the majority side of the Senate would not be branded or condemned beforehand by the public, in that his objection might create the impression that the Republican side was opposed to rate investigation.

By the same token, we on the Democratic side do not want to be branded as stating emphatically that the rate structure in the State of Pennsylvania is unfair. We all are seeking the answer to the question. That is why the resolution was introduced, and that is why I objected to the line of procedure of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, in making his objection.

I repeat that if the resolution is to be discussed upon the floor of the Senate, then it is open for discussion from all angles and not only from one.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WHITE.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 13.

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1945.

The President of the United States has publicly indicated a desire to have the Congress of the United States enact legislation under which the Great Lakes St. Lawrence Deep Waterways would be constructed:

The enactment of such legislation would seriously and dangerously affect the economic, industrial, agricultural, commercial and shipping interests of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by reason of a disruption in the manufacturing, mining and agricultural production of the Commonwealth, the transportation facilities of common carriers which traverse this Commonwealth, and the port facilities of Erie and Philadelphia;

Such legislation would, furthermore, materially reduce the exportation of the combined manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth, and would encourage the importation of products manufactured in European countries under living conditions far below the standard maintained in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and below the wage standard paid by the industrial mining, and agricultural transportation and shipping interests of this Commonwealth, and would result in heavy loss of employment and revenue, and would prove to be a contributing factor to increased taxation;

Such legislation would seriously affect transportation on and over the railroads operating in that section of the Nation, and particularly in Pennsylvania, of goods and materials now transported thereon;

Such curtailment of transportation on and over such railroads would deprive them of a large portion of their income, and necessitate the dismissal of thousands of employees;

Such legislation would adversely affect the coal business, the coal miners of Pennsylvania would suffer great losses by reason of the opening of such waterway resulting in the dismissal of thousands of miners now gainfully employed; and

The said injury to the railroads and the mining industry would be greatly reflected in the general business conditions of this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania goes on record as opposed to the enactment of such legislation by the Congress of the United States for the opening of the Great Lakes St. Lawrence Deep Waterways, and requests the United States Senators and Representatives to use their influence and vote against all such legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senior United States Senator from Pennsylvania so record in the Congressional Record this day's opposition to such legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House immediately transmit a copy of this Resolution to each of the United States Senators and Representatives from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. POWERS.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 14.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1945.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has before it various bills proposing the establishment of compulsory military training for the youth of the United States; and

Whereas, Some of the legislative proposals provide for the drafting of boys for a one year period upon their reaching the age of twenty-one; and

Whereas, One such proposal provides that such compulsory training shall be conducted in the various army and navy centers as scattered throughout the United States; and

Whereas, Were such proposals enacted into law, they would cause an abrupt interruption in the lives of our youth and would mean the separation of our youth from their homes and their families for long periods of time. No, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the attainment of providing compulsory military training can be the better obtained by incorporating the same into the high school and college curriculums of this country and thus to keep our youth in their own homes, with their own families in their own schools and churches, and with their own friends and acquaintances, and in the environment they will grow up to be men; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, to the presiding officers of each House of Congress, and to each United States Senator and Congressman from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BAKER and McNAIR.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 15.

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1945.

Whereas, Certain individuals and corporations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, some of whom are commonly described as "underliers," obtain income through franchises, grants or privileges extended by governmental units, and not through investments, management or other activities which provide tangible equipment or services; therefore, be it Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a joint legislative committee is hereby created to consist of five members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker, and five Senators, appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to investigate the "underliers" and others in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County deriving income from public grants, without investment of capital or the furnishing of either property, commodities or service. The members of the committee shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be allowed their actual and necessary expenses incurred in connection with the performance of their duties. The committee may, in order to carry out its purposes, employ expert and clerical assistance. All such expenses shall be paid out of an appropriation to be made by the General Assembly.

The committee shall be authorized to study the detriments to the public interest which are alleged to arise from the above situation, and all proposed means of eliminating such detriments. It may specifically consider whether the income above referred to can be made receivable by governmental units, in whole or in part, through voluntary or other forms of payment. The committee shall hold public hearings in the city of Pittsburgh at which all persons desiring the opportunity may be heard.

The committee is authorized either as a body or through majority and minority reports to draft and recommend legislation designed to eliminate detriments to the public interest which may be found in the course of its investigation.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. VARALLO and Mrs. COYLE.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 16.

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1945.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, normally has hundreds of thousands of women in practically all businesses and professions; and

Whereas, The number of women working outside of their homes has constantly increased during the present war, particularly in war industries and in occupations formerly performed by men, due to the enlistment of men in the armed forces and the patriotic response of women to meet their country's call for maximum production; and

Whereas, Women have amply demonstrated that they are capable of filling positions of responsibility; and

Whereas, Only women fully understand women's problems and the solution of such problems, and since preservation of the home is vital to our welfare and tranquility, the public would benefit if more women occupied public offices; and

Whereas, There is now a vacancy on the bench of the Superior Court of this Commonwealth; therefore be it Resolved, By the House of Representatives that the Governor be requested to appoint a woman attorney-at-law to fill such vacancy.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Whereas, The neighboring States of Delaware and Maryland were among those in which dove hunting was permitted; and

Whereas, No hunting for doves has been permitted in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a number of years, notwithstanding the fact that large numbers of these birds are raised within the Commonwealth and migrate to the States south of us where they are hunted annually; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the General Assembly hereby requests the Pennsylvania Game Commission to include in its migratory bird season recommendations to the United States Department of the Interior for the current year, that a 1945 open season for doves be declared for the counties lying in Southeastern Pennsylvania, on an experimental basis during the regular upland small game season; and be it further

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON RULES

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules be discharged from further consideration of House Concurrent Resolution No. 3 (Page 83 of House History), creating a Committee to be known as the "Legislative Committee on Non-Partisan Co-operation" which resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules, Wednesday, January 17, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the House for giving its unanimous consent to the consideration of this resolution at this time. The resolution would ordinarily have come up at a later period. However if this resolution is brought upon the floor of the House and acted upon favorably it will obviate, do away with and wipe out many of our present apparent differences. The resolution is not long, but I have not asked the Clerk to read it. You will find it on page 83 of the House History, and I think it is worth your while turning to it.

Resolution No. 3, Serial No. 5, has to do with the Legislative Committee on Non-partisan Cooperation. It is a comparatively brief resolution and the Committee on Rules has had plenty of time to pass upon it.

All this resolution does—and I am not arguing the resolution—I simply want to point out to you what the resolution does, it lists the legislative objective concerning which his Excellency the Governor and the membership on this side of the House are in apparent agreement, and the resolution asks for the appointment of a committee that would implement the points of agreement or apparent agreement between his Excellency the Governor in his statement contained in his annual message and the statement of policy to which the Democratic legislative caucus is committed.

Now, gentlemen of the House, I understand that harmony, cooperation, by-partisan effort is to be the subject of another conference which his Excellency the Governor will convene, and I think it would be a gracious thing upon the part of this House if we were able to say to his Excellency the Governor that as far as the House is concerned, my side of the House and your side of the House mutually pledge their faith that they will in all honest effort attempt to implement the program by means of legislation, the program, I repeat, to which his Excellency the Governor in his message to the General Assembly, and the Democratic legislative caucus in its message to the public are mutually committed, and on that basis Mr. Speaker, I ask for the passage of this resolution.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Committee on Rules I arise to oppose this resolution. I would say to the gentleman from Cambria that resolution No. 3 is now resting in the Committee on Rules, and as stated in the second paragraph, it is an expression of hope that by means of this statement we might reach some agreement in policy as to the Legislative intent in this session.

First, I would say that I am opposed to the resolution now offered dismissing the Committee on Rules from further consideration of Resolution No. 3 because the Committee on Rules has given very serious consideration and deliberation to the contents and the desire on the part of the minority to have this resolution passed.

It is the expression of the Democratic Legislative Caucus, and I believe has been pretty well patterned after the recommendation of the Governor in his original message to the joint session of the General Assembly on January 2nd.

We feel that the program that the Governor has advanced in that message is one of benefit and great help to the entire citizenry of Pennsylvania, and the fourteen points enumerated in the resolution coincide with the recommendations except for a few exceptions made by the Governor at that time. But we do not feel that we should on this side of the House pledge to the legislative intent of either the Governor's program or the program of the Democratic Legislative Caucus, the Members of the majority side.

The Rules Committee has felt that every man has been elected to represent his or her Legislative district, that there might be in this program things that because of circumstances might be injurious to that particular district, and we feel that every Member on this side of the House has a right to express his or her opinion on that Legislation, and we would not want to bind in any way, shape or form any Member on this side of the House to a program, whether it be submitted by the Governor of Pennsylvania or by the Democratic Legislative Caucus without having an opportunity either in committee on or the floor of this House to study the bills and the legislation that has been introduced and will be introduced on the various fourteen points contained in this resolution.

We feel that there should be an independent spirit in the thinking and in the action of the Members of this Legislature, and I know that the Governor has said on many occasions that he has divorced himself from the issuance of specially colored bills or in any other way designating any "must" legislation. He has recommended a program which he considers would be to the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania, recommended it to the entire membership of this House and has asked that where we can agree, we shall try to do so any great lengthy debate on the merits of legislation and pass it, feeling that we have done something for the people of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, may I state again in opposition to this resolution, we felt that it was unfair to bind the legislative intent, not knowing how far some of this legislation might go in carrying out these proposals which are very general in this resolution; that we would not bind the membership, at least on this side of the House to the legislative intent of either the budget message or the Democratic Legislative Caucus, and I therefore ask that we vote down this resolution.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, history repeats itself. If his resolution is speedily voted down, it will not have been the first time in history that Democratic fourteen points have been wrecked by the Republicans.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Lehigh has told us that the fourteen points recommended by the Democratic caucus in its statement of legislative intent is quite in line with the Governor's recommendations on the same subject. It therefore comes rather as a surprise and somewhat shocking that the Republican side should take up a position of complete independence of the Governor's wishes on legislative matters.

Don't forget, Mr. Speaker, that a statement of legislative intent is not a commitment on legislative interpretation. I do not believe that every Member on this side will agree in fact and in point with everything that any other Member might agree with in carrying out this intent. But I say to you, Mr. Speaker, the intent of the Governor as expressed in his messages, if the intent of the Democratic caucus agrees with it in whole or in part—that to summarily vote down a resolution which would be on the nature of advice to the Governor, or in an advisory capacity to the Governor, that we as an independent body are prepared to carry out its recommendations, then the Republican side is declaring war on the Governor, the Republican side is not going to heed its own advice, and if there is going to be a war on the Governor, it seems like the battle will have to be fought here. We on this side shall take the Governor's intent, we shall examine it, we shall carefully inspect it as to detail of legislative matters, and if we find him to be right we shall support him; if we find he is wrong, we shall fight him, and if we must fight the Republican side of this House we shall do so, but we are going to take our legislative intent and the Governor's intentions as set forth in his messages and see if we cannot get together and get some decent legislation for the benefit of all the people—and I suspect that is why we are all here.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to briefly reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen. There is certainly no intent upon the part of the majority side of this House to inaugurate a quarrel with the minority or with the Governor of this Commonwealth. As I previously stated in my reply to the gentleman from Cambria, the Committee on Rules which this resolution seeks to discharge from further consideration of Resolution No. 3 as introduced by the gentleman from Cambria, feels that certainly every Member on this side of the House has the right to express himself or herself and be independent in studying the legislation which will carry out the fourteen points on the Democratic legislative program or the message of the Governor of Pennsylvania.

The Governor in his message very definitely stated that he was not putting through a "must" legislative program; they were his recommendations, he believed that they were for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania but that we should study the proposals that he made in that message and act accordingly. I want to say that there is no quarrel between the majority Members of this House and the Governor of Pennsylvania whom we respect and honor. We believe that he has made sound recommendations to this Legislature for their consideration but that they are to be disposed of by the independent thinking and work of the Members of this Legislature.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like a roll call on the resolution.

I wish to say but one thing, that the Governor can well be in the position of the maiden who was being wooed said, "If you love me tell me so."

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

Mr. SPEAKER. The oath of office will now be administered to Hon. Edward Duffey, Jr., representing the twenty-first legislative district of the County of Philadelphia, by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, a judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The Chair appoints the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Pettigrew, to stand at the bar of the House, with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Duffy, during the administration of the oath of office.

The oath of office was then administered to the Honorable Edward Duffey, Jr., by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to welcome back to the House the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Duffy. We certainly wish his early recovery so that he will be able to be back in his regular place and join us in the proceedings of this House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SCANLON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to rise today to welcome to the House of Representatives a Member from Philadelphia who had a very serious accident. I might say that he was injured in the act of trying to save a fellow workman. It is with a great deal of pleasure that I as chairman of the Philadelphia delegation, and the rest of the Members of this House welcome Edward Duffy as a member from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks his honor Judge Robert E. Woodside of Dauphin County Court for administering the oath of office.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a Caucus of the Democratic Members in the Old Caucus Room immediately after recess.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will declare a recess for thirty minutes. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 207, entitled:

An Act to provide for the receiving as evidence in any court office or other place in this State official findings records reports or certified copies thereof of death presumed death missing or other status issued by the Secretaries of War and Navy and other Federal officers and employees.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Special Session of 1936 P. L. 13) entitled "An act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor as herein defined sold by the Pennsylvania Liquid Control Board providing for the collection and payment of such tax and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions thereof for a further limited period of time

The first section was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for a hearing.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there are two matters that I think should be aired before the Committee on Ways and Means before final action on the budget is taken. I am speaking primarily now to the lawyers on the other side of the House where there are some good ones, if there can be good lawyers.

The first matter that I think should be considered by your constitutional authorities is its effect upon the heart of your budget. As you know, this administration inherited a surplus from the last administration, and I suggest to your lawyers that under the constitution the surplus inherited by this administration from the last administration should either be used for the reduction of debt or placed in the sinking fund.

Now, I urge that view in all seriousness, because if it is disregarded there is a distinct possibility that sometime some irate taxpayer might upset your whole apple cart, and if I am right in my view it would affect your tax structure and the bill which you are now passing. I would like to have that question aired before your committee.

The second matter also goes to the heart of your budget, none other than the constitutional question of whether the State can pay obligations that it could not originally incur. I do not think that that question has been properly argued. I think you need more light on the matter as to whether the State can at this time and in the manner you prescribed retire State Authority bonds. I think there should be a hearing upon that question. Then there are other matters that I think there should be hearings upon and further discussions.

I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my request to the House is whether or not the Majority Leader at this time will permit the entertaining of a motion to recommit not only the bill under discussion, but the other three tax measures which appear on the same and next page of the calendar, so that debate on the four bills, which would otherwise be identical, could be had at one time, and that other matters be taken up after the motion to recommit is passed or defeated; also that they be debated at one and the same time, in order to save the time of the House.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia I want to say that we will be very happy to cooperate in saving the time of the Members of the House in debating the motion to recommit the four bills rather than separately as the bills appear on the calendar.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I now move that House

Bills 39, 64, 80 and 83 be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for a hearing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that you proceed with the debate on the question and we will take the other motions up later.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the debate on the motion to recommit shall be understood to include all four bills?
Mr. SPEAKER. That is the Chair's understanding.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the debate on the motion to recommit the bills on the minority side is now at a standstill, and the burden now shifts to the other side to refute if they can the argument we have presented.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion of the Minority Floor Leader to recommit now by agreement House Bills Nos. 39, 64, 80 and 83.

Among other things the Minority Floor Leader states as a reason for his motion, and in support of it, that there is a constitutional question as to the propriety of the retirement of State Authority bonds. Mr. Speaker, if I understand the situation correctly the State Authority bonds may be broadly referred to as a type of deficit financing. That is to say at the time that the State Authority bonds came into existence we had a constitutional prohibition which prevented the borrowing of money by the Commonwealth directly under a bond issue.

We have had two decisions by the State Supreme Court. I believe the Supreme Court first went on record that this method of so called deficit financing was unconstitutional, and then the Court later reversed itself and said it was constitutional, and I believe that is the position in which we find ourselves today.

I might digress by saying that I have been a Member of this House since 1939, and I have heard many interesting arguments as to the constitutionality of various pieces of legislation from time to time. It is not my intention to cast any reflection on the Members of this House when I say that it must in the last analysis remain with the Court as to whether or not legislation that we do pass here is constitutional or unconstitutional.

It seems to me as a general proposition that if the Supreme Court said that it was constitutional to create these bonds, it certainly must follow as a logical proposition that it would be constitutional to pay them off. Certainly they are not going to hang in suspension indefinitely. Therefore, I say to the Members of this House that I feel that the Minority Floor Leader is not on firm ground when he says that we must recommit to the Committee on Ways and Means these tax measures, where after all they could be considered only by the Members of that Committee. I think we should have them out here where we have them so that all the Members of the House can give them full consideration.

Therefore, I repeat that I ask the Members of the House to vote down this motion.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask what the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee thinks as to the particular section of the Constitution that provides that surplus money shall be used, must be used either for the retirement of debt or for use in the sinking fund?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I should say in answer to that question that I would be pleased first, to have the gentleman from Cambria cite to me the section and article of the Constitution that applies to the particular use of surplus funds for the purpose of retiring these bonds.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, Section 12, in Article IX of the Constitution reads:

"The moneys of the state over and above the necessary reserve shall be used in the payment of the debt of the State, either directly or through the sinking fund, and the moneys of the sinking fund shall never be invested in or loaned upon the security of anything, except the bonds of the United States or of this State."

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would say in reply to the gentleman from Cambria that we do not wish to confuse the State indebtedness to which I referred a moment ago as a bonded indebtedness which has been permitted under the Constitution.

I pointed out in my remarks a few moments ago that the reason we resorted to deficit financing was because we were prohibited by this very Constitution from borrowing money under a bond issue, because we had already reached the ceiling. Now, we resorted to deficit financing but we certainly do not have to consider it on the same basis as raising money, as a State obligation by bonded indebtedness. In other words they resorted to subterfuge, if you wish to call it that, and I don't think we are bound by this Section 12 of Article IX of the Constitution.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee whether the Authority bonds when issued were obligations of the Commonwealth involving either its faith or credit.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, they certainly were obligations of the Commonwealth, but they were not obligations in the ordinary sense of that term. I have already pointed out to the gentleman that it so confused the State Supreme Court that it did the unusual thing of reversing itself, at first saying it was unconstitutional to enact that kind of legislation, or resorting rather to that type of deficit financing.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, at the time these bonds were marketed was the fact not proclaimed that the bonds were not state bonds, that they did not involve the faith or the credit of this Commonwealth and were they not sold to a retirement fund on the basis that they were not state obligations but were obligations against a specific enterprise which was supposed to be self-liquidating?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to do is to lift the veil. I am not interested in niceties of distinction of language. I am merely pointing out that the money of the taxpayers of the Commonwealth has been used to defray the cost of that deficit financing, and ultimately it must be the funds raised by taxation and paid by the tax payers that will be used for the purpose of liquidating this indebtedness. Now, you can call it anything you wish.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention again of the lawyers on the other side of this House to Section 13, Article IX of the Constitution. The General State Authority is a self-liquidating concern. You cannot be a self-liquidating concern unless you make money. Under Section 14 of the Constitution it is provided:

"The making of a profit out of the public moneys or using the same for any purpose not authorized by law by any officer of the state . . ."

I repeat, Mr. Speaker, "the use of public moneys," and they were not used by any officer of the state, they were used by a corporation or a corporate body created by the state, which is an entirely different problem. I tell you, gentlemen, you can argue as much as you like, if there is anybody who goes after this thing, they can knock the heart out of your budget. So I hope you will take the proper precautions and get on safe legal ground before you go too far in this matter.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would say in reply to the gentleman from Cambria that in the first place I feel we are on safe ground when we treat this as a reserve. There is certainly nothing in the law that would prevent this surplus from being considered as a reserve for the purpose of paying off this indebtedness, and when the gentleman goes over to Article IX, Section 13, I believe that he is referring there to the question of raising money, or rather appropriating money, whereas we are in the business under these four bills of raising the funds. It is not a question of allocation or distribution. The bonds, if I am properly informed, of the Joint State Government Authority, will be defrayed out of the surplus that has already been accumulated.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Cohen and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 3, line 18, by inserting lightface brackets before and after the words "General Fund."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 3, line 18, by inserting after the word "Fund" the following: "to the Department of Public Instruction for the payment by the Commonwealth of the whole of the minimum salaries of all members of the teaching and supervisory staffs in all school districts subject to the reduction of taxes on real property by school districts."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, now that our legal argument has fallen on deaf ears, even among the standard bearers of the Constitution on the other side, perhaps we can now appeal to the practical men, the laymen on the other side, with a practical proposition. I have attempted to gather in my material for the argument on these amendments and similar amendments on the other three bills that follow to face a practical issue and to face it in a realistic manner.

We must bear in mind that the function of a government is to properly provide if possible for at least minimum decent standards in service to the people generally, and in doing that not to lose sight, of course of the fact that the taxpayers' pocketbook is to be carefully watched, not with the idea of seeing how fat it is to take out of, but to see how thin it might be so that we might add to it.

In the last session of this Legislature, Mr. Speaker, we took care of the corporations in connection with the reduction in the emergency net income tax, and we took care in a large measure of some of the smaller businesses and some not so small, by repealing completely the mercantile appraisers' tax, and then we went so far in taking the first step towards our post war tax program by providing for the exemption of manufacturing concerns in Pennsylvania from tax, their corporate tax or their capital stock tax, which has been a great money getter for the Commonwealth for many years, and in doing those things we came down to a supposed irreducible minimum of tax reduction, and we came to the conclusion that we would balance out dollar for dollar, but after a fight led on this side of the House and joined in by only a few on the other side, we finally were able to convince the other side of the House and the Governor's Budget Directors and mathematicians that there was enough money to pay the school teachers of Pennsylvania a bonus or a cost of living increase. At that time, Mr. Speaker, we said that the amount was not sufficient, and that more could be given, and we also said that there would be more money left over so that the Governor had no worries about meeting the Republican doctrine that the best government is the government that spends the least money, that the best government is the government that has the most money left over at the end of the biennium, although you may have neglected some essential services to the people.

So now, Mr. Speaker, the time is drawing near to the end of this biennium, when we on this side are in a position to tell you, "We told you so. We were right and you were wrong." If we on this side of the House can show that the Governor was wrong once, do not forget that the Governor can be wrong again and we do not want him to be wrong again. We propose to give him the figures based upon our record of accurate and correct analysis, as against his understanding and his budgetary bungling.

Let us take a few of these tax items and see what they lead into. I am not going to discuss for a moment the Governor's $160,000,000 of post-war moneys; that will be a subject for further discussion at the proper time. Let us forget all about that money, let us talk about the money we want to get to save the taxpayers back home, and how can we get it? It is just as simple as all this; it can be written on one piece of paper, if you will listen carefully.

In the 1943-1945 biennium, the biennium which is now under discussion, the Governor estimated that the cigarette emergency tax would bring $26,000,000. We said he was low. On the basis of figures of receipts up to this time and on the basis of a performance of tax payments, even during the recent cigarette shortage, we find that we will get about $30,000,000, which gives us approximately $4,000,000 of a surplus.

Then on the gross receipts tax of utilities, transportation and power companies, the Governor estimated that we would receive $9,000,000, which we said was not enough, in the light of better than $11,000,000 collected in the biennium, we said it would come to more and it has come to more, because it is going to amount to about $12,000,000, or a surplus of $3,000,000.

The corporate net income tax, the Governor estimate at $68,000,000. We thought that we were radical when we said it would bring in 85 or $88,000,000. The other side said, "No, it cannot be," but the result is, ladies and gentlemen of the House, that we are going to take in by the time this biennium is over $135,000,000, or a surplus of $67,000,000, and the proof of that is that the Governor now has estimated the receipts from that tax alone during the biennium at $129,000,000, thereby telling us that he missed the boat by some $67,000,000, or almost one hundred percent. That will give us a surplus for this biennium also, leaving aside the $160,000,000 for post-war planning, of $110,000,000 that we did not spend the last time, that we did not pass out in tax reductions the last time, and which is now available for us in this session to do something with.

Let us go a bit further, on the basis of past performance and actual history and project ourselves more into the next biennium and discuss 1945-47, wherein the Governor states that he estimates the cigarette tax would bring in $27,000,000, and we say again that it will bring in $30,000,000, on the basis of actual receipts even during the severe shortage of cigarettes.

The next item, capital net income tax, that the Governor tells us will bring in $6,000,000, and we say that the power companies, the transportation companies and the utilities which paid the utility tax of 14 mills, the emergency tax, will be doing the same amount of business, as a matter of fact. If what I hear is correct, the Public Utilities Commission is refusing to reduce rates when the rates can be reduced, they ought to be able to pay at least the same amount of tax as at present during this biennium, which will give us an additional $6,000,000 for the biennium.

The corporate net income tax, in spite of the fact that the Governor estimates that we will take in $29,000,000, and he only estimates that we will take in $96,000,000 the next biennium, and he ought to know that half of that tax has already been payable by corporations that pay that tax, and the money is yet coming in, and unless the Governor is able to show us that industry will stop war production in Pennsylvania—I predict that if the war with Germany stops today, please God, that will not stop the fighting, we will still have to fight Japan, and industry in Pennsylvania will continue to earn its swollen profits, and we ought to take in $135,000,000 and not $96,000,000 which will give us a surplus of $39,000,000 at the end of this biennium, so that we have $48,000,000 that we are underestimating again at this time. $110,000,000 plus $48,000,000 means $158,000,000, which we can safely do something with, now.

Now, Mr. Speaker, for the sixty-four dollar question. I say that this money ought to be used now for a proper purpose, and no man can say that there is not a forgotten man in Pennsylvania. The forgotten man, Mr. Speaker, is the real estate taxpayer in Pennsylvania. He is the fellow who has been paying the same rate of tax—I know in Philadelphia, for many years. He is the same fellow, I am not certain of that, who has been paying the same rate of tax in Pittsburgh, and he is the fellow who has been paying approximately the same rate of tax throughout the Commonwealth, the business man, the factory owner, the farmer, he has received no benefit of any tax reduction in years of any kind from the local community.

We do not suggest that we should violate the fundamental basis of home rule by telling the local communities to reduce their tax rates. We are only saying here, having this huge surplus on our hands today, can we do something with it to relieve the taxpayer by performing an essential service for the Commonwealth, and have the state reward the long-suffering real estate taxpayer? Here is how. We have spent in the past biennium for school teachers the sum of one hundred and four million dollars, which includes a deficiency of two million dollars on the calendar today, to pay a portion of school teachers' salaries and other expenses that go along with those appropriations. If we in this House should decide that the State of Pennsylvania has a proper governmental function, not a half function by giving half the money but as a proper function, we would say as a matter of policy or economy that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should undertake to pay the entire minimum teachers' salary schedule of the state, which should be about two hundred million dollars per biennium. One hundred and four million dollars we have spent and have provided for and the next biennium ninety-six million dollars approximately, and that is two hundred million dollars to the school teachers, and the school teachers are subsidized by the Commonwealth, which would mean a surplus of sixty-two million dollars, so that at the end of this administration the Governor can say, "I have been a good bookkeeper, and we still have sixty-two million dollars of your money which we have not squandered."

Then this bill says, that this money should go to the Department of Public Instruction for the purpose of paying the standard, minimum wage of school teachers, provided there is a reduction in the school taxes in the local communities to the extent to which this money is given by the state to the local school districts and the communities.

Now, Mr. Speaker, what are we doing? I don't like to argue the Constitutional question again because you have repudiated it, but we leave ourselves with less money left over to put in the sinking fund. We at least are giving to the school teachers this recognition which has been long overdue during these many years, and that the state shall assume its rightful obligation to pay the minimum salaries of the teachers of the state, provided that the local estate taxpayers get relief which they have been entitled to for all these many years.

And what will happen? I don't know except in Philadelphia we are at the end of the rope; we are beginning to burst through the seams, and we are endeavoring to make our outgo match our income; but in another year we will not have enough money in Philadelphia to pay our way. So that with this money coming into Philadelphia it is possible to really work out the tax burden on real estate so that property in Philadelphia can be more productive and can produce more business and more industry to pay more taxes so that the people might be attracted to come to Philadelphia to conduct their business because of better tax conditions. If these things can be accomplished everyone can be satisfied. The budget doesn't have to be too far out of line, and we do not have to forget that we still work over and under a Constitution.

Now, Members of the House, as I said before, these figures are all set out here. I would be very happy in committee or out of committee, on the floor or off the floor, in the cloak room or in the train going home to discuss these figures, which I have all ready to give to you in dollars and cents, if you want them that way, but as I say, we have a chance now to do something constructive, something real. Don't forget we were right the last time and the Governor was wrong. He admits it in his budget message. Don't let him be wrong again. Why don't you get right with him?

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, the question before the House is House Bill No. 39, a revenue measure proposed and brought out of the Ways and Means Committee. House Bill No. 39 is the liquor tax. This amendment would take the proceeds of House Bill No. 39 and allocate it to the Department of Public Instruction for the payment of minimum salaries of teachers.

House Bill No. 39 would bring in approximately twenty-three million dollars. The Republican party has always been cognizant of the needs of public education, and the Governor in his message has provided the sum of twenty-seven million dollars in the budget allocated to teachers' salaries. We are going to ask the Members on this side of the House to oppose the amendment to this revenue bill on the grounds that we can show in debate on third reading that this budget is a true budget, and that we have use for every dollar raised, that each problem of government will be taken up separately and developed.

The school situation is one that seemed to step outside the confines of this liquor tax. Twenty-three million dollars would be a rather niggardly reward to the teaching profession when the Governor offers twenty-seven million. The members of this House are fully cognizant of that responsibility. We have accepted it and we will deal with it when the time comes.

The gentleman from Philadelphia raised a problem concerning the gross receipts tax.

In the corporate net income tax we are faced with the problem of re-negotiation. Pennsylvania is one of the greatest industrial states in the nation. All of those huge war contracts are subject to re-negotiation and many of them are being re-negotiated. The Federal Government takes recognition of the re-negotiation of contracts and allows them credit on the tax program. Here in Pennsylvania we certainly can do no less. We have problems of re-negotiation stretching back over 1942, 1943, and 1944.

Perhaps the budget is overly optimistic in the receipts we do expect, but all of that will come out as we discuss that particular phase of the budget. Right now the question before the House is an amendment to House Bill No. 39 which provides for the earmarking of the liquor tax to the Department of Public Instruction. We say the amendment has no place in the revenue measure, and we ask the Members on this side to oppose the amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I not only suggest that the proceeds of the tax we are talking about be used for the schools, but we are also going to suggest that the proceeds from the other taxes be used for the schools for the reason that they can be used for the schools and still finance the Governor's program. We are saying to you that the money is there and we would have liked to have had the opportunity to demonstrate that fact to your committee.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, as I understood from the interrogation by the Minority Floor Leader we would be permitted to discuss in order to save time the tax measures on the calendar today, and that is reflected also in the roll call.

Mr. SPEAKER. That is the sense of the House.

Mr. BROWN. Did I understand the Speaker to say that is the sense of the House?

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. BROWN. The reason I want to be clear, Mr. Speaker, is because I do not want to transgress upon the rules of the House.

I raise a very important question to some of those who have been given the responsibility to direct and supervise some of the agencies of this state which are vital to the well being of the Commonwealth. I believe this Legislature this session, Mr. Speaker, is confronted with a problem which is greater than anything that can come here except the winning of the war.

First of all we have as our parent government the Commonwealth which functions through its departments, which has as its head a capable Governor, but after all, the great number of people of the Commonwealth are concerned with the subdivisions of the Commonwealth, the municipalities and other subdivisions that are serving in a quasi municipal function, and they find themselves in this anomalous situation, the parent government, the Commonwealth is rolling in wealth, with an anticipated surplus at the end of the biennium and the next biennium, but these quasi municipal governments and municipalities are faced with the problem of curtailing functions vital to the people because they have no money. It does seem to me that before we enact this tax program we should strip it of any constitutional question that may be involved, we should strip it of all partisanship, and we should say to ourselves, "Is it fair to the people of this Commonwealth that the school districts have to curtail vital matters pertaining to the children and their well-being when we have a surplus of money here that we have to strain points to see what to do with it?"

We should review our entire tax structure; we should recommit these bills, we should make it possible not only for the real estate owner to be relieved, but for some of this money, which can only be taxed by the Commonwealth, to go back into the communities that must perform services on their streets, fire departments, sewers, schools, police and health; all of these things make for the well-being of the Commonwealth, and when you cripple any of them the Commonwealth is crippled likewise.

On behalf of these municipalities, these quasi-municipal functions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we come to this Legislature and we say to you that before enacting a tax measure relieve us from the straight jacket of getting our entire revenue with the exception of a small percentage from real estate, which does not constitute the wealth of this Commonwealth, but let us come into the parents' house and eat and partake of the fullness that reside therein.

Mr. Speaker, we should recommit these bills until we do our full duty to the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, with a slight addition to the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny, it seems to me the whole problem of what we are going to do with the State's money is just a little bit out of kilter—it is a little bit lopsided. We are here on February 6, 1945 and we are deciding how much money we are going to raise in taxes when the House has not yet been informed by a study by the Committee on Appropriations as to what money ought to be spent, where it ought to be spent, who wants what and when.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that we may tax ourselves a lot of money that we do not need, and it may suddenly come to pass that the majority party may try to reverse itself on these figures that the gentleman from Allegheny referred to, and may decide to spend more money than before, so it seems to me we ought to know how much money we will need before we here decide how much tax we shall collect.

I know well that there has been a committee that has been working on the problem of school teachers generally. My argument is based completely on what the tax condition is today. It may very well be when the report of the committee is presented that we may change our old idea of the position of the Commonwealth on school subsidies, and if we do who can say here and now that these tax measures provide enough or not enough.

I want to clear up one other misapprehension, and that is the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, made his argument completely on House Bill 39, which has to do with liquor taxes. For the record, it is to be understood that the arguments on the tax question are to be on all four bills, and if the gentleman had done his usual careful listening he would have noted that we made no mention of liquor tax being used for school purposes. We are not talking about liquor tax for school purposes. I do not like the idea of taking whiskey money for schools, so I left it out entirely, and if there is any surplus I would just disregard it. We have got to have it, I suppose, since sin is always with us, and so is liquor and liquor taxes, but, Mr. Speaker, we ought to make the record clear that we are not advocating the use of the liquor tax for school purposes. We left them out altogether—nothing to do with it. If we want to have liquor taxes for something else that is all right, let us keep it from the schools.

I think, Mr. Speaker, that the issue is well met. We can have home rule and we can have increased functions, and we can have a better Commonwealth if we amend the bills as I suggest, or if not, let us do what was suggested before, let us get them recommitted to the Committee; let us have the Attorney General, a great lawyer, give us an opinion on the constitutional question involved. Let us sit down and find out how much money we are going to spend before we collect the money to pay for it, and then we will have a proper budget and a real budget to give to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I tried to follow the gentleman from Philadelphia in his thoughts as well as the gentleman from Allegheny. History records results, has always done so in our time and the time of our ancestors before us. History records results.

The question has been raised here this afternoon as to the propriety of bringing out these tax measures before we know what we are going to do with the money. It certainly seems a strange quirk of fate that the gentleman from Philadelphia should raise this question when if he would study the records of the House he would find that when his party was the majority party of Pennsylvania in 1935 his tax program was presented and passed through the House on March 19th, and the general appropriations came in on May 22nd. Certainly either a question of now reversing themselves to where they can say, "double the ante and you raise the money," or "We now admit the error of our ways."

I understood that the House had passed upon a motion to recommit the bill and I am sorry if the gentleman felt that I was out of legislative technique when I confined myself to remarks on the amendment to the liquor tax bill, House Bill No. 39, which allocates the money for minimum salaries.

We intend to discuss this budget in its varying phases. This is a revenue bill; we are now discussing the amendment to House Bill Number 39 and we are asking the Members on this side to vote down the amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, since 1935 there has been an opportunity for almost anybody to have learned something if they made a mistake in 1935. The propositions that we are submitting to you—and remember we have been discussing not simply an amendment to a particular bill but by leave of the House we have been discussing the program, and we say to you in summarizing our position that were we given the opportunity of a hearing before the proper committee we would be prepared to show to you that at the end of this biennium taking the taxes that you now propose levying and considering the general situation, that you will wind up this biennium with approximately two hundred million dollars of a surplus, with a possible top of two hundred twenty million dollars.

Now, do you propose, gentlemen, to add to the two hundred twenty million dollar surplus and the other sizeable surplus you have now? We say to you that our program is very simple; it simply projects the thought submitted on this floor by the gentleman from Bucks when he said that his committee or some commission expected to bring in a bill which would increase school subsidies by some twenty million dollars. I say to you that there is the money so that you can increase school subsidies to the tune of eighty million dollars as a minimum, and these distressed school districts will want to know when they survey at the end of the biennium your swelling surplus, why you did not at this session do something for them.

Now, gentlemen, we have not been talking at random. We have taken the income for the first month of the first year in the biennium and we have compared that income with the first month of the second year of the biennium, and we have gone down the list, comparing the second month of the first year with the second month of the second year, getting the drift, getting the trend, so we say to you that we are on solid ground when we say that your tax program instead of raising the hundred sixty-nine million dollars, as the Governor's budget message says, will actually raise four hundred seventy-five million dollars.

Now, if we were talking at random, if in the past when we talked about finance we had not known what we were talking about, it would be a different matter, but gentlemen, the same budget office that framed the budget comes before you with an admitted margin of error in excess of one hundred ten million dollars, and I say to you that is a pretty wide margin.

The way to do something for the school districts, the way to do something for the real estate taxpayer, is to act. You cannot help the local taxpayer with a surplus that you spend for something else. Those are the issues that come before you today. You are not rejecting our program merely; you are rejecting the admitted need of these taxpayers and these thousands upon thousands of school districts that have appealed to this Legislature these many years and have received doles. We say the time for any doles for school districts is over, and that the time to frame a program that will meet their needs here because you have the money.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, as an individual and as a member of the party I would not take my hat off to anybody in my love for the school system and my interest in it. I am happy to hear that the other side has taken a sudden interest in the school program. In 1937 when you were in power you tied it onto a chain store tax, the only helping hand that you ever gave to the progress of education outside of your tenure act, for which I give you credit. It seems to me this afternoon that you are dealing with an important problem and that you are brushing lightly aside the entire experience of history. The Federal Government stands in contemplation of a general reconversion and lag in industry, but the minority in this House chooses to brush lightly aside the fact that millions of Pennsylvania men and women were taken out of industry. We are not interested in stripping the state of all of the accumulated surplus, accumulated by economy and decent government. We want a solvent state for them to come back to. Today our people are not living under the burden of tax. I have heard no individual citizen come to me and say he is over-loaded. It seems to me we are rather irrelevant when we say let us give more money to these school districts, let us put more money into these school districts for the reduction of real estate taxes." Gentlemen, when you do reduce real estate taxes you still have the distressed school districts with you. We have a problem before this afternoon, the problem of four tax revenue measures. We are asking this side of the House to vote down the proposed amendment to House Bill 39.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare?

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I understood the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, to say that this surplus was needed in order to have a solvent state during the period after the war, and primarily that was the reason for this surplus. Was that correct?

Mr. HARE. If I did, Mr. Speaker, it was said under the pretext of unprecaution; I didn't mean it that way. I answer?

Mr. BROWN. Yes.

Mr. HARE. Thank you. I said we have a surplus, but I don't like to see it brushed lightly aside without consideration of the post-war problem.

Mr. BROWN. Did I not understand the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, to say that they were creating a surplus so that the boys could come home and come home with some help a solvent state?

Mr. HARE. That is right, Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of a solvent state.

Mr. BROWN. And I suppose you are in favor of creating a surplus for a solvent state?

Mr. HARE. Such reserves as we need to continue a solvent state.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman have any idea how much of a surplus would be needed for that particular purpose?

Mr. HARE. We are prepared to discuss that when we come into the discussion of the bill tomorrow.

Mr. BROWN. Is the gentleman prepared to discuss it now, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HARE. Not on these tax revenues, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman very much.

I thought the gentleman from Somerset in his enthusiasm and in his absolute loyalty to the principles of education and to the principles of democracy just made a statement that he did not intend, and I did not want it to go unchallenged on the record. I was confident that the gentleman did not want to make that statement, and I wanted to correct him. I am glad to find that he did correct himself.

Mr. Speaker, the trouble with the argument on many of these issues is that we do go far afield in our enthusiasm and we say things that we do not intend. We do it unconsciously and not with the intent of misleading. We do that as a part of our enthusiasm.

May I repeat for the benefit of the gentleman from Somerset, I only had one premise, and that premise is this, that something is radically wrong with a tax system that gives the parent organization of the Commonwealth a surplus in revenues far beyond anything that we have ever imagined and at the same time places school districts, cities and boroughs who must keep our streets and who must attend to the sewers, who must give police protection and must give us the school system—that system that keeps these services so cramped that we have to curtail and curtail and curtail, and all we ask for is that there be an equitable readjustment of our tax system. I do not think it takes a whole lot of imagination to say that now is the time to readjust and reestablish Pennsylvania, not only the Commonwealth but all of our political subdivisions on a sound financial revenue raising basis. If we do not do that the state will have its surplus and the boys will come home to closed schools, inadequate streets, no police, no sewers, and they can come to Harrisburg and stay here and eat the surplus.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Chairman, I hesitate to impose upon the patience of the Members. It is now almost four o'clock and it looks like we will have a late dinner even for those who perhaps eat at a late hour. But, Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that we have many perplexing problems confronting us as Members of the House of Representatives.

I do not think that the gentleman from Allegheny necessarily means to complain so much about the raising of revenue, as I attempted to catch, shall I say the intent or import of what he said, but his complaint largely is how we are going to allocate what we already have and what we hope to obtain in the future.

I would like to review the picture for a moment briefly from the point of view that we are not attempting to run into this thing and just bounce off without doing anything about it. Let us look at it from this point of view; up until 1935 we had a tax structure in this Commonwealth that authorities on this subject would have us believe, and I certainly subscribe to their theory on the subject, that we had a tax structure that was more or less appropriate for the era stretching through the quarter, shall I say, the last quarter of the last century, up until about 1933 when the depression struck.

Then we were confronted with demands as great if not greater for additional revenues, than we certainly should expect to be confronted with at this moment. It is not a new thing that teachers are being underpaid. I am willing to agree that they have been underpaid for quite some time, and it just doesn't make sense to me that the Members of this House, regardless of which side of the House they happen to be sitting on, that they would have any reservations in their mind on the proposition of whether or not school teachers should be paid adequate salaries. I think that transcends partisanship. When I first became a Member of this House in 1939 we heard more or less groaning and rumbling about the underpaid teachers, and it finally moved on until we made an emergency appropriation or rather handed out these subsidies that have been enacted and passed and given to the teachers since that time.

Now, as I say, or as I said last evening, in 1933 we had a budget which called for one hundred thirty-four million dollars less than the Governor is asking for in his budget for the ensuing biennium. He rather clearly, I think, in understandable language sets forth in the budget message what those revenues are to be used for, where the moneys are to be expended, and I feel that we are sort of working in to this perplexing problem.

Am I to infer that the minority takes the position that we are always going to have as much money available to us as we might now be presumed to have? If we act like the assassin of the goose that laid the golden egg, we are not just going to get an egg with a golden shell when we get into the post war period. Statisticians who are well advised on the subject suggest that we will have a national indebtedness of approximately three hundred billion dollars when this war is over, and then we can count on perhaps for a period of about twenty years in the post-war period a national income of one hundred twenty-five or one hundred thirty billion dollars, of which about five billion at least can be allocated for the retirement of the principal of that debt, and out of that amount we have to think about the cost of operating the political subdivisions in this nation, namely, the states, and the political subdivisions within the states.

Therefore I say that time passes; the majority has the responsibility for submitting a program to the people through their elected representatives. It has been here for your examination and consideration since the second of January.

Now, I will admit that the Minority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Cambria, has suggested that we are going to have $110,000,000 at the end of the next biennium in excess of what has been suggested. Well, we cannot agree with that. We have called for a budget, as I said a while ago, and I wish to emphasize and I repeat, that $134,000,000 worth of emergency taxes have been superimposed, if you please, upon the tax structure that was in existence prior to the 1935 session of the Legislature.

Now, that may be far afield from the proposition to whether or not we are going to agree to the amendment that has been offered here to House Bill No. 3 but if we are going to debate this interminably I must confess that from now on, as to the position we now occupy, I am going to listen from here on out.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have been unfortunate that I came into the House during this debate and have only heard a part of it. I have listened, however, with a great deal of interest to the debate on both sides. It seems to me as far as I can understand it that the main point to be determined is not whether the school-teacher shall have this money, or whether the school district need it, or whether we have a program of some kind that has been enunciated and developed by the majority.

The point that interests me is this, the question is whether you should earmark any tax funds for a special purpose. I think the earmarking of taxes by the Legislature is a wrong procedure. I think there is danger in that, if you have too little, then the fund has to be cut down, sometimes when it is inconvenient, and then if you have too much it leads to extravagance. Therefore I would be constrained to vote against this amendment not because I am not in favor of granting money to the schoolteachers and to the school districts, and an adequate program in Pennsylvania, but because I am opposed to the earmarking of any funds for a particular purpose such as this.

There may be a logical reason why game and fish should be earmarked but to earmark this sort of tax for that purpose—it is necessary to have a tax passed on a sound reason or rejected because it does not have a sound basis—if there is reason to give the school teachers more money or if there is reason to give the school districts more money, which I think there is, and they need more—let us determine what money they need without tying it up with the question of a tax.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Speaker.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. PETROSKY and McATEE offered the following amendments:

Amend section 1, (section 2) page 3, line 9, by inserting light faced brackets before and after the word "State." Amend section 1 (section 2) page 3, line 16, 17 and 18, by inserting a light faced bracket before the word "in" line 16, and after the word "Fund" in line 18, and inserting immediately thereafter "into the Liquor License and shall on the first days of February and August of each year be paid by the board to the respective cities, borough, towns, and townships in such amounts as represent the aggregate taxes collected on liquors sold in such political subdivision during the preceding period."

Amend section 1 (section 3) page 3, line 26, by inserting light faced brackets before and after the words "to department," and inserting immediately thereafter: "into the Liquor License Fund as herein provided."

Amend section 1, (section 3) page 4, lines 1 and 2, by inserting a light faced bracket before the word "and" line 1 and after the word "prices" in line 2.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McAtee, and myself, I certainly am not going to take up any great amount of time of the membership, because I feel that the arguments in behalf of the amendments we have presented to the House have been capably made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. What I wish to point out to the membership of the House is that the amendments to House Bill No. 39 which we have offered are very simple and to the point. These amendments would in effect divert the tax moneys received under the ten per cent emergency relief tax on liquors to the municipalities for use in real estate tax reductions.

I am not going to wander afield in the discussion of these amendments, but wish to say to the Membership, without confusing them as to the intent of the amendments, they are very specific and plain in adding to section 2 that all the moneys received by any city, borough, town or township under the provisions of this amendment shall be used to effectuate a reduction in real estate taxes. Now then, we have heard it discussed as to whether or not the greatest burden of taxation locally rests upon the shoulders of the real estate owner or not. I as a Member of this House feel that the real estate owner is overburdened with taxes and feel that we here in the Legislature should do something to aid him in that respect. I am appealing to the membership of this House, both Republicans and Democrats, to vote in favor of these amendments so that we can in effect equalize in some small portion, if not to the extent that we have tried to equitably distribute the taxes in this State where they belong. I as a Member of this side of the House feel as my colleagues do, that the bills should have been recommended for further study and consideration so that a tax program and a tax structure for the State should be set up to equalize that which is entirely out of line at this date.

I am appealing to the membership of the House to do something for the real estate property owner and for the person who is overburdened with real estate taxes, to help him in his distress by voting for these amendments which will in effect reduce real estate taxes in each political sub-division throughout the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say in answer to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, that certainly we on this side of the House are not losing sight of the fact that we are willing to give money to local political subdivisions for the relief of real estate taxes, but definitely this amendment would disrupt the entire budget of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and besides, we get into the arguments which we heard so long this afternoon, of giving a specific amount of money from the tax measures to the school districts in Pennsylvania, and I therefore ask that the amendment be voted down.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the Majority Floor Leader that if he and the majority side are definitely willing to give moneys to the local political subdivisions for the reduction of taxes, then I would ask for the recommittal of these bills and have them set up in such a way that there will be no subterfuge on the part of the tax measures that are before us, and by direct action reserve to the local municipalities their proper proportion of the taxes.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The Speaker evidently overlooked his memorandum, because it was understood at the opening of the session that there were four bills to which we would offer motions that they first be recommitted, and then we would offer amendments. That I think was a matter of note at the desk, but evidently the Speaker overlooked the memorandum that he had when he declared the bill agreed to before the gentleman from Philadelphia had the opportunity to offer his amendments. It was the understanding that the four amendments would be offered and the four motions would be made.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, this is the first knowledge that I have of the agreement, but if the gentleman from Philadelphia will withdraw his request for a division, I will have no objection. I will ask the Members on this side to let the amendment be offered and meet its fate, after reconsideration of the vote by which the bill was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman withdraw his request for a division?

Mr. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 175, as follows:

An Act to validate the title to real estate for which a deed or transfer was properly executed and recorded without containing a certificate setting forth the residence of the grantee

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 When any real estate or interest in real estate has heretofore been conveyed or transferred to any person and the deed or transfer therefor properly executed and recorded in the office of the proper recorder of deeds without containing a certificate setting forth the precise residence of the grantee as required by law such deed or transfer is hereby validated and the title to such real estate or interest so conveyed or transferred is hereby declared good and valid

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Montgomery tell me from what he knows of the research and examination of taxation in Pennsylvania whether or not there has been a proper allocation of the funds or a proper tax measure devised in order to cover the cost of printing a bill to correct a lawyer's mistakes?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will say for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia that the latest information on that subject is that it will require a rather extravagant deficiency appropriation, possibly an extra tax on liquor.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not he would be in favor of a tax measure submitted by the sponsor of this bill which would be specifically earmarked for the school system, to have better schools and better lawyers.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. That sounds like a good idea, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUNTLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to know whether the sponsor of this bill will agree that if we pull the erring lawyer out of the hole and set him right through this bill, whether we will be entitled to send that lawyer a bill for services rendered?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the lawyer who made the mistakes is not at issue in this bill, but the lawyer who is correcting the mistakes is the one that is making the trouble. There are titles to be passed upon by a very able lawyer, and he will not pass titles after noting his error or blur or encumbrance or whatever you call it on the title, and the title guarantee insurance companies will not insure titles under that kind of an abstract, so if we will just forbear with the lawyers that make the mistakes and put some kind of a penalty on lawyers who find the mistakes I think he can be satisfied in the answer.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain to the House what I should have explained earlier perhaps that is that this resolution was filed personally by me yesterday, and under the rules of the House had to lay over for printing and action today. It states erroneously that it was reported from the Committee on Rules. It did not emanate from the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER For the information of the members of the House, it emanated from the Committee on Revision of Rules.

The Chair thanks all of the members of the Committee on Rules for its work on these amendments.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like the privilege of interrogating the Chairman of the Committee on Revision of Rules.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to know whether this report constitutes the limits of his recommended revision? Will there be any further revision of the rules?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, may I say that it is our fervent hope that this is not the limit and that we may be able to report to the House further changes which will enable us to conduct the business of the House in a proper parliamentary manner.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the Chairman of the Committee on Revision of Rules give the House some intimation as to when his labors in connection with revising the rules will be finished so that we will know just how far he intends to go?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would say that no rule is infallible, and that if any question arises from time to time as to whether a particular rule is operating properly or needs amendment, which will as I have said before expedite the business of this House, we will continue to amend the rules of this House up to the very last day of the session.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the Chairman of the Committee on Revision of Rules that when we have made up our minds that he has taxed his intellect to the limit and has nothing further to offer, that we will ourselves on this side of the House make an attempt to revise the rules.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Senator RUTH.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this new day, and we ask the guidance of Thy Holy Spirit in all that we do and say. As we return to our homes this weekend, may we go back inspired with greater willingness and desire to make life more livable for all with whom we deal.

And this morning we ask especially that Thy blessing and comfort rest upon one of our number, into whose life a great grief has come. May his faith of old in Thee be the anchor upon which to rest in this hour of trial.

Guide us each one in all our duties from day to day that we may so live as to be assured of Thy approval when we shall finally face Thee face to face. We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SNOWDEN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 291, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Council or the Blind for use in improving the condition of the blind by supplying to adult blind, vocational training which will lead to remunerative employment with seeing workers; to provide for their employment and placement in industry, business and the professions; to obtain required medical service for such training and placement, to meet expenses necessary for their program and to take any action necessary to accept any grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof to further these objectives.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SNOWDEN, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 172, entitled:

An Act providing that any person who makes a gift in trust inter vivos or a gift under an insurance trust, may name the guardian of such gift for the beneficiaries when the appointment of a guardian for such beneficiaries is required by law.

RESOLUTION

RHEUMATIC FEVER PROGRAM BE FORMULATED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. STIEFEL, HALUSKA and FARRELL offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of the General Assembly, February 7, 1945.

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever as a long-continued infection is potentially a source of medical-social problems; and

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever as a disease of childhood most frequently occurs in the early formative years and during adolescence when children normally experience their greatest problems in physical and psychic development; and

Whereas, the high incidence of rheumatic fever in the lower economic groups indicates that poor housing, overcrowding, exposure to infections and inadequate nutrition are important etiological factors; and

Whereas, in the United States generally and in Pennsylvania in particular, rheumatic fever is not a reportable disease and the magnitude of the problem as related to long periods of illness, chronic crippling, emotional and social upheaval, and economic distress can in no way be calculated by mortality statistics alone; and

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever today is one of the foremost health problems of childhood since between the ages of five and nine deaths from it are outnumbered only by those of the four principal communicable diseases of childhood, since between the ages of ten and fourteen it is the leading cause of death and since between fifteen and twenty-five it is second only to tuberculosis; and

Whereas, there is a growing realization that organized public awareness and efforts are necessary to combat rheumatic fever and that only State agencies can adequately cope with its ravages; and

Whereas, beginning with the years 1939 appropriations were authorized by Congress to the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor and the latter has set aside some funds annually for the development of the State programs; and

Whereas, at present nineteen (19) State rheumatic programs have been approved by the Children's Bureau as follows: California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin and,

Whereas, the funds heretofore authorized by Congress for the combat of rheumatic fever are now nearly exhausted; and,

Whereas, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania had not heretofore set up a rheumatic fever program of its own, or avail itself of Federal aid and the co-operation of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor; and,

Whereas, the rise of incidence of rheumatic fever in Pennsylvania calls for such immediate combative measures as compulsory notification of all cases of acute rheumatism, chorea and rheumatic heart disease, diagnostic services, organization of hospital schools and cardio-rheumatic clinics as well as extension of convalescent care and after-care services;

Now Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Public Health Committee of the Senate, the Public Health and Sanitation Committee of the House and the Secretary of Health forthwith jointly formulate an adequate rheumatic fever program for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and submit within thirty days from the passage hereof, recommendations to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for enactment of appropriate measures; and,

Be It Further Resolved, That the members of the Pennsylvania delegation in the United States Congress be memorialized to lend their efforts towards the enactment of a Federal appropriation of adequate funds for the further combat of the dreaded rheumatic fever disease.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object for the reason only that the resolution is so lengthy and I think the members of the Senate should have a chance to study it and therefore I object to immediate consideration.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BERGER from the Committee on State Government, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Mallory, on January 22, 1945, reported the same without amendment as follows:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO OPPOSE CONSTRUCTION OF PROPOSED ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY AND POWER PROJECT

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Whereas, Agitation for the passage of Federal legislation approving the completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project has been revived in the Federal Congress; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is vitally concerned in the effect that the completion of said project would have upon its citizens; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relies substantially for its economic stability and future prosperity on the preservation of its essential mining, manufacturing and transportation industries; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous and anthracite coal, the manufacture of steel products and the transportation of freight by steam railroads constitute important segments of the industrial life and well-being of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, The development of 2,200,000 horsepower of hydro-electricity as contemplated by the St. Lawrence Project would displace in excess of five million tons of bituminous coal annually; and

Whereas, The completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway would open existing markets for bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the Commonwealth, to ruinous competition from foreign coal mined by cheap labor and transported to Great Lakes ports of the United States and Canada in tramp foreign flag vessels at ballast rates; and

Whereas, The importation of steel and other manufactured products similarly produced at low cost in foreign countries and sold in competition with Pennsylvania manufactured goods would injuriously affect manufacturing industry and employment in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The diversion of freight tonnage to the proposed waterways from steam railroads serving the Commonwealth and the loss of traffic due to the diminution of coal tonnage would seriously and adversely affect the railroad industry; and

Whereas, As a result of the foregoing, thousands of citizens of Pennsylvania engaged in the mining and production of coal, the making and fabrication of steel and other products and the transporting of freight would be deprived of their means of earning a livelihood at their chosen occupations; and

Whereas, The development of the St. Lawrence Project would have an injurious effect upon the economy of the country, with incidental benefit, if any, being confined to relatively few small areas and certain manufacturers; and

Whereas, A large part of the enormous cost of this unwise and uneconomical project would fall upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which was laid over for one day under the rules.

He also, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 57, entitled:

An Act providing for the Pennsylvania Register for the publication and distribution of certain orders, regulations, rules, notices, proclamations, and similar instruments; imposing powers and duties on the Legislative Reference Bureau and the Department of Property and Supplies; creating the Pennsylvania Register Board and defining its powers and duties; and making an appropriation for payment of expenses and costs of publication, and distribution of the Pennsylvania Register.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. NAGEL and GRANT.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 17.

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1945.

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has within the past several years issued orders increasing rates for natural gas to ratepayers of The Peoples Natural Gas Company and Manufacturers Light & Heat Company serving large portions of western Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Equitable Gas Company has filed tariffs effecting similar increases in rates for natural gas to its ratepayers effective February 10, 1945, and

Whereas, the increased rates to the small ratepayer or customer of the three gas companies in some instances exceed 100% of the old rates, and

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has issued an order in the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company rate case which will permit increases in electric rates to its ratepayers, and

Whereas, it is contended that reductions in rates should have been made to the ratepayers of all four companies instead of increases authorized or that may be authorized by the Commission, now

Therefore Be It Resolved, that the House of Representatives and the Senate of the General Assembly constitute themselves as a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of receiving and considering data in the hands of the Public Utility Commission and the four companies involved to the end that the Legislature exercise its legislative function under Article XVI, Section 3 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, to establish just and reasonable rates to be charged to the ratepayers for the natural gas or electricity supplied by the said four companies respectively.

Be It Further Resolved, that the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate and the Minority Leaders of the House and Senate be and are hereby constituted a Committee of Four for the purpose of gathering and compiling the necessary records and data in the files of Public Utility Commission from the books and records of the four above named public utilities and to compile therefrom the actual legitimate original cost of the properties, the amount of invested capital, capitalization, working capital requirements, legitimate operating expenses, depreciation and taxes for the purpose of compiling data for submission to the Committee of the Whole not more than thirty calendar days from the date of this action and as much in advance of that date as may be possible. For so doing said Committee of Four shall be authorized and directed to require of the Public Utility Commission and its staff such aid and assistance as it, the said Committee of Four, shall deem necessary and proper, which aid and assistance shall have priority over other Commission matters, and, likewise said committee shall have power of subpoena and shall have available to it the services of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House and Senate for the purposes of enforcing the production of evidence or witnesses or such other matters material to the fixing of just and reasonable rates in this proceeding, and

Be It Further Resolved, that at the end of thirty calendar days from the date of this resolution or within five calendar days thereof, the House and Senate of the General Assembly shall meet in executive session as a Committee of the Whole to receive the report of the above named committee upon the original cost, invested capital, etc., as above recited and in due course to hear argument by counsel of the public utilities above named and intervenors representing municipalities and other parties in interest that may desire to be heard and that said Committee of the Whole shall continue in executive session with reasonable recess over week-ends until a final determination is reached of the just and reasonable rates to be charged the customers of the four public utilities, The Peoples Natural Gas Company, Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Equitable Gas Company and Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

Referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

By Messrs. GOODLING and BREISCH.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1945.

On January 16, 1945, War Food Administrator, Marvin Jones, called upon the farmers of the United States for all-out food and feed production; on the same date Dr. S. W. Fletcher, Dean of the School of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State College, predicted probable food shortage in 1945; and Governor Martin has recently asked for all-out production.

Dairy herds in Pennsylvania have been reduced and many others completely sold, beef cattle are being sold before being properly fitted, less poultry is being produced than in many years, hogs are not being produced in sufficient quantities to supply the demand, and farms are lying idle for lack of man power to operate.

The recent revision of our rationing system is further evidence of a food shortage with the prospect of a still greater curtailment.

Farmers and their families are willingly working fifteen and more hours per day in peak seasons, and will continue to do so with reasonable cooperation from the government, in order to contribute their all to the war effort.

In the face of these undeniable facts, Selective Service has instructed local draft boards to call farm boys for induction, and it is this younger element who are the most efficient operators.

Everyone, including the farmer and the farmers' sons, is convinced of the necessity of exerting the full man power of the nation in order to win the war speedily and completely.

The danger from this war and its consequence is as great on the home front as on the foreign front.

The soldier in the invaded countries and the sailor on the seas must be fed, and the reduction of the output of food products here at home is a direct threat to their health and efficiency.

When we reduce the man power that produces the food, we impede the progress of the machinery that makes the winning of the war possible, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby respectfully but earnestly calls the attention of the Members of the Congress of the United States and those in charge of the Selective Service of the Nation to change the all-inclusive order for the induction of young men heretofore deferred by reason of work on the farms of the Nation, and to direct local draft boards to make a thorough investigation in each case, and promptly induct those who have used farm work only for deferment purposes while they engaged principally in other lucrative employment, and to continue the deferment of all farm boys who have been and are actually working and producing on farms, until the countless number of non-essential Federal employees has been reduced, and until those engaged in non-essential work, and those who are chronic absentees in essential occupations, have been placed in uniforms, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to the President of the United States, Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director, Selective Service, and Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, and to each Member from Pennsylvania in the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are these bills on the Members' desks? I certainly do not have any except three of them. I would like to ask whether the other Members have them on their desks.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Minority Leader the bills that are not on the Members' desks, are House Bills 100, 117, 164, 301, 223, 264, 268, 317, 329, 330, 338 and 325. Does the gentleman object to the bills being read for the first time?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we ought to have them in print over the week end so that we may have an opportunity of knowing whether we want to amend any of them. If the Majority Leader will agree that as to such of these bills that we pass on first reading we will have additional time, if we desire additional time to amend them, we will have no objection whatever. Otherwise we would have objections.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that all of these bills are printed in pink and are available to the Members, except House Bill 25 on page 7.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we would have no opportunity of knowing from the pink bills whether the bills have or have not been amended in Committee. I believe if the Majority Floor Leader would agree—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield to the Majority Floor Leader?

Mr. ANDREWS. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that but one bill has been amended, House Bill 25. That is plainly designated on the calendar. No other bills have been amended.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we desire to establish a precedent on this sort of procedure. There has always been an understanding.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the request of the gentleman from Cambria and I know that at least on the majority side of the House we have discussed the difficult printing problem that faces us in this session of the Legislature. I would say that I am in hearty agreement that if bills are not in print so that they can be studied by the membership and are passed on first reading, the sponsors of bills on this side of the House will be glad to permit them to remain on the calendar for a longer period so that they can be studied by the minority Members.

The SPEAKER. That appears to be very satisfactory.
